NO. 46—SEVENTY-FIRST YEAR | VICTORIA, BRITISH COLUMBIA, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 2, 1929 | TWENTY-TWO PAGES

BID $235,000,000 FOR RIVER'S WATER POWER

V.I. SLIGHTED IN HIGHWAYS PROGRAMME

Mr. J. Beatty, City Member, Tells House of Revenue Taken From Island With Only Small Return

RELIEF FROM TAX ON SCHOOLS URGED

Many Iniquities Exist Under Present System of Taxation for School Purposes, Speaker Says

VANCOUVER Island, with 23 per cent of the population of the entire province, and with 18,000 out of its 84,000 motorists, obtained only 6 per cent of the road expenditures in 1925-26 and only 13 per cent of the appropriations in 1928-29, as against the Mainland's 81 per cent and 87 per cent respectively.

Mr. James Beatty, member for Victoria, made this declaration in his speech in the Address in Reply at yesterday afternoon's session of the Legislature. These and other injustices were revealed by the speaker in his demand for more and better roads for Vancouver Island. He also urged the necessity, as did Mr. Reginald Hayward, of completing the West Coast Road or Ocean Highway.

Mr. Beatty's argument for more roads on the Island went to show that the motorists of Vancouver Island contributed far more in revenue to the Provincial Treasury than was returned to the Island in road work, while someone else was reaping the benefit of the Island's large motoring population.

Mr. Beatty also lent his support of the amendment to the Succession Duties Act so as to encourage visitors of wealth to settle in British Columbia. He stressed the necessity for a more equitable basis of school taxation and hoped the Government would see the way clear to promote teachers on their merit rather than in length of service.

Dealing with the educational problem he pointed out the relief to taxpayers given by private schools and expressed the hope that the Government would encourage the establishment of more of these institutions.

With regard to education, Mr. Beatty placed great stress on the importance of relieving municipalities of their present overburdened condition, and with respect to the encouragement of private schools suggested that they might be compelled by the Government because these schools were always available to maintain the highest standard of education and keep in line with the subjects taught under the Government curriculum.

Game Amendments Plan Restoration of Practice Adopted by Aborigines

Natural Preservation of Wild Life for Trappers Suggested by Indian Experience to Be Restored—Rights of Licencees in Lines to Be Defined—Attorney-General Explains Bill

Special Effort Is to Be Made to Bring Big Game Hunters to Province

IT is evident that the ancient Indian hunters of the early days were less profligate in the matter of hunting fur-bearing game than are their successors, the white man. Under unwritten laws which prevailed among the Indians there was a sort of trap line in vogue, maintained by different families, and the rights over which were respected, and by which the game of the country was kept up in the matter of supply.

This was revealed in the speech of Attorney-General Pooley, in moving the second reading of the bill to amend the Game Act. This bill, which came up for second reading yesterday, will be one of the most contentious ones to come before the House, in all probability. The direction of opinion on the matters contained there as usual will not be along party lines but from the standpoint of the various localities sections of the country.

Mr. Pooley admitted that there would be a good deal of contention as usual, and with this in view he brought the bill down early in the session so as to allow the fullest discussion. He deprecated the practice in the past of bringing down the bills dealing with this subject near the end of the session.

British Columbia, he said, was the last great game country on the continent, with the exception of Alaska. Game was disappearing, and it was high time that it should be protected. If it were not so there would be no need of the buffalo. There must be conservation methods adopted.

GAME ADMINISTRATION

Game conservation was a special work and it should be in the hands of those who were familiar with it. He proposed in the bill to take the administration of the Game Act out of the hands of the police and place it in the hands of a separate body.

POLICE FORCE IS INCREASED

Commission Decides to Give Department Three New Constables —Will Fill Vacancy on Force

NEW AUTOMOBILE WILL BE BOUGHT

The staff of the city police department will be increased by three men, the City Police Commission decided yesterday in a conference with the Chief of Police John Pry's office at the police station.

The commission considered recommendations contained in Chief Pry's annual report. The chief had recommended an "increase of six men on the staff. In order that more protection may be given on the 11 p.m. to 7 a.m. relief in outlying districts which require better protection than can be given with the present staff. It is the manner in which it is divided."

Mayor Herbert Anscomb said he was satisfied that Chief Pry didn't have a large enough staff. "The police force is undermanned, and I'm told there are only a couple of constables on the streets at night."

The chief pointed out that with the arterial highway system in the QUESNEL, B.C. Feb. 1.—The longest way round was the easiest way home for Pete Parish, fur dealer, of Prince George. Recently he drove his car down over the highway to Quesnel, eighty-two miles, and to get home again he traversed 1,000 miles.

Cold winds filled the road, previously gloughed out, with drifts forty below zero, weather followed close on the heels of the wind, and Parish, rather than face two and a half days' travel in the early stage, abandoned his automobile here and took the coming of Spring.

To reach home he struck south, instead of north. Taking the Pacific Great Eastern Railway here, he transferred at Clinton to an auto stage, and at Ashcroft, thirty-four miles beyond, changed to a railway coach, again for Red Pass Junction, a short distance west of Jasper Park. There he awaited the arrival of the tri-weekly westbound Canadian National, which landed him at Prince George.

UNPAID TAXES OF MAN TOTAL HUGE AMOUNT

Question Asked in British Commons as to Six Years' Unpaid Income Tax of Late James White

ARREARS ALLEGED TO BE $8,500,000

LONDON, Feb. 1 (Canadian Press Cable).—A curious case of unpaid taxes was discussed in the House of Commons today. Lord Cavendish Bentinck, Conservative Nottingham M.P., asked whether the Chancellor of the Exchequer was aware that for six years before the death the late James White, Government financier, had paid no income tax and that the amounts due from him were approximately £8,500,000.

Winston Churchill, Chancellor of the Exchequer, admitted that large assessments were outstanding at the time of White's death, though not as large as was suggested. The assessments were under appeal, he said.

Trade Envoys to Stay in Orient For Five Months

VANCOUVER, Feb. 1.—With a view to a considerably larger increase in trade between the Orient and Canada, H. Beaumont Morshead, and J. J. Forster, Vancouver, Eastern and Western steamship general passenger agents, Canadian Pacific Railway, will leave here tomorrow on the Empress of Russia.

A similar mission of commissioners of Japanese and Chinese ports will be made this year. It is hoped will greatly add to the rapidly developing trade between these countries, not only from the point of freight and passenger transportation also but from the standpoint of better associated with Canada's steamship problems and are considered to be the most suitable persons for the mission, which it is expected will occupy five months.

DEATHS IN ENGLAND

LONDON, Feb. 1.—Captain Edmund Tidy, well-known yachtsman, died today. The destiny of Rev. Hanbury Tracy, former rector at Pimlico, Bromley Basford, former proctor of The Derby Telegraph, and John Swanwick, Nottinghamshire magistrate, were also reported.

COMING POLL OVERHANGS PARLIAMENT

Members of British Commons Are Thinking More of Coming Election Than of Events in House

LIBERAL PARTY'S POLICY NEGATIVE

Sir Herbert Samuel Says They Will Not Aid Either Labor Party or Conservatives

By GEORGE RAMSLETON

Staff Correspondent of the Canadian Press

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The shadow of the coming general election hangs over the Imperial Parliament.

Thirteen weary days in committee of the whole on the supply bill for England and Wales ended today in the House of Commons. Four days of discussion on the bill remain before it goes to the House of Lords, during which a similar bill for Scotland has to be considered.

Except for the daily battle of votes over supplementary questions, there has been little to disturb the progress of the bill. The members are thinking more of their constituencies at present than of the House itself.

Sir Herbert Samuel promised Liberal support for the Scottish Home Rule bill, although he favored home rule of a less extensive nature than that proposed by Lewis Spencer, Scottish Nationalist candidate in the by-election.

WHAT WILL THEY DO?

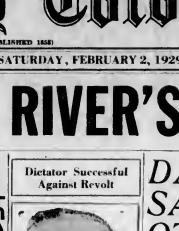

In Newcastle, Sir Herbert Samuel, Liberal leader, and Lloyd George, ex-Premier, will speak at Parliament the Liberals would be sure that they would not oppose or maintain a Socialist Government in power. Commentators then questioned whether the statement meant that the Liberals were leaning toward the Conservatives, and again Sir Herbert was emphatic. He was amazed, he declared at liberation, that anyone should think he contemplated an alliance with "the Tory party whose failure during the past four years to grapple with the social and industrial questions of the day I regard as a great calamity to the country, and whose protectionist policy I look upon as a harmful delusion."

Girl Scratches Her Head and Is Richer by $8,000

LONDON, Feb. 1.—A stenographer employed by the Air Ministry today secured a verdict for $8,000 damages against an accountant in the same ministry. The plaintiff asserted that the defendant admitted that one reason the engagement was broken was the habit the plaintiff had of scratching her head.

DEAD HAND GUIDES TRAIN LOCOMOTIVE

BRYAN, Ohio, Feb. 1.—For three miles a dead hand guided a through freight train between Bryan and Nay. The fireman noticed that a pressing was passed without the sound of a whistle, but the engineer was in his position and the fireman kept attending coal. Another evening went by without a stop, and the fireman found the engineer, Hardy Premuth, was dead.

PREMIER HOPES TO APPEAR IN HOUSE MONDAY

Debate on Address in Reply Is Therefore Adjourned to Enable Head of Government to Speak

CIVIL SERVICE ACT INTRODUCED

Premier Tolmie is expected to be present in the House of Commons when the Address in Reply is resumed on Monday. In this connection he said: "I will, of course, be will take part in the Address in Reply."

This was forecast in the House yesterday afternoon when Attorney-General Pooley who, in the absence of the Premier, has been leading the Government, moved the adjournment of the debate on the Address "in the name of the Premier."

If the Premier is unable to take part in the debate, to allow this as anticipated, be taken by some other member of the Government. The Premier may be followed by one of the leading lieutenants of the Leader of the Opposition, possibly Mr. A. M. Manson, ex-Attorney-General, or by Mr. Ian Mackenzie. Should this be the course followed, it will result in the calling of some of the cabinet ministers into the debate before the matter is closed early in the coming week.

CIVIL SERVICE ACT

The bill to amend the Civil Service Act introduced by Hon. S. L. Howe, Provincial Secretary, passed its second reading yesterday afternoon.

In moving the bill, Mr. Howe pointed out that the regulation with respect to the appointment of civil servants under the act had not in all instances been complied with. It was deemed wise to deal with the matter and the bill was introduced for this purpose.

THAW IS NOT ALL BENEFIT

RECENT HEAVY SNOWS IN WASHINGTON TURN TO ICE AND DEEP SLUSH

Water Main Breaks Under Weight of Ice—Left Wanderers—Electric Wires Down

SEATTLE, Feb. 1.—The snowladen Pacific Northwest settled down today to what weather forecasters promised would be a few days of enjoyable weather. Unsettled conditions with local rains was predicted for the Cascades, with light local showers on the eastern side. Temperatures, which today ranged from twenty degrees below to zero, were expected to remain about the same.

The moderating conditions which brought snow and sleet throughout most of the state, however, were especial to remain about the same.

Southwest Washington apparently suffered the most. The town of Vader was left waterless when a water main across a creek gave way under the weight of snow.

Telephone, telegraph and power service in Aberdeen, Hoquiam, and outlying section was changed to a rather slow basis today because of ice and slush a foot deep. Trees crashed under the weight of ice, snapping lines and blocking highways. Schools at Montesano and Elma were closed when power was shut off by broken lines.

DAZZLING PROPOSAL SAID TO BE MADE TO OTTAWA GOVERNMENT

Company Backed by Sir Herbert Holt and Mr. J. H. Gundy Reported to Have Offered Formally to Build Whole of Great Lakes Deep Waterway Canals on St. Lawrence River

Government to Get Canals In Payment for Power Right

Estimated Cost of Work to Be Done Is $235,000,000—Navigation Channel to Be Constructed Following in Every Particular Recommendations Made by Board of Engineers

TORONTO, Feb. 1.—In a dispatch from Ottawa The Financial Post says today: "While the fate of the Beauharnois water power project still hangs in the balance, and somewhat dazzling proposition has been presented to the Federal Government. This proposition, in brief, is this: The Soulanges Power Company backed by Sir Herbert Holt and J. H. Gundy have offered formally to build for the Government the entire St. Lawrence waterways, following, in every particular, the recommendations of the joint international board of engineers and the national advisory committee. When completed, at an estimated cost of $238,000,000 the Government would be given the navigation channel, and, presumably, the Soulanges company would keep the water power—estimated at 4,000,000 horsepower. The company is prepared to begin work immediately and promises to have 300,000 horsepower available for use on the canals and 500,000 horsepower in ten years."

OTTAWA, Feb. 1.—The Department of Public Works stated today that the only application hitherto received from the Soulanges Power Company in opposition to the Beauharnois application is one for power development in the Lake St. Francis and Lake St. Louis area, and not for the utilization of the waterways. The Soulanges Power Company, in its application, undertakes to construct the necessary navigation and control works at these points in conformance with recommendations of the joint international board of engineers and the national advisory committee.

HOUSE HEARS COST OF TWO SETTLEMENTS

Ventures at Merville and Creston Have Entailed an Investment of Over $1,500,000

SIXTY ORIGINALS STILL IN MERVILLE

Replying to questions asked by Colonel Fred Lear in the House, answers were given yesterday by Hon. W. Atkinson as to what Government areas under the Soldiers' Settlement plans had been given the Government up to January 1, 1929.

In the Christian Ranch, near Kelowna, Land Settlement Board has invested $56,388.15. There were 446 acres involved, none of which was sold. The land was leased to McFarlane & Scott at $600 a year. No water for irrigation purposes had been put on the land.

At the Merville Soldier Settlement area $661,627.67 represented the total investment to date, including interest. There were 5,806.5 acres of the total, valued at $88,236.06 after deducting all receipts. The total received from the sale of these lands was $27,578.08.

On the Creston Settlement area the cost of the 1,274.62 acres had been $835,402.72, including cost, development, maintenance and interest. The value of the lands sold had been $471,622.10. The total amount received from the sale of the lands had been $64,116.56.

The return gave full details of the appraisal rebates, and said that at Merville sixty of the original settlers remained, the total residential being one hundred. At Creston twenty-one originals remained and there are fifty-one persons domiciled in the land.

The Department of Lands (water rights branch) estimates a cost of $60,000 to supply a domestic water service for the Creston area.

Boat Runs Into Hail of Bullets In Snowstorm

SEATTLE, Feb. 1.—When Captain J. J. Reilly, of the sealer Phyllis ran into a hail of bullets in a blinding snowstorm on his way to Seattle, he figured another typical wrong, so he stopped.

Only after he had passed on, coast guard cutter No. 209 loomed up in front of the King and Coffey department from Buckingham Palace says he, and the bullets were the weather would not necessarily usher in his convalescence. This statement was not considered in the handing of a Lord Dawson of Penn, who stayed with the King for half an hour, at which it was said that His Majesty continued to improve.

"There is a tendency among certain sections of the public and in some organs of the press to assume that the King's transfer to Bognor will usher in his convalescence," said the Palace statement. "This view is incorrect."

It will be recalled that bulletins and medical reports have stated that His Majesty's progress was happily proceeding day by day and that he was advantageously to remove him to the seashore with a view to accelerating the hastening of his convalescence in the not too distant future. Though His Majesty' condition continues to improve, the process of recovery after so severe an illness must of necessity be slow.

Substitute Resolution On Health Insurance Is Adopted in Legislature

YESTERDAY afternoon Dr. H. C. Wrinch, who had a resolution before the Legislature dealing with the question of health insurance and asking for a select committee to make inquiries as to the working of this system in other countries and his resolution replaced by one proposed by Mr. W. R. Rutledge, which called for the appointment of a committee of members of the House who would serve without salary, gather information on the subject, and be ready to report at the next session of the Legislature. The resolution of Mr. Rutledge read as follows:

"Whereas it is advisable, in the interests of the people of this Province, that this Legislature should be in possession of authentic, full, and up-to-date information regarding the subjects of maternity benefits and health insurance:

"Therefore be it resolved that a humble petition be presented to His Honor the Lieutenant-Governor, praying that a Commission composed of members of the Legislature, who shall serve without salary, be appointed under the 'Public Inquiries Act' to inquire as to what laws relating to the subjects of maternity benefits and health insurance are in force in other Provinces of Canada or any

KING NOT YET CONVALESCENT

ROYAL PHYSICIANS WARN PUBLIC AGAINST EXCESS OF OPTIMISM

Convalescence to "Not Too Distant Future" Hoped for as Result of Move to Seaside

LONDON Feb. 1.—The British public was warned tonight against an excess of optimism as to the condition of King Geo. following announcement from Buckingham Palace says he was "not too sanguine" that he would not necessarily usher in his convalescence. This statement was not considered in the handing of a Lord Dawson of Penn, who stayed with the King for half an hour, at which it was said that His Majesty continued to improve.

"There is a tendency among certain sections of the public and in some organs of the press to assume that the King's transfer to Bognor will usher in his convalescence," said the Palace statement. "This view is incorrect."

New Zealand Is Unable to Accept Immigrant Labor

WELLINGTON, N.Z., Feb. 1.—(C.P. Cable via Reuters).—Speaking to a Labor deputation regarding the Government's policy of assisted immigration, Premier Sir Joseph Ward today said that New Zealand at present was unable to accept any of Great Britain's surplus population. Owing to the number of unemployed in New Zealand the Imperial Government had been thus notified.

King's Doctor Is Suffering From Influenza

LONDON, Feb. 1.—Influenza, although disturbingly prevalent in parts of England and Scotland can hardly yet be deemed to have assumed the status of an alarming epidemic.

The latest sufferer is Sir Stanley Hewett, His Majesty's surgeon, and Buckingham Palace says the Buckingham Palace staff are also affected. Deaths from the disease in the cities of England and Wales amounted to 179 in the past week.

TARIFF CHANGE NOW IN EFFECT

GOODS COMING UNDER PREFERENCE RATE TO BE 10 PER CENT BRITISH

Invoice Certificates Formerly Used May Be Averaged Until March 31, 1929

OTTAWA, Feb. 1.—The new regulations of the Department of National Revenue requiring 50 per cent British labor or material in goods before they can obtain the benefits of the preferential tariff comes into effect today. Under instructions issued today, however, goods from Great Britain or the United States countries accompanied by invoices with certificates of origin "B" or "A" requiring that one-quarter the cost of production shall be produced in one or more British countries or in the case of export temporarily may be acceptable until March 31, 1929, provided the collector or appraiser is satisfied that the 50 per cent requirements has been complied with.

Heat Spreads Forest Fires In Australia

SYDNEY, Australia, Feb. 1.—Bush fires continued today to damage stock, crops, buildings and fences. The fires were particularly bad in the Bathurst and Cessnock districts, where hundreds of civilians were engaged in an all-day and all-night fight against the flames. Intense dry heat and high winds have aggravated the situation. The state meteorologists reported that January had been the lowest rainfall in seventy years.

Liquor Seller Is Released by Supreme Court

VANCOUVER, Feb. 1.—Samuel Farone succeeded in Supreme Court before Mr. Justice Morrison in having quashed, on habeas corpus proceedings, a conviction, as a second offender, for selling liquor, which carried a sentence of six months in Oakalla jail.

The conviction was in police court by Magistrate Findlay, whose adjudication was affirmed on appeal to County Court by Judge Ellis.

When the case was called before Mr. Justice Morrison, J. A. Campbell appeared for the prisoner, who had been released on $3,000 bail in the meantime. Nobody appeared for the Crown.

Mr. Campbell attacked the conviction on the ground that the evidence concerning a previous offence named "Sam Tarone," and his client's name was Farone.

"The authorities do not seem to be taking the matter seriously," commented His Lordship. "Nobody is appearing and the record shows everybody received notice. There may be a Sam Tarone. I do not think the court should extend its hand to aid parties who do not appear. Take your order, Mr. Campbell."

Indian School Burns

SASKATOON, Feb. 1.—The Gordon Indian residential school, situated about eight miles from Punnichy, Sask., was completely destroyed by fire shortly after noon today, according to a long-distance telephone message received here.

The 106 Indian children attending the school were removed from the burning building without difficulty, none suffering injury.

The school is the property of the Dominion Government but is operated by the Anglican church. The loss is not known. The cause of the fire is also unknown.

V.I. SLIGHTED IN HIGHWAYS PROGRAMME

ciate the value of education and realize our responsibility in this matter, many have the feeling that too many expensive fads and frills are being foisted upon the taxpayer by certain enthusiasts who themselves contribute little or nothing towards paying the enormous bill. It does seem unfair that so broad a public benefactor as education should be, to such a great extent, loaded upon the land.

"We know that our best citizens, those who give us the least trouble, are those who own property; those who have their roots in the soil.

"We have all met persons during our careers who have been taxed almost to penury because they believed that holding property was more patriotic than buying foreign stocks and bonds, and in some cases endeavoring to defeat the Government out of their just income tax on the revenue from such stocks and bonds. I sincerely hope that this Government will be able to put the taxation for education on an equitable basis; and if they do, I believe that our system will be even better than it has been in the past, because the persons who are paying will see to it that they are getting value for their money," Mr. Beatty said.

"I trust that the Government will be able to devise some means whereby teachers in the schools will be promoted in accordance with merit rather than mere length of service. I believe that there is no class in the community more conscientious in the performance of their duty than those who are teaching the young. If the means can be devised whereby merit will be rewarded, the profession would attract and hold in its ranks more of the better type of teacher, and the result will be very marked upon the future generations.

"We have in British Columbia a large number of private schools, in and around Victoria alone this has become quite an industry. It is conservatively estimated that private schools around Victoria save the taxpayers more than $100,000 a year. As well as this, these schools have become a real industry, and they bring into this district from outside points—other provinces and across the line—an amount exceeding one-half million dollars annually.

"I believe that the Government should encourage private schools, as they should all kinds of private industry. By so doing, these schools would contribute to the revenue of the province rather than being a drag upon the public purse. And, believe me, Mr. Speaker, the educational system would not suffer.

SUGGESTS INSPECTION

"However, there are schools and schools, and those who are operating good schools are always anxious to see the high standard maintained. I have the temerity to suggest to you, Mr. Speaker, that Government inspection of private schools would bring about greater benefits to the pupils, and also place the schools on a higher plane. Today we inspect the conditions under which a man works, and we inspect the food he eats; we inspect almost everything, but we allow any faddist to come to and set up what he might term an educational institution and we allow him free rein. We allow high pressure salesmen to come across the line and, by statements which could not be proven, talk our young people into buying courses of instruction which are nothing more or less than set books, many of which have no real authority, at fabulous prices anywhere from eight to twelve times their value. There are salesmen in our province at the present time who are telling mere lads that if they would sign up for this course or that course they would find a $10,000 a year job waiting for them as soon as they get their diploma. This naturally turns the head of the young man, and he contracts to pay so much down and so much a month. He makes his initial payment and, whether he ever reads the books or not, he is hounded to death and is threatened for the remaining payments—and he pays. I submit to you, Mr. Speaker, that permitting salesmen of this nature to prey upon our youths, giving them an idea that there is a royal road to learning, is undermining the excellent system of education in the good schools which we are so fortunate to have in British Columbia."

WANT MORE ROADS

Dealing with the West Coast road and road conditions in general on Vancouver Island, Mr. Beatty said:

"I notice, Mr. Speaker, that in the addresses of a number of my honorable friends from the rural parts of British Columbia, that they want more roads and better roads. I feel sure that the Honorable the Minister of Public Works only wishes it were possible to give everybody complete satisfaction in this regard during the coming year. However, we must not lose sight of the fact that for the past twelve years the rural districts of British Columbia have been given a great many very expensive highways. Vancouver Island being in the Opposition has suffered in this regard. Judging from the population and the latest official figures, about 23 per cent of the population are located on Vancouver Island. There is no gainsaying the fact that, considering the enormous revenue from our timber, mines, fisheries, lands, and other resources, such as automobile licences on this Island, we are not getting our share of the road building of the province. I have before me the figures for 1914-18, in which the road building on Vancouver Island was 18 per cent, and on the Mainland 81 per cent. In 1925-26 the percentage of expenditure on roads on Vancouver Island was 9 per cent, Mainland 91 per cent; 1926-27, Island 13 per cent and Mainland 87 per cent. During 1927-28 the Island received 14 per cent as against 86 per cent on the Mainland.

AUTO LICENCES

"I would also call your attention, Mr. Speaker, to the number of automobile licences on Vancouver Island. Official figures for 1927 show that all over 84,000 licences are issued to motor vehicles, and out of this number over 18,000, or approximately 20 per cent are issued on Vancouver Island. In view of the fact that motor vehicles are used on Vancouver Island all the year round, the full year's licence is obtained. In the light of all these figures and facts, Mr. Speaker, I submit to you that Vancouver Island has not in the past received its share of the road building of the province.

"I understand on good authority, Mr. Speaker, that second only to the great wheat-growing industry to Canada is that one which has come about in very recent years, the tourist industry.

"Let us take the automobile tourist business alone for Vancouver Island. Last year 26,532 cars were transported to the Island. Assuming that the average amount of gasoline purchased per automobile would be twenty gallons, on which the Government receives a three-cent tax, you will see, Mr. Speaker, that a direct revenue of $15,600 is received from this source. These people must live, and the hotels and restaurants provide, and our merchants will vouch for the fact that they are profitable customers.

"Averaging the revenue received by the transportation companies of $6 per car, including passengers' fees, you will see then an amount of approximately $160,000 was derived by the transportation companies. I think, Mr. Speaker, it is fair to state that the wonderful fleet of steamships which the Canadian Pacific Railway has placed on this coast and is now building, have the tourist to thank for the major proportion of their revenue.

"As business men, we must look to the future. The automobile tourist trade will grow by leaps and bounds, but we cannot expect people to spend their time, year after year, driving up and down the Island Highway. The auto tourist does not pay to see a landscape of stumps. He wants scenic beauty—and will pay handsomely for it.

OCEAN HIGHWAY

"We have an opportunity of giving them the only real ocean highway in the Pacific Northwest. We cannot visualize the enormous revenue which will be gained from coming automobile tourist traffic on the ocean highway leading up the coast and touching those numerous hard sand beaches which give a view of the Pacific which will eventually become very attractive and very profitable tourist resorts; also to Long Beach, admittedly one of the most attractive beaches on our entire continent. Highways have recently been built up the Fraser and into the Rockies, and I commend the Government for its courage and foresight in this regard—but the revenue from this cannot compare with that which will be derived from this beautiful ocean highway, the most scenic route, in fact, the only real ocean highway in the entire Pacific Northwest."

SURVEY OF P.G.E.

Mr. Beatty, during the course of his debate, defended the Government's position with regard to making survey of the Pacific Great Eastern Railway. He intimated that the Opposition might not have been in the mess it was today had it made a survey of the line. He also expressed the opinion that the Government's scheme to colonize the reclaimed and Government-owned land would meet with success. He expressed the belief that the present Government would obtain better results than the former Government in securing the application of the anti-dumping clause in the Marketing Act. He was also delighted to see that an audit by a reputable firm was being made of the accounts, because, judging by pre-election speeches, the members of the Opposition seemed to be in doubt as to what the net debt of the province was. He was also pleased to note that the Government realized the responsibilities towards stricter control of public utilities. To encourage wealthy people to reside in the province, Mr. Beatty said that he would favor a reduction in the succession duties.

He lent support to the recommendation made by Mr. Hayward that free X-ray clinics be established. He pointed out that the wealthy man could afford to pay for X-ray, while the indigent person had no compunction in asking for such service from the hospital. It was the middle class man, whose family budget kept him working overtime, that should be given some relief in this regard.

Substitute Resolution On Health Insurance Is Adopted in Legislature

other countries; to collect facts as to the actual operation of such laws and as to how far they have been found satisfactory; to inquire as to whether and to what extent the public interest requires the introduction of similar laws into the Province of British Columbia, to estimate what would be the total annual cost to the people of the Province in regard to each of these subjects, and what portion of the annual cost would fall upon (a) employers of labor, (b) prospective beneficiaries, and (c) the general taxpayers; to suggest methods by which the annual cost might be collected from the employers, prospective beneficiaries, and general taxpayers respectively; and to report its findings and recommendations to this Legislature at its next Session."

Mr. Rutledge, reading from the recommendations made in 1921 by the committee of that day, said that it appeared that the Liberals had not been very active in the line of bringing about any action on the matter.

He spoke at some length of the advantages of health insurance, which had been given a great place in Germany, and he advised study of the works on the subject which had been written in that country. The ordinary life insurance could not be carried by the ordinary workingman on account of the cost. State insurance could be made much cheaper, he felt.

SKEENA MEMBER PLEASED

Dr. Wrinch, following, said that he was glad to see that the Government was so favorable to the resolution. He suggested that its operations might be extended so as to enable the commission to call in the assistance of officials of the departments to give expert advice along the lines where the commission might not be able to work out the details.

Attorney-General Pooley said that the assistance of every department of the Government would be at the service of the commission appointed. The old committee, he said, had done good work on this matter.

Mr. G. S. Pearson wondered if the resolution could be made strong enough to include the cost of getting information.

Mr. T. D. Pattullo said that the Government of which he had been a member had given this matter every consideration. The only reason that it did not go further than it did was that it had so much legislation benefiting the people that it had not been able to move further in this line.

The amendment of Mr. Rutledge carried, after which the motion, as amended, carried.

VITAL STATISTICS ACT

Hon. S. L. Howe asked leave to withdraw a bill in his name on the order paper to amend the Vital Statistics Act.

Mr. Pattullo asked the reasons for this action.

Mr. Howe said that it had appeared on the order paper without his knowledge. He wished to go into the matter before proceeding.

Mr. Pattullo declared that this was an extraordinary proceeding.

Mr. Pooley suggested that if there was any objection that Mr. Howe withdraw his request, which was done, and the order was allowed to stand.

Mr. Tom Uphill, amid laughter, asked leave to introduce a bill entitled "The Hairdressers' Act."

Mr. Pooley asked if the member would submit the bill to him so that he might ascertain whether it should come in as a private bill, or as a public one.

Mr. Uphill agreed with this course.

The police, of course, in common with the other laws of the land, would be expected to see that the game laws were observed as well. It was, however, he pointed out, a fact that the Provincial Police were more often within the settled part of the country in the carrying out of their duties.

Under the new bill there would be appointed one commissioner to look after game. The province might be cut into as many districts as it was deemed wise to do, and placed under inspectors who understood the conditions in these districts and would see that the conservation of game was properly looked after. This would do away with the necessity of taking every matter to Victoria to be adjudicated upon. It could, in many instances, be settled under the inspectors in the various districts.

TRAP LINES

Then, dealing with the fur trap lines, Mr. Pooley recalled the system which prevailed among the Indians in the days when the Hudson's Bay Company first dealt with them.

Instead of giving a licence for a trap line to cover one year it would be made to cover five years and be renewable. These, of course, would be covered by proper restrictions. He pointed out that the trappers along these lines established cabins at different points and these were supplied in season with provisions, so that the hunter had a stake there.

It was the wish of the Government to show him consideration. There would be possible the getting of a layover for a season if from sickness or other cause the hunter desired it. He could recommend the passing of the line to another. It was not the proposal to give the hunter a vested right, but his interest was to be recognized.

This course, it was felt, would make for the protection of the game. Only the natural annual increase of the animals for the year would be taken under this plan. A man versed in the matter would be vested with the work of settling matters in dispute.

GAME ON FARM LAND

The creation of game farms was also dealt with as provided for under the bill. Of late the pheasant was open to attack from all quarters. The hunter and the farmer alike were against the bird and it was hard to continue the game.

There were only about 10 per cent of the residents who went shooting. The purpose of this amendment was to give the other 90 per cent of the residents a chance to eat pheasants. The chance would be given farmers, under licence, to raise the birds and dispose of them. This was to be done under very strict regulations. The licence would be a cheap matter. Tags, which were numbered, would be provided the farmers so operating, and every bird would have to be tagged before it was set at liberty.

This tag would stay on the bird until the pheasant was consumed. The game warden would therefore be in a position to tell exactly where the bird came from. There would, under the act, be no danger of what was suggested, "bootlegging in game."

It would afford the farmer who wished to make money out of game an opportunity to do so under proper restrictions.

BRING IN PARTIES

The bill also dealt with the big game section of the subject. He stressed the importance of this as a drawing card for the province from the big cities in the East and elsewhere in the world.

It was something that might be made to bring a rich harvest to the province. In this connection he proposed that there would be prepared literature dealing with the subject and setting out where guides and outfitting could be done in the big game line. This would be advertised in places where it would be seen by those who were interested. It would be sent to the hunting clubs of the continent and elsewhere so that it might come under the eye of those who were most interested.

There was no change made in the issuing of big game licences, whereby the hunter might, going in, take the option of taking out a $100 licence, which would cover everything. Alternatively, he could pay down $25 and then pay the regular charge per head later. He was of the opinion that many would take the higher licence fee, and the province would be ahead.

The guide would be licensed under the amendment, but automatically he would become thereby a game warden, and would, on his return from an expedition, have to report fully as to the carrying out of the act.

The debate on the second reading was adjourned on motion of Mr. A. M. Manson.

Ten Persons Die When Fire Burns Home of Family

BUCKHANNON, W.Va., Feb. 2. (Saturday). — Ten persons were burned to death here this morning when fire razed their dwelling.

All were members of one family. The dead included Pete Fines, fifty-two, and his wife; their married daughter, Mrs. Troy Gibson, and her three-month-old infant, and five children of the Fines. Troy Gibson, husband of one of the victims, escaped with his life, but was badly burned.

HIKERS DWINDLE

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The march of the unemployed in London continues, but instead of rolling up an army as its organizer prophesied, its small company is constantly dwindling. Ten days ago 150 Scotsmen left Glasgow with knapsacks, field kitchens and ambulances for their protest march. Today the remaining 120 of their number left Penrith for Kendal. They chartered motor buses to take them over some of the exposed hilly country.

Another party, numbering 100 miners, started from Newcastle yesterday, but many had fallen from the ranks before Durham was reached.

PREMIER HOPES TO APPEAR IN HOUSE MONDAY

tion of appointments made since July 1, 1918, the date upon which the Civil Service Act came into effect.

Mr. A. M. Manson said he did not know of any irregularities connected with any appointments, and wanted information.

It was promised that this would all be dealt with in committee, and the bill accordingly passed its second reading.

THE VITAL SECTION

The bill, as introduced, contains the following as a new section:

(1) Every appointment to the civil service, including every appointment to any office in or under any of the several departments, branches and institutions of the Executive Government of the Province, made since the first day of July, 1918, being the date of the commencement of the 'Civil Service Act,' which has been approved or in any way recognized by any order of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council, shall for all purposes be deemed as from the date of the appointment or the date of the order-in-council, whichever is the earlier, to have been and to be lawfully made, and to have taken and to take effect in accordance with the terms of the appointment; and all the requirements of this act with respect to those appointments shall be deemed to have been and to be sufficiently complied with; and the validity of any appointment so made and approved or recognized shall not be open to question in any court upon any ground whatsoever.

(2) Every appointment hereafter made to the civil service, including every appointment to any office in or under any of the several departments, branches and institutions of the Executive Government of the Province, which is approved by any order of the Lieutenant-Governor-in-Council, shall for all purposes be deemed to be lawfully made, and to take effect in accordance with the terms of the appointment, and all the requirements of this act with respect to those appointments shall be deemed to be sufficiently complied with; and the validity of any appointment so made and approved shall not be open to question in any court upon any ground whatsoever.

SNOWSLIDE HIDES BODY OF VICTIM

NELSON, B.C., Feb. 1.—Despite an all-day search by eighteen men under the able direction of O. C. Thompson, engineer in charge at the Reno mine, no trace of the body of Charles Woodrow, slide victim of Thursday, has been found. A slide 275 feet wide, 300 feet long and thirty feet deep swept over a road on which Mr. Woodrow and three men were working Thursday.

SIX DIE IN WRECK

HENDERSON, Ky., Feb. 1.—Six members of two train crews were reported killed eight miles from here this morning when passenger train No. 146 on the Louisville, Henderson & St. Louis Railway crashed head on into a freight train. The men killed were buried in the wreckage and only one body had been recovered.

COMMUNISTS IN JAPAN

OSAKA, Japan, Feb. 1.—Ninety-nine members of the Osaka branch of the Japanese Communist party were sentenced to terms of imprisonment ranging from two to eight years, and twenty-eight others were placed on probation in the district court here today. The sentences followed trial growing out of the Communist demonstrations and ensuing arrests at the general elections last March.

FALLS INTO WELL

NEW WESTMINSTER, Feb. 1.—Suffering from injuries to his back and right ankle, Stanley Powell, twenty-eight, a farmer residing on Brown Road, Langley, was brought to the Royal Columbian Hospital.

Mr. Powell was injured when the cover of the well on his farm gave way as he stepped on it. He fell about fifty feet, striking a barrel that was floating on the water. He was in the well about fifteen minutes before a boy on the farm heard his cries and went to the rescue.

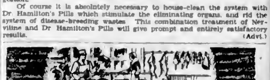

To Check "FLU", Grippe

Fight the Germs in the Throat Before They Invade Other Parts of the Body

EFFECTIVE PREVENTIVE MEASURES EXPLAINED

Simple precautions taken now will enable you to fight dreaded "Flu" which is sweeping rapidly through the whole country. The germs of Influenza gain access to the body through the mouth and throat. Keep the throat healthy and you go a long way towards stopping the trouble. An effective means of prevention is to gargle the throat three or four times daily with Nerviline. Half a teaspoonful of Nerviline in water makes a most efficient gargle. The germ-killing properties of Nerviline quickly destroy any bacteria in the mouth or throat. If the chest is sore, if the throat is hoarse, if you have a cough—be sure to rub the neck and chest with Nerviline. Every drop of it will rub in, and out will come the congestion.

Of course it is absolutely necessary to house-clean the system with Dr. Hamilton's Pills which stimulate the eliminating organs, and rid the system of disease-breeding wastes. This combination treatment of Nerviline and Dr. Hamilton's Pills will give prompt and entirely satisfactory results. (Advt.)

WEST COAST ROAD MEETS OPPOSITION

Mr. L. A. Hanna, Member for Alberni, Says Victoria Should Justify Its Claim to Proposed Road

RECOMMENDS EGG POOL FOR FARMERS

Alberni's one great need was roads. But next to this came the problem of relieving the poultry farmer, who had to pay far too high a price for domestic wheat. The Government should make an attempt to reduce the tariff on domestic wheat and take steps to encourage the formation of an egg pool for the farmers.

These were the main points stressed in the debate by Mr. L. A. Hanna, member for Alberni, on the Address in Reply at yesterday afternoon's session.

The speaker pointed out that the basic industry of his riding was lumbering. The first mill in the province had started operations there sixty years ago, and the investments had been increased ever since. A new mill was to be erected early this Spring, he told the Assembly.

Dealing with the matter of roads, he pointed out that the last Government had taken steps to improve the road over the mountains and urged that this should be continued. The two Albernis would like to see the Canadian Highway continued to Long Beach so that it would then reach from ocean to ocean. In this connection it is suggested that the Government might make Long Beach and the contiguous territory a provincial park. The completion of the Canadian Highway to this point would be a valuable tourist asset, in addition to opening up the whole West Coast fishing and lumbering centres.

VICTORIA WANTS ALL

The city of Victoria, he said, was all set on a road along the Southwest Coast of the Island toward Bamfield. "Victoria is like a little boy, she wants everything she can see, regardless of whether she can use it or not. Victoria always did claim she owned the earth. I say that Victoria should be made to justify her claim for this so-called West Coast Road."

Mr Hanna suggested that the road from Bamfield south to Pachena Point be improved if only for life-saving purposes. The city of Victoria could then get busy and connect with that road.

Dealing with educational matters, the speaker informed the Minister of Education that in some parts of his constituency there were no trails to the schools and that the children had often to wade through water to get to school.

The educational system in this province should be taken over by the Government, he contended. The education should also be on more general lines to better fit the children to earn their own way in the world.

The speaker suggested to the Minister of Agriculture that a policy with regard to logged-off areas was needed. These areas should be seeded off to provide pasture for the farmers. He felt that it would encourage sheep raisers. The Government should supply the seed, he said.

He would welcome legislation that would encourage Orientals to return to their country. Such legislation would certainly help relieve the labor situation. An instance of how white labor had been helped was by the gradual reduction in the number of fishing licences issued to Orientals.

WANTS APPEAL BOARD

With regard to the Workmen's Compensation Board, he said he would like to see the payment increased and a more lenient hearing given those who were injured. He recommended an appeal board to which employers could go if not satisfied with the treatment they received.

He was not in favor of a cut in the income tax or an amendment to the Succession Duties Act. He felt that the poorer people could only be relieved by the wealthier class bearing a larger share of the burden of taxation such as through the income tax and succession duties.

With regard to the voters' list, he suggested that the registration of names might be facilitated by having a person qualified to vote sworn in on the list by a voter already on the list on the day of election.

Mr. Hanna, in dealing with the royalties on timber, said that he favored a reduction, particularly on the number three logs.

LIFE OF GOVERNMENT

The member for Alberni in his introductory remarks said it was the independent vote that had put the Conservatives into power, "and it will not be long before the independent vote puts them out again."

"That will not be for another sixteen years at least," replied Canon Hinchliffe.

"May I remind my honorable friend that the avalanche came to the Conservatives in 1916, and that was only after their election in 1912," interjected Mr. A. M. Manson.

"Never mind. Time will tell," Mr. Hanna declared, ending this short debate as to the life of the present Government.

ADVISORY BOARD PRESENTS VIEWS

Agricultural Committee of House Is Asked to Make Reduction in Motor Licence Tax

NOXIOUS WEEDS ISSUE RAISED

The agricultural committee of the Legislature had a request made before it at its sitting yesterday morning by the advisory board of the Farmers' Institutes asking that the motor licence fee for the province be reduced to a minimum amount of $5.

The committee did not decide what action to take on the request, laying the matter over for later consideration.

The representations which were made by the farmers in the matter were that since the coming in of the gasoline tax there was a very considerable amount of revenue made up from the operation of automobiles, and the situation therefore justified the radical reduction in the motor licence tax.

ORIENTAL SURVEY

Another matter that was heard before the committee was one associated with the Oriental situation in the province. The advisory board asked that there should be another Oriental survey of the province to cover every industry, similar to that which was taken in 1926. It was pointed out that the cost of this was not large, in fact it was only a very small sum that was expended. The advantages of having another one were sent out as affording an opportunity to make comparisons which would indicate what the growth of the Oriental population was, and the development of it along the line of competition.

The agricultural committee acquiesced in the idea of making the request of the Government for another survey along the lines suggested.

NOXIOUS WEEDS

In connection with the noxious weed problem the board recommended that the regulations governing this matter should be made uniform, covering organized as well as unorganized districts.

It was pointed out that last year there had been a recommendation that an active campaign should be instituted in the province, instead of asking for more restrictive measures to overcome the nuisance.

The result of the season's operations indicated that the educational work was not enough. It was found that there was need of legislation to supplement the other efforts, and make compulsory some of the pressing needs in this regard.

The recommendation was endorsed by the committee.

The committee likewise endorsed the recommendation that the move be supported to have a British Columbia man appointed to the Dominion Railway Commission.

MEDICAL SERVICE

Again were revived the matters of medical services to settlers in outlying parts of the province, and in support of health insurance. This was a reiteration of the action taken by the body the year previously. The request was endorsed.

Relative to the Apiaries Act and the proposal to have the owners of all register with the Department of Agriculture, the farmers made a recommendation that certain areas only be brought under the operations of the act and that such action should be made operative by order-in-council.

This plan was endorsed.

The agricultural committee has for its chairman Mr. J. W. Berry, with Colonel Fred Lister as secretary.

Mr. C. E. Whitney-Griffiths, secretary of the advisory board of Farmers' Institute, present the requests from that body before the agricultural committee of the House. He was the only one present on behalf of the institute.

Who's Who in Making Laws Across James Bay

The member for Alberni district is not by any means a stranger to the city of Victoria. He is a lawyer by profession, practising in the city of Port Alberni. Before he entered into practice there he spent seven years in the capital city of the Province where he was articled to law firms and received his grounding in the profession.

Mr. Hanna is a native of the Province of Ontario, but like many more of the residents here, he came with his parents to the Pacific Province when he was but a child. In the case of the member for Alberni, he was only six years of age when he came to British Columbia. His interests are therefore entirely connected with this part of the Dominion.

He is one of the young members of the present House, which has a very fair proportion of youthful legislators. He has attained his thirtieth year, but in spite of the fact that he is not far advanced in years the member for Alberni has had a very considerable amount of experience in public affairs. He has served as mayor of Alberni, and has taken a very full interest in many matters of a public character.

Among them is the Board of Trade enterprises with which he identified himself very prominently.

Mr. Hanna is a very ready speaker. His manner on the platform conveys the idea that he is modestly bashful, but the matter of his speeches is always well considered. He bears a striking resemblance to the famous "movie" actor, Harold Lloyd, which is enhanced by a smile which he carries, and which is similar to that which the actor assumes. In the case of Mr. Hanna, however, the smile is a natural one.

MR. L. A. HANNA

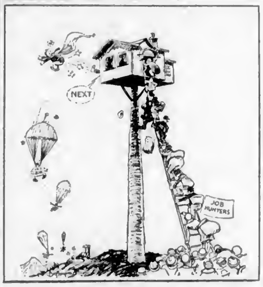

Mr. Hanna is a Liberal representative. He has a most unassuming manner, but is regarded as a most promising member when practical matters are to be disposed of by the House.

GOVERNMENT TAKEN TO TASK OVER CABINET

Mr. F. M. MacPherson, Member for Cranbrook, Says Kootenay Should Have Portfolio of Mines

WANT HIGHWAY TO PRAIRIE FINISHED

"I had hoped when the Premier performed the important task of selecting his cabinet, that he would have considered British Columbia as a whole and not confine these appointments to practically one locality, more especially when he deemed it advisable to appoint two extra ministers without portfolios. It has left a large area of this province without ministerial representation. I speak in particular of the Kootenay district."

These were the words of Mr F. M. MacPherson, member for Cranbrook, when taking to task the Government over the appointment of cabinet ministers in his debate on the Address in Reply at yesterday afternoon's session of the Legislature.

He contended that with nine members in the House from Kootenay, five of whom sat with the Government of the day, it seemed to him that in the formation of a cabinet the Premier could have found among these five men "just as capable men as we have in the House to fill a portfolio and administer it. I speak particularly, sir, of the mines portfolio," he added. The speaker pointed out that the revenue received from the Kootenay district from mines by the province was great, and it would have been good business on the part of the Government to have selected the Minister of Mines from one of the five Government members from that district.

Mr. MacPherson went on to give statistics showing the production of the mines in the Kootenay district. He followed this by expressing the hope that the Government would place a good portion of the revenue derived from this source in the estimates to be spent in the Kootenay district in three ways. First, to open up new trails and maintain the old ones into mines which at present are in the prospect stage; secondly, in work on the Red Transcontinental trail, which was the shortest route from the prairie provinces to the coast, and, thirdly, in attention given to the Blue trail from California to Banff, which passed through his district.

As the working class formed 75 per cent of the residents in his constituency, he wanted to assure the Government of the day that any labor legislation, such as amendments to the Workmen's Compensation Act, would have his support, as he felt that any additional benefits accruing to injured men would have the support of every member of the Legislature.

GOVERNMENT AND VICTORIA

Two matters of interest were raised by Mr. R. Hayward (Victoria) in his contribution to the Debate on the Address in the Legislature. The first was his advocacy of the desirability of the Government making some contribution to the municipality of Victoria as a set-off for the exemption of Government lands and improvements from taxation. The second was the strong plea he puts forward for the erection of a new courthouse in this city.

The Provincial Government has an immense stake in this municipality. It has the obligation to maintain the prestige of the city as the capital of British Columbia. Government lands and buildings constitute a very substantial percentage of the total from which the municipality derives no benefits in the form of taxation. The situation thus created cannot be described as fair to Victoria because provincial holdings here are necessarily greater than in any other municipality of the province. This question of a special Government grant to this municipality was raised during the life of the late Government but met with no response. Mr. Hayward has done well to raise it anew. The attitude of the Dominion Government towards the municipality of Ottawa affords a precedent which might very well be followed in this capital. Better terms for Victoria should be the subject of a request to the Provincial Government from the City Council.

The question of a new courthouse for Victoria is now upwards of fifteen years old. Logically it becomes more persistent with the years. The McBride Government had decided on the construction of a new courthouse here and had purchased a site for the purpose. The war intervened, the Conservative Government went out of power and the matter has been the subject of procrastination ever since. Mr. Hayward's description of the conditions in the present courthouse, with its archaic facilities, is not exaggerated. It is a disgrace to the capital of the province. The Public Works estimates of the present session should contain provision for a new structure, and it should be pressed to completion without any delay. Mr. Hayward deserves praise for having put the matter forward so forcibly. He will receive the staunch backing of the other members for the city.

AIRCRAFT STRENGTH

Mr. Fred T. Jane has founded an annual publication dealing with "All the World's Aircraft," designed to show the flying activities of the various nations. This is the eighteenth year of issue, and, as may be expected, the volume grows more interesting all the time as aerial strength is making such notable advances in so many parts of the world. In the latest issue special sections are given to civil and military flying, a desirable change since the development of the two types of aircraft is now proceeding along different lines. In the civil section it is shown that in the growth of the light aeroplane market Great Britain is in the forefront with its large number of flying clubs. According to the publication there are multifarious uses to which aircraft are put in Canada, though Australia is still shown with greater development in regard to air transport.

In the military section there is an admission that difficulties are experienced in keeping up to date in estimating the air strength of nations. It is shown that France has 132 escadrilles. Each of these units comprise from ten to twelve machines. Italy has 103 squadrons, whereas Britain has only thirty-nine of first line character, though it is stated that this estimate does not include marine aircraft units. There are twenty squadrons in the British Empire overseas and ten more squadrons attached to the Fleet Air Arm. Soviet Russia has ninety squadrons of twelve machines each.

In the publication there are 260 pages devoted to illustrations of aircraft and their specifications, all dealing with modern machines. In comparisons instituted British skill shows up favorably, especially in the quality of the products. Among recent achievements in British aircraft construction is an air-cooled radial scout with a speed of 178 miles an hour at 10,000 feet. There is also a water-cooled single-seater with a speed of 188 miles an hour at a similar altitude, each of these craft being capable of carrying a full military load. The book contains many details in connection with the giant British airships now nearing completion.

REVIVING BRITAIN'S CANALS

More than a century and a quarter ago, Richard Brinsley began his great task of covering England with a network of canals. The nation's roads in those days were very bad and trade, particularly internal trade and transportation, suffered in consequence. With the coming of the industrial revolution something drastic had to be done to improve the country's means of transportation of an ever-increasing flood of wares from the new factories which were springing up all over the various shires. Thus the Brinsley canal system was born, and for many decades flourished. Then came the railroads, and with them a vastly improved system of highways, and as a result transportation of goods by canal barge languished.

Britain's inland water transport entered upon a definitely new phase at the beginning of this year, when, as a start, 240 miles of canals came under control of the newly-formed Grand Union Hotel Company. The Grand Union is an amalgamation of the companies controlling the Regent's canal, Grand Junction canal, the Warwick and Napton canal, and the Birmingham and Warwick Junction canal. The amalgamation is regarded as the most important development of the movement to organize Britain's canal system in effective competition with the rail and road transport systems. The advent of the internal combustion engine has extended the possibilities of inland water transport, and its successful use on the larger craft seems to foreshadow the end of the horse-drawn barge as a vehicle for long-distance tonnage.

There has been a steady increase in the volume of cargo carried on English canals during the last few years, though nothing, of course, comparable to the glories of the past. Figures supplied by the Regent Canal Company show that 732,937 tons of cargo were carried on this stretch of canal last year, compared with 595,556 tons in 1923, notwithstanding the fact that the eight-hour day has curtailed transport working time. The cargo carried was chiefly coal, timber, grain, drugs, chemicals, oils and foodstuffs.

It is pointed out on behalf of the Province of Quebec that it does not need an old age pension law because it has a law which binds the children to maintain their parents when they are old. The inspiration for this law came from the Code Napoleon, and, "it is lived up to as an honored tradition in Quebec." The Montreal Gazette says: "Quebec's proud experience is that where the need exists, parents are supported within the family and not as a matter of charity, but in loyal and loving fulfillment of a filial duty." That is one of the principles which makes the home and family life such a stronghold in the stability of Quebec.

AT DUSK

Dark-eyed Sleep, tiptoe nigh,
Touched with colors of the sky,
Airs of elf-land, dim and gay,
Round her breathing slumber stray.

Hesper, let her dusky hair,
Brush one rosy shoulder bare,
So that earth may show a light
Beautiful as thine tonight.

Love—love—with wings apart
Fold us to thy heavenly heart,
Drown us in thy shining bliss,
While, on earth, our shadows kiss.

Dreams cloud her dawning eyes,
Let her wake, as music dies,
Wondering if indeed it were
But a dream that stole from her.

Drifting moth or drowsy bee
Borne to earth in ecstasy,
Honey-laden from that star
Where the world's lost Edens are.

—Alfred Noyes.

BACKWOODSMAN

So sharply tuned a thing is memory,
That he could in thus small a time forget
A crowded street, a narrow sky that met
The craning roofs—because he chanced to see
A little, battered, cast-off Christmas tree
Jammed in an ashcan—sodden, tinseled, wet
But with a tiny haunting fragrance yet
Caught in its draggled limbs. And suddenly

His eyes went dim with dreams, remembering
That where the gaunt hours after sunset ride,
Streaking the sky with long and crimson scars,
There are still mountains, proud and challenging,
And trees, that shove the sullen winds aside
To hurl dark laughter at the wintry stars.

—Sara Henderson Hay, in The New York Herald-Tribune.

FRUIT PIECE

The rust-red apricot and golden pear
Make harmony with peach and nectarine,
Dim earthy medlars and the purple shine
Of mulberry and plum, white, amber clear,
Ripe muscats bosom dewy from the vine,
By blushing, white-heart cherries debonnair.
Now netted melon and paunchy pine
Wearing his jade aigrette and mangoes rare.
Rasp, custard-apple, loquat, mangosteen,
The strawberry, granadilla, pomegranate
With amethyst jewels for a fairy queen,
Red orange, fig, banana, sugary date—
Summon them all, and in your rainbow set
A tamarin—the tiniest marmoset.

—Eden Phillpotts, in Country Life (London).

IT TAKES SO LITTLE

It takes so little to make us sad,
Just a slighting word or a doubting sneer
Just a scornful smile on some lips held dear,
And our footsteps lag, though the goal seemed near,
And we lose the courage and hope we had—
So little it takes to make us sad.

It takes so little to make us glad,
Just the cheering clasp of a friendly hand,
Just a word from one who can understand;
And we finish the task we long had planned,
And we lose the doubt and the fear we had—
So little it takes to make us glad.

—Ida Goldsmith Morris.

OCEAN HIGHWAY IS PROMISED AID

Mr. Reginald Hayward, M.P.P., Speaks Before Chamber in Defence of Project

STRATHCONA PARK IS NOT FORGOTTEN

The possibilities of the West Coast road, and the desirability of building it, as far as possible, along the coastline, were the subjects of a short but interesting address, given at the luncheon meeting of the directors of the Chamber of Commerce in the Chamber of Commerce cafe yesterday, by Mr. Reginald Hayward, M.P.P.

Those members of the Legislature who represent Victoria, said Mr. Hayward, are all in hearty sympathy with the construction of the road. Mr. Hayward spoke on the subject in the House on Thursday and the other three members for the city will also air their views during the debate on the Address.

Mr Hayward said that the city members were endeavoring to obtain the road as an ocean highway, and not have it cutting through the backbone of the Island. It may be impossible, he pointed out, to build the road to conform strictly to the coastline, but this plan should be adhered to as far as possible. "If we adopt the route that the Opposition wants," said the speaker, "I do not think it would be in the best interests of Victoria." Mr. B. C. Nicholas thought that the Chamber of Commerce should go on record as appreciating the efforts of the four city members in the matter of the West Coast road.

In answer to a question from Mr. H. E. Boorman, president of the Tourist Trade Group, as to whether the city members had taken any action in the matter of protecting the timber of Strathcona Park, Mr Hayward said that they had felt that such matters as the Court House, and the West Coast road were sufficient for the present, but that they would bring the question of Strathcona Park up at a future date.

Member Called Home by Injury To His Son

Mr. W P Kennedy, member for North Okanagan, has been called home suddenly owing to an accident happening to his son while skiing. Mr. Kennedy left for Vernon for the purpose of bringing his son down to the Coast for expert attention.

The son is sixteen years of age, and while engaged in the sport of skiing had his shoulder fractured.

According to the information received by the member the injuries were rather serious, and will require careful attention. Mr. Kennedy may be absent from the House for a few days.

Unfit Drivers to Lose Licences in Prairie Provinces

REGINA, Feb. 1.—Wide powers of revocation of automobile licences for misconduct of owner or operator are conferred upon the Provincial Secretary by amendments to the Vehicle Act, passed by the Saskatchewan Legislature yesterday. The secretary may, at his discretion, cancel any licence if the owner or driver infringes the act.

The Rhyming Optimist

By Aline Michaelis

REALITY

Not of the sleazy fabric of a dream,
Must life be made; but of reality,
Enduring stuff, though it may lack the gleam
And gloss that in illusion's web we see.

Reality, though it be dipped in dyes
As sombre as the hues poor workmen wear,
And though it own no charm for casual eyes,
Has virtues that spring not from being fair.

It is reality alone can give
A touch of splendor to a barren life;
Through stark reality alone men live,
The rest is futile fury, foolish strife.

Prize not the sleazy fabric of a dream,
But choose through all your days to be, not seem!

Jots From History

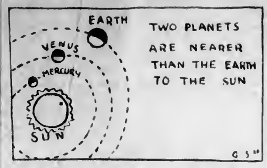

FROM A STATUE IN THE BRITISH MUSEUM

CAESAR crossed the Rubicon into Italy in 49 B.C., and by the power of his legions became master of Italy, setting himself up as dictator for life. Caius Julius was his name, and the force of his personality is written large across the history of the world. Caesar conquered Spain and Africa and both the Gauls and his own peoples. He became the idol of the masses. However, the patricians feared and hated him, and a conspiracy amongst them led to his assassination in 44 B.C.

MORE FASCINATING THAN FABLE

CHILDREN OF THE SUN

THE sun, great fiery mass into which we could comfortably fit 1,300,000 earths, is not unlike the mother of many children, all circling around her.

Her family includes seven planets, of which the Earth is one. Some are smaller, and others are much larger than the Earth. Two travel paths nearer to the sun and five travel paths farther away.

Each planet travels its own path and the trip around the sun for each, is the length of the year on each. Since some have shorter, and some longer paths, some have shorter and some longer years.

Some planets turn on their own axis, as Earth does, but Mercury and Venus do not. For these two, then, there are no days and nights, but eternal scorching on one side, and everlasting freezing night on the side which is never turned toward the sun.

The planets (which means wanderers in Greek) were named for Roman gods. The nearest to the sun, and the smallest of all, is Mercury. Then comes Venus, the loveliest star in the sky; then Mars, the only one on which there may even possibly be life, except, perhaps Venus; then Jupiter, the largest; then Saturn, which is girdled by a bright ring, when looked at through the telescope; then Uranus! And farthest away from the sun is the path of Neptune.

Between the paths of Mars and Jupiter are several hundred little planets called Planetoids. They are so small that they can be seen only through powerful telescopes.

All of these heavenly bodies—planets and planetoids, swing around the sun on their own arcs. Some of them have moons, which go around them as our moon goes around the Earth, and the moons keep turning around their own planets even while the planets keep turning around the sun.

The sun has still another kind of children in its family—the comets. Some comets belong regularly to the family, but others visit briefly and veer off into space to return after years—or never.

Sometimes these comets explode, and the pieces rush through the air so fast that they get white-hot and burst into flame like far-away skyrockets. These we call shooting stars and they, too, belong to our own sun family.

The name of the family is the Solar System—and its members are our nearest heavenly neighbors.—By Colin G. Welles, Ph. D.

INSURANCE RATES

Sir,—Mr. James Lyons, of 1293 Denman Street, Victoria, apparently has his insurance placed with the same company as myself. My automobile premium has been more than $100 per annum for the last four years, and I have regularly received a dividend of 25 per cent of that amount. This makes a very substantial saving in the upkeep of my car.

During the time referred to I have had three claims which have been adjusted to my entire satisfaction.

A. G. COWIE.

1318 Government Street, Victoria, B.C., January 31, 1929.

LIQUOR SALES

Sir,—The enormous figures given in the sales of intoxicating liquor suggest that the citizens of British Columbia are consuming a vast amount of drink and the figures, no doubt, will be used by prohibitionists to tend to show that there is more drunkenness.

These figures are very misleading and if an analysis is made it will be found that it is not the quantity that is drunk that makes these figures, but the price that is charged, and again, that it is not the amount that the citizens of British Columbia absorb.

If you take the figure $13,956,900, which is made up by the price now charged, and compare the price charged prior to Prohibition, you could with safety bring down the figures to $7,000,000, and the same amount of liquor would have been consumed. Again we must remember that before prohibition became law in the United States, the thousands of people who now visit British Columbia to get their liquors, could just as readily get it in their own towns. These people, thousands of them, visit us only for the pleasure they get in drink, and if you take off the amount they spend this figure would again be reduced.

Again, the Chinese, prior to 1913, were able buy their national liquor for a very small sum, but Prohibition increased the prices to such an extent that the Chinese buy in large quantities of our liquor instead of their own. Take this off again and the figures would again be reduced.

There is another important point. Thousands of our own people who under old conditions were satisfied with an ordinary drink or two, now are compelled to buy a bottle. So it will be seen that the figures in dollars look enormous, yet in quantity of drink consumed by our own people in a legitimate way they are small in comparison.

I write this in an attempt to show that the people of British Columbia are not responsible for the amount consumed as the figures given would appear to show. I am glad to see that this question is being taken up during this session and hope to deal with it later with your permission.

JOHN DAY.

880 Madison Street, Victoria, B.C., January 30, 1929.

WEST COAST DEVELOPMENT

Sir,—I see The Daily Times of January 29 is using the same arguments and misleading statements about a West Coast road that plunged the country into so much debt over the P G E bungle.

They must think the Legislature is lacking in common business sense to ask them to appropriate money to build a highway for development purposes through a country that is reserved for timber leases. It is a shipping port that is needed first. Let us get some assurance that Port San Juan will be made into a good commodious harbor and then ask the Government for a loan of two or three millions to build roads this year on the West Coast, and the chances are we will get it because the money would not come from the general taxpayers' pocket.

As an old San Juan pioneer I would like to call attention to some facts about the southwest coast that are not generally known and seldom discussed in the newspapers. You will see by a map of the southwest coast that the tract of provincial land is about the same size as the whole populated part of Vancouver Island. The same sized tract on this side of the Island would reach from Victoria to Parksville, so there must be about one million acres of provincial land on the southwest coast with practically no permanent population on it. The million acres of land and timber belong to the people of British Columbia. We are all shareholders which makes it all the more necessary for us to see that it is built up and occupied with a prosperous permanent population like we have on this side of the Island. At the present time there is not one sawmill or factory operating on the whole hundred miles of seacoast between Jordan River and Barkley Sound. We know there is enough timber, iron ore, and other natural resources on the tract to keep a thousand or more industries busy for ever, and create permanent employment for tens of thousands of people in the most southern part of British Columbia, all of which would be tributary to Victoria and the Cowichan district.

The first great vital need on the West Coast is industries, not tourists, so that tourists when they come would have some inducement to become permanent residents. But mills and factories cannot be made profitable without a nearby shipping port. This difficulty can be remedied by making Port San Juan into a good safe harbor. All that is needed is a breakwater at the entrance to make it one of the safest and most convenient harbors on the coast.

There will probably be about twenty billion feet of timber tributary to the harbor and it is said there is enough iron on the Gordon River nearby to keep a blast furnace going for fifty years.

I must here emphasize the fact that the iron ore is worthless under present conditions, and industries cannot be made profitable without a nearby shipping port. It is not a question of building roads through the district. Fifty million dollars spent on roads would not remove the difficulty which has prevented mills from operating on that coast. The mills and shipping must be protected from the destructive seas which roll into the now almost useless harbor of Port San Juan.

Let us get that harbor made safe and there will soon be a thriving settlement like Port Alberni or Powell River with good connecting roads the same as we have now on this side of the Island. A good shipping port would increase the value of all that provincial-owned timber to almost fabulous prices as it did at Grays Harbor thirty years ago.

A few years ago the Ontario Government sold three timber tracts by auction to the highest bidder for from eighteen to twenty-two dollars per thousand feet on the stump. If our Government could get half that price two hundred million dollars would go into the Provincial Treasury from stumpage dues alone. Six hundred million dollars would be a fair estimate of the amount of money put into circulation from payrolls, etc.

No doubt the Government and Legislature will want to know that the proposed road will be needed for other purposes besides tourists and pleasure resorts before they spend very much public money on it, for without industries to create employment the road would be another white elephant like the P G E, and a burden on the taxpayer for ever. If Premier Tolmie is satisfied that the great natural resources of the West Coast will be used for creating employment and building up the West Coast like this East Coast, we would then be quite justified in asking the Government to build all the West Coast roads that are asked for, because the roads won't have to be paid for from general taxes like other roads in the province.

I think the less said about the Victoria proposition as published in The Times the better. Instead of trying to build up a prosperous community west of Victoria, their main effort seems to be to spend some millions of dollars of public money to benefit a small corner of the southeast coast. They don't seem to consider the well-known fact that building up the adjoining country and making the best use of all the nearby natural resources is the one most vital need to bring prosperity to any city in Canada.

We have a country right at our doors richer by far than any part of the P G E or Peace River, and covered with natural resources more saleable than any of those faraway places. All that is needed is a shipping port to have all the great wealth from forest and mines distributed among the nearby cities and towns first. Canada needs the wealth that is now locked up in those forests, mines and ocean. Victoria needs it, and Duncan needs it. Let us make sure that the real difficulty is removed which prevents it from being utilized and after the shipping port is assured we can ask the Government to go on with all the West Coast roads this year with a better chance to get what we ask for.

DATA ON STAFF CHANGES ASKED

Out of 760 Orders-in-Council Passed by Government, 360 Deal With Dismissals, Mr. Pattullo Says

OMNIBUS MOTION IS PRESENTED

In order to get away from the loading up of the order paper of the Legislature with a multitude of questions about dismissals from the civil service, which the Opposition is now asking, Colonel Fred Lister, of Creston, yesterday introduced into the House a resolution which would do by wholesale what the Opposition members are doing piecemeal.

Mr. Lister moved, seconded by Dr. Borden:

That an order of the House be granted for a return showing (a) All persons in the civil service who have resigned, been dismissed, or had their services dispensed with since August 21, 1928, (b) date of their leaving the service; (c) reason for their dismissal or services being dispensed with.

Colonel Lister, a supporter of the Government, said that the preparation of the return asked for should not be a large undertaking. He did it to clear up the position of affairs and do away with the necessity for the many questions that were being asked on the subject.

Mr. T. D. Pattullo agreed with Colonel Lister as to the burdening of the order paper. He, however, wanted to extend the scope of the resolution so as to include all dismissals as well as those from the civil service. He said that of 760 orders-in-council passed since the new Government came into power, there had been 360 of these dealing with dismissals.

He moved as an amendment the addition that the return be made to ten days, and that it be printed in the votes and proceedings of the House.

Mr. Pooley asked that the amendment be placed on the order paper.

Mr. Pattullo said that he would then move the adjournment of the debate and give notice of amendment.

Mr. Pooley pointed out that the Leader of the Opposition was out of order, but he had no objection to the course.

Mr. A. M. Manson took the position that Mr. Pattullo was not out of order in moving the adjournment of the debate at that time.

The matter thereupon dropped and the debate was adjourned.

Mower Is Bought Before Snow Has Melted on Lawn

Courage takes many forms, and certainly it needs courage to run the gauntlet of jocular remarks aimed at a man carrying a lawnmower half a mile through the streets of Victoria yesterday from the auction rooms, where he purchased it, to his place of business.

With snow on the ground many witticisms were leveled at the genuine optimist who is looking forward to cut his lawn many months ahead.

ANTIQUARY DIES

Mr. Victor T. Hodgson, Who Visited Victoria Last Year, Passes in Scotland

The friends whom he made when he visited Victoria last year will regret to hear of the death of Mr. Victor T. Hodgson, F.S.A., which took place last month at his residence, Cuilchenna, Onich, Inverness-shire, Scotland. Although an architect by profession, the two great interests in Mr. Hodgson's life were archaeology and natural history. He was the founder of the West Highland Museum at Fort William, Scotland, and its secretary since its foundation.

In this connection, when in Victoria he collected many objects of interest and closely related to the Highlands which had been brought out by the early settlers and officers of the Hudson's Bay Company.

During the war he held the rank of lieutenant in the Royal Naval Reserve, and also served as King's Messenger.

Mr. Hodgson was born at Harpenden, Herts., in 1875, and was educated at Harrow. In 1917 he married Sibyl, daughter of the late Sir Hugh Gilzean Reid, LL.D., D.L., by whom and a daughter he is survived.

Mr. Herbert M. T. Hodgson of Alberni, is a brother.

Il Duce and His Bust

ERNEST Durig, of Bern, Switzerland, famous sculptor, for a long time before he made this bust, wanted a personal introduction to "Il Duce." All ambassadorial applications failed. Finally he realized his wish when he constructed a huge snow bust, twenty-five feet high, of the Premier in Park Pincio, where it attracted so much attention that Mussolini invited Durig to his palace and commissioned him to make a bust in bronze. Here is shown the Italian Premier beside the original bust.

DEAF ENABLED TO HEAR VOICE

SOUND VIBRATIONS TRANSMITTED BY INSTRUMENT TO AUDITORY NERVES

Invention Found Useful in Teaching Mutes to Talk—Operated by Electricity

CANTON, Ohio, Feb. 1.—An invention brought joy to the hearts of twenty deaf mutes at the Henry S. Martin School yesterday when, for the first time in their lives they heard the sound of their own voices and their teachers as well.

The device was installed in a schoolroom, the equipment including a broadcasting unit and each student's desk was outfitted with ear phones. The device enables the pupil to hear both his own voice and that of the teacher.

Until yesterday the youngsters had been unable to pronounce even the simplest words. For the first half hour after the device was installed they practised talking. At first the sounds they made were unintelligible, but little by little their enunciation became clearer and all of them soon were able to make themselves understood and to understand the teachers.

The set requires a minimum of electrical power to operate. It is expected to bring drastic changes in the teaching of the deaf.

AGRICULTURAL MEETING HELD

Salt Spring Association Faces Deficit—Special Effort to Get Membership Decided On

SALT SPRING, Feb. 1.—The annual meeting of the Salt Spring Agricultural and Fruitgrowers' Association was held recently in the Mahon Hall, Ganges. There were about fifty members present and the president, Mr. Harold Price, was in the chair. After the minutes of the last general meeting and the balance sheet had been read and adopted, the president gave a short address on the year's work, mentioning the improvements, amounting to $250, which had been made in the hall and grounds.

He pointed out that for some years the annual exhibition had been falling off for lack of interest until this year's led to a considerable deficit. The advisability of dropping it for a year was discussed, but finally it was decided to continue and make a special effort to get the residents to become members and exhibit.

Rev. J. W. Flinton spoke on the workings of the Agricultural Association at Comox, after which it was proposed and carried that the membership fee should remain at $1.50, allowing free admittance to the show for members and their families, also that no fee should be charged to members for entries in any class.

The following directors were elected: Messrs. H. T. E. Price, William Palmer, R. G. King, W. M. Mouat, J. Watson, F. Penrose, J. H. Lee, H. Caldwell, S. P. Beech, A. R. Price.

The Veterans' Corner

VETERANS OF FRANCE

F. Abrahams was elected president of the Veterans of France at the annual meeting held recently. Other officers elected were as follows: First vice-president, G. Green; second vice-president, S. Petch; treasurer, C. Falkner. The following were elected chairmen of the respective committees: Sports, H. Ballour; ways and means, F. Miller; investigation, T. Gilbert; sick, A. Rogers; publicity, L. Lowther; finance, T. Hodges. Messrs. Abrahams, Green and Bloom were elected as members of the Armistice Day committee.

In British Columbia Court of Appeal

Rex vs. Rump—In this case appelant had been convicted at the Kamloops Assizes of an attempt to commit an offence against a girl under fourteen years of age. He had been sentenced to imprisonment for two years and to receive fifteen lashes. The accused appealed and his case was heard at the recent sessions of the Court of Appeal. The court yesterday dismissed the appeal (Galliher and McPhillips, J.A., dissenting), but reduced the sentence to one year's imprisonment without lashes. The court intimated that written reasons for judgment would be given. H. A. Maclean, K.C., for the appellant; W. H. Bullock-Webster for the Crown.

Obituary

HARRIS—The remains of Mrs. Jane Harris, who passed away in this city on January 30, are at Hayward's B.C. Funeral Chapel, from where the funeral will take place this afternoon at 3.30 o'clock. Rev. N. E. Smith will officiate. Interment will be made at Ross Bay Cemetery.

McMILLAN—Funeral services will be conducted for Mrs. Janet Hutchison McMillan, who died at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. James McKenzie, of 2773 Victor Street, last Thursday, on Monday at 2 o'clock, from the Sands Funeral Chapel. Rev. J. G. T. Bompas will officiate, and the remains will be laid to rest in Royal Oak Burial Park.

McNAIR—Mrs. Elizabeth Burns McNair died yesterday at the residence of her son, Mr. James McNair, of 2710 Scott Street, aged sixty-eight. Mrs. McNair was born in Scotland and has been a resident of this city for seven months. She is survived by her husband, Mr. James McNair, and her son, on Scott Street; four daughters, two in Michigan and two in Toronto; also one sister, Mrs. Robert Roe, of Pender Island, and one brother, Mr. James Burns, in Scotland. The funeral will take place on Monday at 3 o'clock, from the Sands Funeral Chapel. Rev. Henry Knox will officiate and interment will take place in Royal Oak Burial Park.

CROSS—Many attended the funeral yesterday afternoon of Mr. Gerald Herbert Cross, who died at the family residence, 1596 Yale Street, last Tuesday. Services were conducted at St. Mary's Church by Rev. A. E. de L. Nunns. Relatives and many friends were present and there were many beautiful flowers. The hymns sung were "Jesus, Lover of My Soul" and "Rock of Ages." Messrs. Gerald V., Cyril H., Francis S., Harold J. and Arthur R. Cross, all sons, and B. M. Gahagan acted as pallbearers, and the remains were laid to rest in Royal Oak Burial Park. The Sands Funeral Company were in charge.

RICHARDSON—There passed away at an early hour on Friday morning, at 745 Yates Street, Neil McLean Richardson, aged eighty-two. Mr. Richardson was born in Scotland, but came to Canada with his parents as a child and lived for many years in the County of Huron, Ontario, before moving to Winnipeg, and he came to Victoria fifteen months ago. He is mourned by his widow, one son, Lyle L. Richardson, in Wilcox, Saskatchewan, and a daughter, Mrs. Harry Stephens, in Edmonton, also two brothers, John, in Los Angeles, and Donald Richardson, in Brussels, Ontario, and two sisters, Mrs. James Crandall, in Winnipeg, and Miss Kate Richardson, in Renfrew, Ontario. The remains are resting at McCall Bros.' Funeral Home and will be forwarded on this afternoon's boat en route to Winnipeg, where interment will be made in the family plot in Elmwood Cemetery.

Aluminum Monopoly

OTTAWA, Feb. 1.—Creation of a potential danger of monopoly in the aluminum industry in Canada by the granting of the application of the Aluminum Company of Canada for upward revision of the tariff on aluminum bars, sheets, foil, etc., was contended at the closing session of the advisory tariff board this afternoon by Vincent C. MacDonald, representing the British Aluminum Company of England.

It would not be Britain that profited by free entry of aluminum raw products, said Mr. McCarthy, who represented the applicants; it would be Germany, Italy and other European nations.

BOARD TO CONSIDER POLICE REQUESTS FOR MORE PAY NEXT WEEK

Members of Department Seek 15 Per Cent Increase—Estimates to Be Dealt With on Thursday

Consideration of the request of members of the Victoria Police Department for a 15 per cent increase in pay was deferred yesterday by the City Police Commission until its meeting Thursday, when it will consider the 1929 estimates for the department.

Chief of Police John Fry recommended in his annual report to the commission an increase in pay for all members of the department and stated that the present rate of pay was far below that paid the police forces of surrounding cities.

At a recent meeting of the commission, a deputation from the Victoria Police Mutual Benefit Association waited upon them with a request for a 15 per cent raise in salary for all members, and presented their claims and arguments in support.

REPORT GIVEN

In response to instructions issued to him by the commission at the January meeting Chief Fry presented a report on Chinese gambling, in which he suggested steps to check gambling in Chinatown. The report was ordered received and filed.

The commission was informed that the City Council, as a result of its recommendation, had instructed City Solicitor Pringle to prepare a draft by-law for the compulsory registration of bicycles, the object of the by-law being to secure a name and address for each vehicle using the roads, to facilitate police recovery of stolen bicycles, and other reforms asked by the police board.

On the suggestion of Commissioner Staneland, the board decided to withdraw its recommendation to the City Council that the arterial highway system on Fort Street be extended west to Blanshard Street.

PRESENTMENT

The Grand Jury's presentment, expressing the opinion that the city jail premises would be much improved both from the point of view of cleanliness and appearance, by having the interior whitewashed, or treated with some form of disinfectant kalsomine, was laid on the table to be dealt with when the estimates are being considered.

A request by the Vancouver Island Coach Lines, Limited, for the installation of traffic stop signs on Broughton Street, was not granted.

Applications for positions on the police force were received from F. J. W. Oak, Herbert Raines and William Anderson, and placed on file.

Probably the most effective way of abolishing war and everything would be to have another one, with all modern improvements.—Ohio State Journal.

ELEVATOR COMPANY TO BE PROSECUTED

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Feb. 1.—Court adjudication on several nonpool elevator at the head of Thompson Bros., Rowley, Alberta, against the Home Grain Company, was recommended by the Board of Grain Commissioners today. The commission's findings regarding alleged violations of the Grain Act in so far as the Campbell amendment is concerned, mean that the case will be taken to the courts. Thompson Bros., members of the Alberta Wheat Pool, claimed that the elevator company refused to issue tickets as required by the Grain Act, and forwarded grain to a non-pool elevator at the head of the Lakes when a Vancouver pool elevator was quoted as terminal.

Surprise Amendment Ruled Out of Order

CAPETOWN, Feb. 1.—(C.P. Cable via Reuters)—The surprise amendment to General Jan Smuts motion of want of confidence in the Government of Premier J. B. Hertzog moved by W. B. Madeley, Labor, in the South African House of Assembly, was ruled out today by the Speaker.

Mr. Madeley's amendment declared "that inasmuch as a vote of nonconfidence will only result in the South African Party (General Smuts' party) gaining control of the country this House favors no change."

Famous Recipe For Stopping a Severe Cough
You'll be pleasantly surprised when you make up this simple home mixture and try it for a distressing cough or chest cold. It takes but a moment to mix and costs little, but it can be depended upon to give quick and lasting relief.
Get 2½ ounces of Pinex from any druggist. Pour this into a 16 oz. bottle, then fill it with plain granulated sugar syrup or strained honey. The 16 ounces thus made costs no more than a small bottle of ready-made medicine, yet it is much more effective. It is pure, keeps perfectly and children love its pleasant taste.
This simple remedy has a remarkable three-fold action. It goes right to the seat of trouble, soothes away the inflammation, and loosens the germ-laden phlegm. At the same time, it is absorbed into the blood, where it acts directly upon the bronchial tubes and thus helps inwardly to throw off the whole trouble with surprising ease.
Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway Pine, containing the active agent of creosote, in a refined, palatable form, and known as one of the greatest healing agents for severe coughs, chest colds and bronchial troubles.
Do not accept a substitute for Pinex. It is guaranteed to give prompt relief or money refunded.

NORTHCOTT AT END OF STORY

MOTHER OF ONE OF ALLEGED SLAIN BOYS CALLED TO WITNESS STAND

Complete Denial of Tale as to Northcott's Birth Given by Sister and Nurse

RIVERSIDE, Cal., Feb. 1.—Defying court authority to make him speak, Gordon Stewart Northcott was dismissed from the witness stand today.

After attempting, and being only partly blocked by prosecution objections to lay a hereditary stigma upon himself as a "mitigating circumstance," the youthful accused slayer of three small boys, pleaded complete ignorance of all the state's "hanging evidence" against him.

Escaping from the stand himself without admitting any part of the state's murder charges, Northcott advanced his single-handed defence another erratic step by placing Mrs. Christina Collins in the witness chair and recalling Mrs. Sarah Louisa Northcott.

MRS. COLLINS TESTIFIES

Testimony of Mrs Collins, mother of nine-year-old Walter Collins, of Glendale, for whose slaying Sarah Louisa Northcott is serving a life sentence in San Quentin, and Northcott himself is indicted, but not now on trial, was received over state objections. Mrs. Collins previously had stated she did not believe Walter to have been one of Northcott's alleged Wineville "murder farm" victims. She reiterated that belief today, but was not given an opportunity to so testify on the stand.

"Was there ever a note sent to you?" Northcott demanded.

Mrs. Collins appeared surprised "Yes."

"I received a note, it was thrown at the front door. It was in very good handwriting," she paused "The note said——."

Special Prosecutor Kelly objected to the contents of the note being entered in the record and was upheld by the court.

Mrs. Collins declared she had talked to Sanford Clark, Northcott's nephew, regarding her son, and that Sanford was not able to give a description of him. Sanford has told a story of Walter's death at the ranch.

After she left the witness stand, Mrs. Collins revealed the contents of the note. "It said," she declared, "'Boy bad sick—' 'fraid— send doctor'."

In his own story Northcott asserted bones found at his Wineville ranch originated with chickens, which "died by hundreds" and were buried there and an unnamed malady suffered by himself which caused frequent nosebleed.

At about the time Walter Collins was missed, Northcott declared he was in San Diego.

SISTER DENIES TALE

MISSION CITY, Feb. 1.—Mrs. Winnifred Clark, employed as a housekeeper here, on being told that Mrs. Louisa Northcott had testified on the stand that Gordon Stewart Northcott was the son of Mrs. Winnifred Clark, denied absolutely that she was the mother of Gordon. She says that the latter was born to Mrs. Louisa Northcott at Bladworth, Sask., on November 5, 1906, when Mrs. Clark was eighteen years old. She was living with her parents at the time, and her mother was attended at his birth by Dr. J. Fyfe, well known in Regina, and by Mrs. A. N. Rosenquist, nurse, of Bladworth. Mrs. Clark does not know if Gordon's birth was registered, but if so, it will be on file at Regina. Mrs. Clark says that young Northcott's father is Cyrus Northcott, and that Gordon S. Northcott is her brother

NURSE CONFIRMS DENIAL

REGINA, Feb 1.—Mrs. A. N Rosenquist, who is at present residing in Bladworth, when interviewed over long-distance telephone this afternoon, stated that she distinctly remembers attending the birth of Gordon Northcott. She declared that the mother of the baby was a woman of between thirty and thirty-six years of age and not a girl of eighteen years.

As far as she can remember, Dr. J. Fyfe was not in attendance in the case, but she could not remember the name of the attending physician.

A search of the vital statistics at Regina shows no record of the birth of Gordon Stewart Northcott.

CONDITIONS IN ITALY

Greater activity is the marked feature of recent business conditions in Italy, writes A. B. Muddiman, Canadian Trade Commissioner in Milan, in the forthcoming issue of The Commercial Intelligence Journal. The Government in the coming year is to pursue an energetic policy with the object of intensifying agricultural activity, some cities being granted subsidies for the reclamation and improvement of land. The wheat crop yield (6,123,500 tons) is about 16.7 per cent more than last year, notwithstanding the bad weather conditions that prevailed and the smaller area planted. The textile industry has shown great activity both in cottons and wool. The automobile industry, which at the commencement of the year was facing difficulties in export markets and also owing to lesser local absorption, has shown a fair improvement. Before the war Canada used to import chiefly food products, especially pasta; now the chief importation is textiles. The movement in Italy in favor of electrifying power is becoming more marked. There is a big increase in the import of pulp for the paper trade. In the chemical industry there has been a depression in the manufacture of inorganic acids and fertilisers, particularly phosphates. Owing to the activity in the shoe trade, the Italian leather industry has shown some improvement.

Two Irishmen were crossing the ocean. On the way Pat died and preparations were made for burial at sea. Instead of lead weights which are commonly used, chunks of coal were substituted. When the last rites were performed, Mike looked long and earnestly at his friend and then exclaimed "Well, Pat, I always thought you were going there, but I'm hanged if I thought they'd make you bring your own coal."

in Victoria he wanted as many men as the commission could give him.

Commissioner Walter E. Staneland's motion that the staff of the department be increased by three men was seconded by Commissioner William White and carried unanimously.

THE VACANCY

There is at the present time one vacancy that has yet to be filled, that being the post formerly occupied by the late Motorcycle Constable Albert E Wells, who was killed in a motor accident nearly a year ago. With the appointment of a man to fill this vacancy, and the addition of the three new constables, the personnel of the staff will thus be increased by four men.

Chief Fry recommended that a new Ford touring car be purchased, to be used for general work and pay car, and the purchase of a new patrol wagon, "which was badly required to replace the one in use at the present time."

Mayor Anscomb said he thought it was time the chief of police of Victoria had an automobile, for it was antiquated to see the chief walking around on duty.

"I certainly agree with you. We should see that the chief has a car," commented Commissioner White.

The chief said the department had an Oakland sedan automobile for the plain clothes men, and emphasized the importance of having an open car for general police work

"We should try and make your position more dignified," His Worship remarked.

"I'll use the Oakland car," the chief stated.

Commissioner Staneland's motion that a new Ford touring car for general work and pay car be purchased was approved.

POLICE PATROL

In regard to the suggestion that a new police patrol wagon be bought, the commissioners were informed that the present patrol wagon was six years old, but they considered that the wagon was not obsolete. It was decided to leave the matter over until a report was obtained from Plimley's regarding its condition.

The chief's recommendation that one old motorcycle be replaced and three new motorcycles be purchased, so that each motorcycle constable could ride his own machine, was left over for consideration until the commission deals with the 1929 estimates.

The commissioners discussed the chief's proposal that Mr. C L. Harrison, city prosecutor, be given $25 per month to instruct the officers and constables, either by lecture or by letter, in criminal cases, and decided to find out whether Mr. Harrison would be willing to furnish such instruction and what remuneration he would want in connection therewith

BIG AUDIENCE SEES NEW CAR

Details of Improved Chevrolet Explained by Demonstrator at Begg Motor Showrooms

A demonstration of the new Chevrolet car was given at the showrooms of the Begg Motor Company by Mr. C H Scott, factory technical representative, last evening, the showroom being thronged with people who listened with great interest to the description of the chassis and motor, the car's design, and all details in connection with it.

Mr. D. Fraser, factory sales representative from Vancouver, presented a motion picture record of a tour of the Chevrolet car across Canada from Atlantic to Pacific.

The local manager, Mr J. M. Wood, expressed his thanks to the demonstrators. At the conclusion of the pictures refreshments were served.

When the Saanich Board of Trade meets on Monday evening at the Institute Hall, Brentwood Bay, Mr. C. L. Harrison will give an address on the "Ocean Highway." Officers will be nominated in anticipation of the election by ballot on March 4.

Today's Play Will Decide Island Badminton Honors

Various Prizes Are to Be Distributed by Mrs. Sutherland Brown—Visiting Players Get Fair Share of Wins

Finals of the Vancouver Island badminton championships will be played today at the Bay Street Armories, commencing at 2.30 o'clock. These matches, which are bringing together some of the leading racquet wielders of British Columbia, promise to be intensely interesting. When the last shuttlecock has been driven over the net in the final game, and the various champions named, the prizes will be presented by Mrs. Sutherland Brown, wife of the D.O.C. M.D. No. 11.

Yesterday all the courts of the Garrison club, under whose auspices the tournament is being staged, were engaged for many hours as first one player and then another passed out of the running for the various titles. Some very interesting matches were played in which visiting players came in for a fair share of the wins.

In the mixed doubles Mrs. Rice and Dirom defeated Major and Mrs. Stuart, only after losing the first set 3-15. Miss Birch and Reed drove through to victory over Miss Norie and Leney by taking the first and last set. Mr and Mrs. Muir, Vancouver aces, registered a clear three-set victory over Miss Campbell and Hincks.

In the ladies' doubles, the Misses Campbell and Miller won three straight sets from Miss Birch and Miss Waldy. After dropping the first set, 6-15, Mrs. Rice and Miss Blythe rallied in the two remaining sets and succeeded in taking the honors.

Sheppard had quite an interesting session with Reed, in the men's singles, and was forced to extra points in each set.

After finishing on the short end of an 11-7 count, in the first set of her singles match with Miss Miller, Mrs. Rice finished strongly and won the two remaining sets.

The play of note in the mixed handicap doubles was the victory of Mrs. Blythe and Price over Mrs. Gibson and Holmes. Here, as in a number of the other matches, the winners lost the first set.

The play of Simpson and Mrs. Ridewood, Whitney-Griffiths and Miss Oates, and Hincks and Miss Campbell, who reached the final of the mixed handicap doubles, were the bright lights of the Garrison Club.

Results follow.

BUILDINGS CAN RISE NOISELESS

Clang of Hammers Unknown in System of Welding Joints, Says Engineer

"'Festina Lente,' which means 'make haste slowly,' should be our motto, when we remember that electric welding is a new tool, and I advise a thorough investigation of its use," said Mr Frank P. McKibben, consulting engineer of the General Electric Company, in an interesting lecture delivered to a large attendance of the Engineering Institute of Canada Victoria branch, in the Belmont House last night.

Mr McKibben, who was introduced by Mr P Philip, outlined the types of joint which have been used in steel construction. Some time ago, he said, American engineers claimed that pin-connected joints were superior to the riveted joints advocated in Europe. In the year 1890, however, they had come to be of the same opinion as the engineers of Europe. The speaker recalled seeing, in a Chicago museum, a Roman bronze bathtub, eighteen hundred years old, which had been made in three separate pieces, and riveted together, which proved the great antiquity of the practice of riveting.

Five rivets, he said, had been each assumed to take one fifth of the stress in an ordinary straight riveted joint. As a matter of fact the two outside rivets took 80 per cent of the stress, the next two 20 per cent, and the middle rivet no stress at all, a fact which he proved by demonstration on a model. When reinforced concrete came in, continued the speaker, a great many buildings collapsed, until, in the year 1900, it was discovered that a spiral reinforcement quadrupled the strength of the concrete

THE WELDED JOINT

The new type of construction, said Mr. McKibben, was the welded joint. He described in detail the system of fillet welding, illustrating his remarks with lantern slides. The triangular fillet joint was obtained by throwing an electric arc from an electrode, or piece of steel wire, the heat generated being used to bite into the two members to be joined, and also to melt the electrode to form the fillet. This method was more commonly used, explained the lecturer, than the resistance weld, or the atomic hydrogen process, in which, in joining together again, create a heat 600 degrees higher than that given by the arc itself

There were welded steel buildings in the United States, said Mr. McKibben, ranging from one to twelve stories in height. There were also fifteen to twenty bridges in the United States, and one bridge in Canada which were constructed by the same process. One of the new American cruisers hadn't a single rivet in her hull, and the largest vessel ever built in America has sixty tons of welding wire in her framework

NOISELESS WORK

The same process had been used in constructing pipe lines all over the United States, the pipes being subjected to a severe hydraulic test before leaving the factory. In the making of pipes and in the construction of framework in the shops, it was possible to use automatic welding machines which did the work at ten times the pace of hand welding. In the actual work on a building, however, the welding was done by hand, the electricity being supplied by special machines which could be moved about on small hand trolleys.

In the construction of a building of any great height, it was the practice to bolt the members together temporarily while the welding was being done. The speaker emphasized the importance of the fact that welding, being practically soundless, does away with the inferno of the riveter's hammer. "To construct a riveted building next door to a hospital or a hotel," said Mr McKibben, "is little short of a return to barbarity."

The actual work done by hand, he pointed out, was largely dependent on the efficiency of the welder, and he showed his audience samples of good work, and work in which there was a tendency to air pockets, due to such faults as working with too long an arc.

Before little Stanley went to the party with his sister Helen, the usual instructions which preceded a children's party were given by mother. However, the youngster seemed to have fallen short of expectation, for when the two returned home, Helen reported. "It was awful, mother Stanley did all the don'ts."

JAPAN'S FLOUR IMPORTS

The trade figures covering imports into Japan during the first nine months of the years 1926, 1927 and 1928, indicate that the purchases abroad of wheat flour for consumption in Japan will not be as large during the whole of 1928 as was the case in 1927, when 167,586 barrels were brought in from Canada, and the total importation for the year was 226,220 barrels. During the last month a weakness developed in the domestic flour markets, and prices moved lower. In order to counteract this and maintain prices, an agreement was reached between the two large flour-milling interests in Japan. By this agreement minimum prices are to be maintained and sales territory allocated to each company. This action seems to have had a steadying effect on the market. Export business to China and Japanese overseas territories has increased from a negligible amount in 1921 to over 851,487 barrels in 1927.

STEPHENSON TO RETURN

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 1.—William Westcott Stephenson, former secretary-treasurer and managing director of Calgary oil company, was ordered extradited to Canada today under an agreement of attorneys before the Federal Commissioner here.

Under the agreement Stephenson, who was arrested here last week on a fugitive warrant charging four counts of theft and embezzlement, will return voluntarily and surrender to the Alberta provincial police as soon as an extradition order is received from the Secretary of State.

Dressmaker Details Proclaim Chic

THE dress with the Paris feeling in its intricacy of cut and design is the one that spells charm for the wearer and those who behold her. Sometimes it is merely a slight addition of yardage; again it is exquisite workmanship which places a dress above its fellows in the style class.

Frocks of the better type, fashioned of fine fabrics and with distinctive fashion lines are these illustrated. The pipings are hand done, which is a fact greatly to be appreciated in a smart dress. And the tendency toward new independence in the draping of skirts is to be noted, whereby one side entirely disregards the ways and cut of the other.

While one side may boast three tiers, the other may have but two, or a frivolous circular left flare may be balanced on the right by more tailored pleats.

The individuality of necklines is also a striking note in the successfully chic frock.

Elongated side panels make for the grace of a dress shown, in slate blue crepe with a rather intricate hipline and a softly draped pointed scarf neck edged with a bit of Alencon lace. Small fabric buttons follow the lines of the tight sleeve almost to the elbow.

The original of the printed dress was designed by Bernard et Cie. It is copied in a charming design of brown and beige follows slender lines until the skirt flounces out in two tiers of fine pleating irregular at the hemline. Embroidered batiste supplies the lingerie touch to the neckline much used by couturiers.

Very, very complex is the use of the diagonal line in the frock of navy blue crepe showing a one-sided scarf at the neck and much fabric working on blouse and at the hipline. This is an illustration of the effectiveness of the independently flared and draped skirt.

Hand-done pipings add much to the tone of the fourth model in fine crepe gently draped about the figure in soft lines, moulding the hips from which the skirt flares gracefully. A unique neckline is achieved by the scarf theme.

St. John's Guild

The members and friends of St. John's Ladies' Guild are asked to attend a silver tea at the home of Mrs. Townsley, 636 Simcoe Street, on Monday, February 11.

GIANT ROAD-BUILDING MACHINE

Sir,—May I draw attention to a road-building machine for heavy work. It is for grading railroads, auto highways, streets, open quarry mining, leveling of areas, especially where large deposits of rock or minerals have to be disintegrated and moved quickly. It is for cutting down the bed of a canal, for deepening or straightening a river channel, such as the Mississippi, or for placer bedrock flume mining, for deepening a river in order to concentrate and save the free gold and black sands, such as exist in the river beds of California, British Columbia, Alaska and elsewhere.

This machine means saving of time in doing the work and in the cost of doing it. In getting an auto road ready for heavy traffic it should earnestly be considered, more particularly when the great advantage is known of leaving the cut-down sections of the roadbed in a firm and smooth condition for receiving the finishing roadbed materials.

When a roadbed is built with one of these machines, and finished with up-to-date road material "it will have no equal," and will be ready for the fifty and seventy-five-mile-per-hour auto machines.

A ten-ton capacity truck loaded will be able to make fifteen to twenty miles per hour with safety for the load, machine and traffic. Will a road like this help to open up and develop the resources of the country? These results cannot be obtained on many of the present-day roads without danger and destruction. They can when a double-tracked auto road is graded and completed, built as straight as possible, and with not over a five per cent grade, and lighted between the roads, and also finished with the most up-to-date materials as above stated.

It is certainly going to make a radical change in auto highway road building and travel. Why? Because these roads will insure safety to the travelers; also save the wear and tear to their machines, and will give comfort to the riders and drivers.

Then when the great saving in the upkeep of these roads is considered, by being as straight as possible, and with not over a 5 per cent grade, "there will be a wonderful saving in fifty years' time."

Then again the initial cost (as per width of road) will be much less than the cost of the present-day construction for building highways. When these roads are built and put into practical use, "then the results can and will be realized and appreciated by the general public."

To insure the patents, principles, and the manufacturing of the J. H. Thain giant road-building machine and its improvements all over the world will require large sums of money.

But this money is to be raised only "as and when" required to exploit and develop the machines, and to secure different concessions. We are now ready and willing to undertake the building of double road auto highways through different countries where the building of the same will lead to a safe, sound, commercial proposition. To do so we must secure concessions from the Government and owners of large tracts of land for the building of such highways as will be of benefit to the country, as well as profitable to the investors.

In British Columbia we are ready and willing to negotiate for as follows:

First—For the building of a double tracked auto highway through the centre of Vancouver Island, from about the most southeasterly point to about the most northwesterly point, for a distance of about 300 miles.

Second—For a double tracked auto highway, to be built from a British Columbia tidewater point in Northern British Columbia for a distance of 250 miles (more or less) into a section of the province that is now uninhabited, owing almost altogether to the lack of up-to-date transportation facilities.

Third—For the building of a double tracked auto highway to extend from a point in the State of Washington, U.S.A., through British Columbia up and into Alaska, U.S.A., for a distance of about 800 miles.

Fourth—From Calgary to Victoria, about 700 miles.

These highways are not to have over a 5 per cent grade, to be built as straight as possible, and to be lighted between the roads.

During the building of these highways employment will be given to many people, and to the new settlers an outlet for their products, etc. These roads will open up new sections and new resources. They will enhance the values of land for those now engaged in stock or fur animal raising, miners, farmers, or timber product manufactures.

They will provide the most up-to-date roads for auto transportation, and will enable the owners of autos to get through the Interior at a minimum cost to develop resources.

On the undertaking to build these highways large amounts of money will have to be raised and invested to pay for labor and materials, and the machinery to be used to obtain the results quickly and economically, for the building of the highways with up-to-date material, so as to be properly constructed and permanent auto highways.

NOOTKA EXPEDITION

Sir,—Those of your readers who make a study of the early history of our province may be interested to know that it is now possible to obtain a copy of James Strange's Journal, giving the narrative of his expedition to Nootka Sound from Bombay. Most readers are familiar with Meares' expedition from Bengal, but the Bombay venture, which set out some months earlier, has remained practically unknown. It appears that two small vessels were equipped by David Scott, a merchant of Bombay. They left in December, 1785, and after some trouble in Batavia, both ships ran aground in the Straits of Macassar, but finally dropped anchor in Nootka Sound on July 5, 1786. The book is obtainable from the Madras Government Press.

VICTORIA BOY ESCAPES

VANCOUVER, Feb. 1.—The Industrial Home, Coquitlam, reported that four boys, inmates of the institution, escaped late this afternoon. Three of them are Vancouver boys, and one is from Victoria.

A small boy stood at the busy crossroads watching the constant stream of motors passing by. Every one he gravely saluted. Presently a very ornate vehicle came to rest beside the little boy, and an old lady leaned out of the window. She beckoned to the lad.

"Do you always salute the cars as they go by here?" she asked kindly, pressing a shilling into his ready palm. "Indeed I do, ma'am," answered the boy, with a grin. "You see, me father's an undertaker."

NEW EXPERIMENT MADE IN BOYS' SETTLEMENT

Schoolboys From Britain Go to New Zealand School for Agricultural Training

LONDON, Feb. 1.—An interesting experiment in Empire settlement has just been inaugurated, a dozen boys from British schools having left for New Zealand to become pupils at Waitaki School, Oamaru.

Waitaki School is one of the best known in New Zealand, and the system of training pursued there has been the subject of praise by many visitors from England, including the Prince of Wales, the Duke of York, Lord Jellicoe, Admiral Halsey, and Mr. Amery. The headmaster, Frank Milner, C.M.G., is keenly interested in the problems of Empire settlement.

The boys will take a one or two years' course of agricultural training before engaging in farm practice. They will receive instruction in agricultural subjects, wool classing, dairy science, and plot work from experts, and several afternoons a week will be devoted to practical work on adjoining farms in the rich agricultural and pastoral district near Oamaru. The boys who proceed to New Zealand under this new scheme are eligible for assisted passages, provided they undertake to remain five years in New Zealand to engage in farming after the completion of the school training.

Mr. Milner gives the following guarantee, which means that the boys are given a wonderful opportunity to carve out a career for themselves:

On the termination of a year's course of work at the school, I accept the responsibility of placing the boy with a suitable employer for practical training in such branches of farming as commends itself to him with my approval. I also accept the responsibility of keeping in touch with the lad during this period of probation, and of obtaining for him expert advice. The boy will have the right of appeal to me in the case of any complaint arising out of his employment, and I shall do my best to rectify the same. Before the boy is placed with any farmer, such employer will be distinctly notified that the boy will keep in communication with me or my deputy, and that I shall act generally in loco parentis.

The cost of the boys' outfit is estimated at about $100, and $30 per term is regarded as a reasonable allowance for incidental expenses. Mr. Milner has arranged for the employment of the boys on farms during the vacations, should they require it, so parents are saved any anxiety on this score. If by any chance no regular employment for the vacation can be secured, free board and lodging will be provided at the school.

The scheme will add considerably to the responsibilities of the headmaster, who has suggested it only because he is interested, as he states, in the transplantation of British schoolboys as most valuable colonizing material for the Dominions.

MINES PRODUCE $271,000,000

MINING INDUSTRY OF CANADA SHOWS PHENOMENAL GROWTH IN 1928

Marked Increases Recorded in Production of Nickel and Copper During Year

OTTAWA, Feb. 1.—In few previous years has Canada's mining industry shown such phenomenal growth as in 1928, when the value of the output was officially estimated at $271,000,000, marking a gain of $23,644,000, or nearly 10 per cent, over the total of the preceding year. Marked increases were shown in the production of nickel and copper, the output of nickel being placed at 93,789,000 pounds, compared with 66,711,000 pounds in 1927, and the copper output at 191,944,000 pounds compared with 140,147,000 pounds. The increase in the combined value of the production of these two metals was $15,849,000.

The production of lead and zinc was also considerably greater, although owing to lower prices the value showed a decline. The production and value of silver was less than in 1927, while a moderate increase was shown in the production of gold.

Crude petroleum in greater volume, the value showing an increase of 35 per cent. The production of asbestos was greater, at 280,096 tons, the value showing a moderate decline. The output of cement was 10,906,000 barrels, compared with 10,066,000 barrels, the value in 1928 being placed at $16,803,000, an increase of nearly 17 per cent.

Vancouver Police Commission Ignores Mr. McGeer's Claim

VANCOUVER, Feb. 1.—Request of G. G. McGeer, K.C., for remuneration for his services in advising Chief of Police W. J. Bingham in the recent police reorganization, is a closed matter as far as the police commission is concerned, it is intimated by Mayor W. H. Malkin, police board chairman, following a committee meeting this morning.

The question is a purely personal matter between Mr. McGeer and the chief and does not concern the police commission, said the mayor. The matter was not even mentioned at this morning's meeting, he added.

CHURCH MAKES GOOD PROGRESS

St. Paul's Presbyterian Congregation Hears Reports of Year's Work

A representative gathering of St. Paul's Presbyterian Church met in the annual congregational meeting last evening. The Rev. J. S. Patterson, minister, presided. Encouraging reports were presented from all the organizations. After meeting all current obligations a substantial sum was paid off the manse loan. The report of the treasurer, presented by Mr. George McCandless, showed receipts to be $3,329. The present membership of the church stands at 166. The Sabbath school enrolment is 145, and the givings for the year amounted to $278. An interesting item in this report was the statement that twenty-one seals and diplomas were presented during the year. The Mission Band report indicated a successful year, during which five life memberships were presented. The Women's Missionary Society in its report stated that it had met the allocation for the general work of the Woman's Board. The Ladies' Aid, with a membership of thirty-four, raised during the year $381. Encouraging reports were also presented by the Christian Endeavor Society, the C.G.I.T. Group and the Young Women's Auxiliary. Presbytery's allotment for the Missionary Budget was fully met.

The following managers were elected: Messrs. William Sloan, J. M. Cooper, A. Buchanan, D. Campbell, Alex Stewart, James Mars, T. Boughey, D. Templeton and D. Burnett. Messrs. John Cotsford, D. Campbell and J. M. Cooper were named as trustees.

TO READ SHAW PLAY

Assisting in the readings from "The Doctor's Dilemma," by G. B. Shaw, at the entertainment to be given on Friday, February 8, are F. Farrington, H. Hollins, W. H. Stokes, A. Long, J. Cheetham, G. B. Kitto, Mrs. Roseboom, Miss E. Bass, O. J. Boulton. Miss G. Shrapnel will provide the musical numbers. The readings will be given under the auspices of the Anti-Vivisection Society at Unity Hall (over Gordon's), Yates Street, and there is no charge for admission.

A woman's clothes are her sentiments expressed in fabrics, says one of our leading novelists, and, as you so often hear, there is very little sentiment these days.

Fashion Fancies

By Marie Belmont

Gone for ever are the days of the loud, splashy print. In its place has come the print of modest pretensions—little conventional designs on a dark background. This should be welcome news for the lady who watches her weight.

Here is a charming frock that employs the smart print to advantage. The background is of dark green, while the print is a tiny floral motif in Nile green and yellow with a touch of red. The piping at the neck and edge of the cape and sleeve is canary yellow.

Plans Completed for Printers' Banquet

Details have been completed for the third annual banquet of the W.A. to the local Typographical Union. Invitations have been extended to Seattle, Tacoma and Vancouver auxiliaries, as well as to all members of allied printing trades with their families and friends.

The event is to be held in Amphion Hall, Yates Street, on Saturday, February 9, the banquet to commence punctually at 5 p.m. to enable men who work on the night staff to attend. Dancing will be from 8:30 to 11:30 p.m.

The programme has been arranged under the convenership of Mrs. J. A. Hibberson, who promises some excellent talent.

A progressive five hundred party will also be a feature, for which script prizes will be given. Tickets may be obtained from Mr. Burgess, secretary of the Typographical Union, or from members of the auxiliary. Banquet tickets must be purchased by February 7.

Somenos Social News

PLAY BY GIRLS' FELLOWSHIP CLUB A GREAT SUCCESS

The Girls' Fellowship Club of St. Mark's Church, Cloverdale, presented a play entitled "A Poor Married Man," in St. Mark's Hall, Boleskine Road, last night. In spite of the inclement weather quite a number attended and greatly appreciated the acting of the different characters in the play to create "sixty smiles a minute" which it is supposed to produce. It is to be put on the stage again tonight, and it is hoped a large number will attend and reward to some extent the efforts put forth by the members of the club and those assisting. The songs by the girls were greatly appreciated, and St. Mark's orchestra supplied the music. The following is the cast:

Professor John S. Wise, a poor married man, Mr. G. T. Hughes; Dr. Matthew Graham, a country physician, Mr. W. L. Llewellyn; Billy Blake, popular college boy, Mr. Donald Fisher; Jupiter Jackson, a black servant, Mr. P. C. Lashmar; Mrs. Iona Ford, some mother-in-law, Mrs. O. M. Prentice; Zoie, her charming daughter, Mrs. O. L. Jull; June Graham, a little freshman, Miss O. Butts; Rosalind Wilson, a college reporter, Miss A. Powell.

Ottawa Will Not Grant Request of Herring Packers

VANCOUVER, Feb. 1.—Extension of the herring season on the West Coast of Vancouver Island, as requested by the herring packers' section of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, will not be granted by the Dominion Fisheries Department, according to advice received here.

Department officials contend that conditions do not warrant an extension beyond the scheduled closure on February 5. In their application for two additional weeks of fishing, the packers stated they had suffered losses owing to the small run of herring this season.

King Habibulla Fails in Effort To Collect Army

MOSCOW, Feb. 1.—A dispatch from Kabul, Afghanistan, today, said that the village of Sudha (probably Butkhak), eleven miles from the capital, had been occupied by a war party of the Jalalabad tribesmen. The troops of the self-proclaimed King Habibulla were said to be demoralized and the mobilization which he proclaimed had failed. He was reported to have transferred valuables and arms from Kabul to a safer section of the country.

The Afghan ambassador, Ghoullam Nabi Khan, today advised Soviet Government in behalf of King Amanulla that he had resumed the supreme government with temporary residence at Kandahar.

Canadian Club Women Plan Tea

At the Women's Canadian Club meeting on Tuesday afternoon at the Empress Hotel at 2:45, Hon. M. A. Macdonald, of the British Columbia Court of Appeal, will give an address on "Public Opinion." Judge Macdonald is an eloquent and forceful speaker, and members who heard his previous address on "Pacific Relations" will feel assured of an interesting afternoon. Mrs. W. H. Wilson, gold medalist soprano, will be the soloist.

The club will hold its annual bridge tea on Tuesday, February 12, at the Amphion Hall, commencing at 2:45. Mrs. Alfred Carmichael and Mrs. R. R. Taylor are acting as conveners, and tables may be reserved through them.

INDIA LAND OF MANY PROBLEMS

Mr. Lowell Thomas, Famous Author, Explorer and Lecturer, Addresses Big Audience

"All that India needs is energy. And that is what your people are trying to supply. You have given her the third largest railway system on earth; increased her transportation facilities so much that the dread of famine is vastly minimized; and provided her with the largest irrigation system in existence. If it were not for Tommy Atkins on the Indian frontier the wild tribes of the north would still swoop down, as of yore, and loot the country. And the population of India has increased by one hundred million since British rule." Lowell Thomas, famous author and explorer, author of "With Lawrence in Arabia" and other well-known works, told the audience which crowded First Baptist Church last evening.

Introduced by Very Rev. Dean Quainton, chairman of the local committee of the National Council of Education, under whose auspices the lecture was given, Mr. Lowell Thomas, by request, supplemented his advertised subject, "Through Romantic India Into Forbidden Afghanistan," by a tabloid version of his previous lecture here on "With Lawrence in Arabia."

A magnificent set of lantern slides furnished vivid illustrative material of both themes. Those of India began at Cape Comorin, where the lecturer's adventurous trip of five years ago began, and there were shown in rapid succession and with interesting comment pictures of Madura temples (gopurams), of Goa (the old Portuguese city, noted for its remarkable prevalence of European dress), of Bombay, of Bikanir, of state processions of the Maharajah of Gwalior, of Bombay, Rajputana, Oudhipur, Baluchistan, and Quetta and Pashawar, the two chief stations south of the Khyber Pass, through which the caravans travel.

AFGHANISTAN PICTURED

More interesting because more unusual, being the first films ever made there, were the pictures of Afghanistan. Afterwards the audience was taken for a short journey through Kashmir, thence to Satehpur-Sikri, Agra (where the Taj Mahal was the special object of interest), Benares (the holy city of the Hindus), Darjeeling (with views of the great Himalayan giants, Everest and Kinchinjunga, in the distance), and, finally, Calcutta and Puri.

The linking in the address of Arabia and Afghanistan was made via Lawrence, the uncrowned king of the desert tribes," who, the lecturer commented, was rumored by some to be the leader of the Afghan-India frontier troubles which perplex those in authority in India so much. "But," said the speaker, "these rumors emanate from Moscow."

Speaking rapidly, the lecturer touched briefly on some of the profounder problems of India, political, religious, social and sanitary, while, at the same time, showing some of the rare humor and the more occasional encouraging signs of progress which are being made in this land of a million gods and three hundred million people. Frequently he paid direct or indirect tribute to the effect of British rule over a people disunited among themselves by their bitter caste cleavages. The Hindus alone, he stated in this connection, were split up into more than two thousand castes, while down beneath the lowest of these came the vast submerged outcast population, numbering some fifty-three millions. The pitiable plight of these poor wretches, who are forbidden the use of the public roads, forbidden to draw water from a public well, and placed under the most stringent curses and punishments for such offences as allowing their shadow, even, to fall upon that of a holier man, was pictured.

IN PITIFUL PLIGHT

"The only hope the outcasts of India have is to change their religion to Mohammedanism or Christianity," said the lecturer. Repeatedly he indicated the painfully conservative clinging of India to its old rituals and beliefs and superstitions, its pilgrimages and the fastings and tortures undergone by pilgrims in the hope of winning merit in the eyes of their gods. Another great problem is furnished in the professional criminal tribes of India, no less than fourteen million of whom are born annually. Curiously, this class, which makes crime a religious duty, is the only people in India which exalts woman, their reason being that women make far finer criminals than men.

In connection with the pictures of the frontier country of Baluchistan, Mr. Thomas showed some of the wild tribes, "some little better than human wolves," from which Tommy Atkins is saving India. But savage, treacherous and warlike as they are, they called a truce on the day when the Prince of Wales visited there, and came down from their hill fortresses, arm-in-arm, to honor His Royal Highness.

The lecture closed in a tumultuous demonstration for the lecturer, the dean adding a brief word of cordial appreciation.

NORTHERN CARIBOU CHANGING HABITS

Are Increasing Rather Than Decreasing in Numbers, Count Tolstoi Believes

WINNIPEG, Feb. 1.—Fires and the slow creeping in of civilization are responsible for the changes in the habits of the immense herds of caribou that roam the Barren Lands, according to Count Ilia Tolstoi, grandson of the great philanthropist and writer, who reached Winnipeg over the Canadian National Railways after nearly five months in the wilderness of the Northwest Territories. Count Tolstoi was in charge of the expedition sponsored by the American Museum of Natural History to study the migration of the caribou. He was accompanied by Horace Ashton and W. J. Casel, photographer. When Count Tolstoi and Mr. Casel reached Winnipeg from The Pas, with them was George Yandle, Arctic trapper. He had not seen civilization for fifteen years and his first reaction to it was a pair of fancy spats with zippers.

HERDS NOT DECREASING

"The caribou of the Barrens have made more changes in their habits in the past three years than they have done for a century," Count Tolstoi said. Some scientists and old-timers were of the opinion that the herds were decreasing but he believed that they were increasing but were moving farther away in their great sweeping circles; on this trip he saw herds numbering thousands of head but the big herd did not come within the ken of the explorers. Count Tolstoi strongly advocates the use of airplanes for the study of caribou migration.

The party left Winnipeg for the North on August 14 and went from Sturgeon Landing a thousand miles by water as far as Reindeer, Neultin and Windy Lakes; ninety-seven portages being necessary.

The return was made with dogs bought from the Eskimo. "Wonderful animals these Eskimo dogs," said Tolstoi, "I am taking five of them back with me to New York. We did 800 miles with them in about a month, and after two days' rest made the forty-nine miles from Sturgeon Landing to The Pas in seven and a half hours." There were no misadventures on the long trip into the wilds.

The most humorous incident was probably the reception of eighteen Eskimo trappers in the small tent, and a debauch of raisins and chocolate.

Count Tolstoi, who came to America to study animal husbandry at Ames, Ia., has no ambitions in literature. "I dare not with a name like mine," he says. He likes the outdoors and hopes to give his life to exploration, and particularly to the study of animals. Some day he hopes to get back into the Barrens to spend two or three years studying the fascinating caribou.

"I believe there are great possibilities in them," he says. "They are as tame as sheep and should be easily domesticated. We were able to obtain excellent motion pictures of them."

CHARTRAND GETS TERM IN PRISON

Accused Is Sentenced to Three Months in Oakalla for Stealing Articles From Hotel Room

Albert Chartrand was convicted by Magistrate George Jay in the city police court yesterday on theft charges, and was sentenced to three months' imprisonment. He was found guilty of stealing on Sunday last a watch and chain, pocketbook, gold coin and pipe, the property of Joseph Siggs, of the Westholme Hotel.

The prosecution evidence was entered at the hearing on Thursday and the accused yesterday claimed that he was drunk all day Sunday and did not remember what he had done. The accused called two witnesses to prove he was drunk on the day in question.

Edward Brian, with whom Chartrand claimed he was drinking on Sunday, denied that he had been with the accused on that day. He also said he had missed $15 from his room, but didn't know where it had gone to, and wouldn't accuse anyone of taking it.

NOT INTOXICATED

The second witness, P. J. Hayward, hotel clerk, said he had seen Chartrand on Sunday at 5 p.m., and the latter didn't appear to be intoxicated.

Magistrate Jay ruled that there had been no evidence adduced to support the accused's claim that he had been drunk. "The articles found in your possession were taken on Sunday, and on Monday, when you must have been sober, you sold the stolen watch to a Chinese," he said.

City Prosecutor Claude L. Harrison informed the court that the accused had a police record, having been sentenced to six months on August 13, 1928, for stealing from hotel rooms in New Westminster. He also was given a two-year term in California for petty larceny on December 14, 1925.

MAKING A HABIT

"You seem to have made a habit of this sort of thing," remarked the magistrate.

"It would seem so. But when I got out of Okalla last time I promised myself I would go straight and came to Victoria for peace and to keep out of trouble," said the accused.

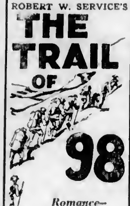

"Well, you'll have a chance to go straight now. You are receiving a very light sentence," concluded the magistrate.

At The Playhouses

CAPITOL THEATRE Although he does not appear in a single foot of film, Sidney B. Hickox is one of the unsung heroes of the thrilling air sequences seen in "Lilac Time," First National's big special, now showing at the Capitol Theatre. Colleen More is starred in the picture with Gary Cooper appearing opposite her. Hickox was chief cameraman in charge of a crew of twenty men that recorded the prectacular air duels, smashups and "dog fights" that made the film of the most talked about in history.

PLAYHOUSE THEATRE In the Tiffany production "Snowbound" a hilarious farce comedy, which is to be seen for the last time today at the Playhouse Theatre, most of the principals in the cast are seen in old-fashioned and grotesque nightshirts and gowns. To see that venerable and able actor George Fawcett perambulating around in a nightshirt and nightcap, while Betty Blythe, the screen's most beautiful actress, attired in a coarse cotton nightdress, sans her beautiful silken thingamabobs, is a treat for the movie fan who has seen these leading screen players wearing the latest in fashion.

COLISEUM THEATRE Allan Forrest, who plays opposite Betty Compson in Columbia's "The Desert Bride," now showing at the Coliseum Theatre, is a product of the early days of motion pictures. Forrest's first screen venture was in the days when feature productions were made in two reels. Among his more recent successes are roles in "Dorothy Vernon of Haddon Hall," "Long Live the King" and "The Prince of Pilsen."

COLUMBIA THEATRE "Land of the Silver Fox," now showing at the Columbia Theatre, combines the gripping action, the romance and tense melodrama for which Rinty's pictures have come to be noted. In the supporting cast are Leila Hyams, Carroll Nye, John Miljan and Thomas Santschi. Howard Smith adapted "Land of the Silver Fox" from a Charles Condon story. Ray Enright directed.

DOMINION THEATRE "The Terror," Warner Bros.' latest and greatest all-talking mystery picture, is playing to capacity houses at the Dominion Theatre, where it closes tonight. This masterpiece of the supernatural is a Harvey Gates adaptation of the celebrated Edgar Wallace play which has held the London stage for more than three years. Roy Del Ruth directed and the all-star cast includes May McAvoy, Louise Fazenda, Edward Everett Horton, Alec B. Francis, Holmes Herbert, Mathew Betz, John Miljan, Otto Hoffman, Joseph W. Girard and Frank Austin.

Realism Runs Riot In "Trail of '98" at Dominion Monday

Any "sourdough" who may laugh at the difficulties besetting the screen actor in the making of the "Trail of '98," Metro-Goldwin-Mayer's epic of the frozen north directed by Clarence Brown and booked for showing at the Dominion all next week, with sound synchronization and a surrounding sound programme, would have changed his mind had he been present during the filming of this great picture. Director Clarence Brown demanded realism from each of the fifty cast members and from each of the fifteen thousand extra players who appeared in the scenes. The muck and mud of the thawing trails of the gold country in the declining years of the nineteenth century were as nothing to the artificial lob-lollies constructed for a number of the trail scenes in the picture. These sink holes were so sticky and dangerous that a derrick had to be constructed over them and a rescue squad had to stand in readiness to pull out any actor in danger of sinking beyond his depth. Ralph Forbes, Dolores Del Rio and Harry Carey have the leading roles.

Dumbells and Belles Appear at Royal On Monday Next

George Jean Nathan in a recent issue of The Mercury says that the best kind of revue is simply a dramatization of destructive criticism embellished with some constructive samples of femininity and good tunes. This statement was made after Captain Plunkett had added a chorus of young and charming Canadian girls to the personnel of The Dumbells, which goes to show that the producer and critic are looking eye and eye, at least in this instance. After demonstrating to all and sundry for a period of nine solid years, that a company composed entirely of men can win and hold the approval of the amusement seekers of a whole continent, Captain Plunkett has set out to eclipse that record with an organization more truly representative of this Dominion, where the sexes are more equally divided than in most countries. While the girls from a graceful background for the clever sketches and tuneful melodies, they are not the hub around which the colorful wheel revolves. The "old guard" still provide the major portion of the splendid entertainment for which they have become justly famous. The Dumbells are billed to play the Royal Victoria Theatre for the first three days of next week.

Salient Points of the Bidding

Bid Over An Informatory Double

North, despite the intervening double, denies Spades by bidding his seven-card Diamond suit. East, void of Diamonds and holding six Hearts, responds to the double with a bid of two Hearts.

South supporting Diamonds and West supporting Hearts, the bidding is carried up to five Diamonds and the hand is played at that contract.

Salient Points of the Play

Unblocking to Provide for Necessary Finesse.

Trick 9 West forces Dummy with a Heart to avoid an undesirable lead of either Spades or Clubs. Declarer trumps with the King in Dummy to unblock the trump suit for two finesses in trumps through West, the doubling hand, and to allow him to enter his own hand twice so as to make two leads towards Dummy's Spade tenace. Subsequent play on these lines gave Declarer a Small Slam.

While West could have prevented a Small Slam by immediately leading the Ace of Clubs, such play could not be seriously considered in view of his tenace position in the suit.

$520 COLLECTED IN COURT FINES

Sixty-Five Chinese Each Assessed $8 for Being Found in a Gaming House on Fisgard St.

Fines totaling $520 were paid into the city police court yesterday by sixty-five Chinese who were arrested in a police raid at premises located in the second story of 549-551 Fisgard Street on Thursday night at 9:30 o'clock.

The Chinese pleaded guilty to charges of being found in a common gaming house. Chief of Police John Fry, who with Constables James Strong and Percy Richards, conducted the raid, told the court the circumstances. There were two lottery rooms in the premises, four fan tan tables, a number of lottery tickets marked and unmarked. No money was found, the chief stated.

Mr. William C. Moresby, K.C., counsel for the accused Chinese, asked the court to impose the minimum fine. "Seventy-five per cent of the men who were found in the house are without means, and were not taking part in any game or gambling. They are unable to pay the fines themselves, but the fines will be paid for them," he told the court.

Magistrate George Jay imposed a fine of $8 on each of the sixty-five Chinese.

The little man dashed along the platform as the train was moving out and made for the last carriage, at the window of which a woman was frantically waving her handkerchief.

He was about to grasp the handle of the door when the porter pulled him back.

"You mustn't board the train while it's moving," said the porter. "Besides, that compartment is engaged."

"Engaged!" shouted the little man, dancing about in his rage, as he watched the train disappearing. "Of course it's engaged! I engaged it myself, and that's my wife at the window, off on her honeymoon!"

How to Prevent 'Flu'

Influenza Germs First Attack the Nose and Throat

Dangerous germs which lodge to the breathing give you Grippe, Flu or Influenza. You can destroy these germs if you cleanse your nose, mouth and throat with Catarrhozone. When the healing vapor of Catarrhozone is inhaled it releases powerful antiseptics which destroy every vestige of germ life.

Protect yourself against "Flu" by using Catarrhozone; it stops a cold in a few moments, cleans the nostrils, takes soreness out of the throat. All the irritating matter in the nose and throat that smells so bad, that gives you a headache and makes you cough — Catarrhozone clears it all away.

For Influenza, Catarrh, Nose Colds, Irritable Throat, you will get prompt and effective action from Catarrhozone. Carry the Inhaler in your purse or pocket, etc., use it frequently. Complete outfit, $1.00. Smaller size 50c, at all dealers. (Advt.)

On Hunt for Melodies

THE world will soon have another symphony. Rudolf Friml, the noted composer of "Rose-Marie," "The Vagabond King" and other musical successes, is circling the globe in search of inspiration for a new work. With his folding baby-upright, he joined the Empress of Australia at Monaco and will make the world cruise on her, searching India, the Orient and other points in the mystic East, for new and haunting melodies which will later be sung and hummed and whistled the width and length of the globe.

Adventures in Arabia

By W. B. SEABROOK

CHAPTER X

The most powerful woman among the Druses today—and probably in all western Arabia—is the Sitt Nazira el Jumblatt, the famous "Veiled Lady of Mukhtara." She rules like a queen of ancient times in a wild mountain district of the Lebanon, between the Djebel and the coast. She is the present head of her branch of the Jumblatt family, who were princes of Aleppo in the sixteenth century and claim descent from Saladin.

We had heard, even so far away as Constantinople, many tales of her beauty, her power, the splendor of her palace in the mountains.

When Daoud Issedin, who was her remote cousin, told us that after our motor had traversed the next gorge and turned the corner of the cliff, we would see Mukhtara, I was prepared for disillusion. But there it towered against the sky, hundreds of yards above us, like something in a dream. As we drew nearer, we saw that the lower part was a great mass of feudal dungeon architecture covering more than acre. It was surmounted by two superstructures, which faced each other across an open courtyard. One was of the pure Arab type, with slender, twisted columns, high, trefoil-arched windows, and lacy balconies; the other was Roman Renaissance, with a curved, winding flight of marble steps, leading to a semicircular domed portico with Corinthian columns. Below it were the hundred or more stone houses of the village of Bakhlin, and, rambling behind it, were walled gardens, fountains, trees, and a domed tomb.

When we arrived, about noon, the place was buzzing with groups of Druses, Maronites, and Moslems from surrounding villages, waiting in the courtyard for a later audience. Our appearance aroused no keen interest. It was only when Daoud got out, approached one of the groups, and made his identity known, as a relative of the family, that they shouted for a servant. An old man with a scraggly beard came trotting, knelt, and kissed Daoud's hand, bowed low, touched his forehead, then led us through a dark stone corridor, up an old flight of steps, and into the more modern part of the palace.

In a sort of antechamber, large and bare, Bakhir Bey, a brother of the Sitt Nazira, was seated in a chair, being shaved by the family barber. Bakhir Bey wore European clothes and was in his shirt-sleeves. His shoes, which needed polishing, were of patent leather with yellow kid uppers and colored glass buttons; blue sleeve-elastics encircled his elbows. Close to him stood several men, all trying to talk at once. His back was turned to us, and Daoud judged it no time for introductions. We passed on to a marvelous colonnaded inner court, with many flowers in big green wooden boxes and some children's toys, including a little wagon and a velocipede. One side of the court was open and overlooked the valley. From a door on the right came hurrying a middle-aged gentleman—tall, thin, and dyspeptic, but amiable—wearing a pepper-and-salt suit and a fez. He proved to be Said Bey, first cousin of the Sitt Nazira, and welcomed us with elaborate courtesy and apologies. It seemed that the Lady was so terribly busy that they had not dared yet to inform her of our arrival.

He ushered us into an enormous parlor, of beautiful Damascan architecture, with tiled floor, georgeous rugs, and a marble fountain basin in the centre. Also there were several pieces of comfortable and expensive but hideous Victorian furniture, a big German phonograph with a green horn, a French barometer in a glass case, and on the wall a number of family portraits. Some of them were good oil-paintings by Arab artists, and one was an extraordinary life-size chromo of the Lady's late husband—made from a photograph, as I was later told, by a mail-order house in Chicago. During the next half-hour, a succession of servants came trailing in with cooling drinks made from lime-juice, orange-blossoms, and ettar of roses; gold-tipped cigarettes, stamped with the crest of the Jumblatts; sweetmeats and candies; finally, tiny cups of coffee.

Daoud, privileged as a relative of the family through a distant one, had gone out and had been rambling around the palace. He came back grinning and presently whispered to us that the Lady was receiving a delegation of important political personages, lying late in bed, like a queen, but with a heavy curtain stretched between them and herself. Later, it seems she was dressed by her maids, behind the curtain, without any interruption of the conference.

Finally, after an hour, the Veiled Lady of Mukhtara, preceded by two servants who announced her solemnly, came into the parlor. She was a large woman with regal carriage, a figure voluptuous and magnificent, though a bit heavy for the present western standards of feminine beauty. She was veiled with black so that no part of her features showed, but her soft black dress and draperies had been cut by a dressmaker who knew something of Paris fashions.

It was now our turn for hand-kissing. She sat down in a rocking-chair, and then invited us to be seated. She talked for perhaps ten minutes, in a voice contralto and musical. She was keen to know exactly who we were and she was embarrassingly direct in her questions to Daoud. When she learned that we were his close friends and that we had been with him in the Djebel, she grew more intimate and friendly. She asked Katie about the life of women in America, about feminism and votes for women, and then she inquired, point-blank, "How many children have you, madam?" And when Katie replied "None," she leaned forward, took her hand, patted it, and said: "Oh, I am so terribly sorry! I shall pray for you."

After a moment or two, she suddenly shouted in her deep contralto for one of the servants. It takes generations of aristocratic breeding to produce such an imperious yell. It isn't taught in the books of etiquette, either Oriental or American. The servant came running as fast as his legs could carry him. She whispered instructions, and ten minutes later he returned with her seven-year-old son, Fouad, a pale, delicate child with black hair and deep black eyes, in a Little Lord Fauntleroy suit of velvet. He will some day be the head of the family—"The Jumblatt," a sort of uncrowned king. It was curious to see my friend Daoud, with whom I have strolled on Fifth Avenue and lunched at the Harvard Club in New York, bend and kiss this child's hand. Daoud told me afterward that General Weygand, former French High Commissioner of Syria, had knelt before this boy. It seemed difficult to believe. Yet it turned out to be true. After the boy's father was assassinated, in 1922, General Weygand pinned on little Fouad's breast the Cross of the Legion of Honor. He had indeed knelt—I saw a snapshot of the ceremony—but I think he was merely bending down in a natural way to the level of the child's breast, rather than intending to do formal homage.

The Sitt Nazira was proud of the fact that little Fouad had a French tutor, and at her request the child recited for us a poem by Lamartine.

Daoud had told me—and he still sticks to the statement—that no man in Syria outside the circle of her immediate relatives has ever seen Sitt Nazira's face. Be that as it may, becoming animated in the course of her conversation with us, she unfastened her veil and let it partially drop, held in her left hand, so that her eyes and the top of her nose were visible. Glamour and mystery aside, it seemed to me that she was authentically beautiful. Her eyes were enormous, liquid black and wide-set beneath a noble forehead, softened by the wavy hair that partially showed beneath the upper part of the veil. Once, when, in her interest, the veil was dropped for a moment still farther, I had a glimpse of her entire face. Her nose was aquiline, finely chiseled, her mouth large, perfectly formed, with full red lips and flashing teeth. If there was any flaw, it was the heavy, dominant chin, the chin of a race of rulers; but though it detracted slightly from the feminine beauty of her face, it added to its strength.

When luncheon was announced, the Lady excused herself. She ate alone in her bedroom behind a curtain while she engaged in another conference. Daoud, Katie and I lunched with Said Bey in a high-ceilinged dining-room at a long table that would have seated thirty. There were two servants to wait on each of us, and an endless succession of dishes, both European and Arabian.

I had heard differing versions of a certain hair-raising story of how Fouad Jumblatt, husband of the Sitt Nazira, had been assassinated in "a trap baited with a human being." At luncheon, Daoud persuaded Said Bey to give me the real facts.

"Sitt Nazira is a Jumblatt by both birth and marriage," he said. "In marrying Fouad Bey, she married her sixth cousin. When the French came into Syria under the mandate, they made Fouad Bey (who was already the actual governor of the Lebanon Druses) their representative and gave him the title officially. Many Druses resented his acceptance of the French post. They wanted absolute independence in the mountains. They felt that he had sold himself and the family name to the French, so that a French tyranny could be inflicted on them through the power of the Jumblatts. Certain bands of Druse guerrillists—this was as late as 1921—began raiding, fighting, killing French troops that came into the mountains, and even shooting the Druse agents of Fouad Jumblatt. Finally they blew up a couple of bridges with dynamite.

"The guilt was traced to a certain village. Fouad Bey sent a big body of mixed troops there and, in his temper, did a crazy thing which no Druse in his right senses would ever do. He arrested the Druse women along with the men and had them all put to a common jail. Among the women was the wife of a certain famous guerrilla warrior by the name of Shekib Wahhab. When Shekib Wahhab learned that his wife had been dragged to jail with a lot of men, he swore vengeance and organized a personal feud against Fouad Jumblatt.

"For weeks Fouad never ventured out of this palace except surrounded by troops in such force that Shekib and his men could not attack. They finally got him by a ruse. Fouad had a favorite manservant who was also hated because he was a sort of jackal and spy. One night, as this servant started down the road to the village, the same road you came up, just beneath the palace walls, he was carefully shot through the bowels so that he did not die at once but lay screaming horribly. Fouad, who was no coward, rushed out, followed by some of his men. As he went over to lift up his wounded servant, he was pierced by more than fifty bullets from the rifles of the men in ambush behind rocks and trees.

"The French offered a thousand gold pounds for Shekib Wahhab's capture, but he fled that night back through the mountains and received protection from the Atrash family. The Atrashes were later offered even more money—not to deliver him up, but simply withdraw their protection. They refused. But Shekib, himself, rather than force a war on Sultan Pasha Atrash, fled south to Mecca and became a leader of King Ali's forces against the Wahabi tribes. A violent character, he presently quarreled with the King, and went away. The King sent messengers and persuaded him to come back. He returned, led a raid against the Wahabi, killed seven of them in personal combat, including Faisal Duwish, a Wahabi chief, and brought back, as a gift to King Ali, Faisal's jeweled scimitar and Faisal's head in a leather bag. Ali kept the head, but gave the sword to Shekib.

"Sitt Nazira has been wiser than her husband. She has the full confidence of the Druses, and, although she has never accepted favors from the French, they regard her with respect and seek her advice on matters of local policy."

"Nonsense! A pretty girl can make her choice of four out of every five men she meets."

"But it's the fifth she generally wants."

Old Favorites Revived on A.B.C. Network Tonight

The flight of time will be rolled backwards a generation or so this evening and old time melodies and favorite airs will be presented during the Reveria Hour over stations of the A.B.C. network starting at 8:30 o'clock Pacific Standard Time.

Melodies which bring back memories, the favorites of last century, will be revived and played during this hour. Out of a vast collection of old songs and instrumental numbers, this programme has been selected with a view in mind of bringing out only those numbers which were big hits during our grandfather's day.

Entertainers during the hour consist of a mixed vocal quartette including Agatha Turley, Irish soprano; Dorothy Lewis, contralto; Gordon Onstad, tenor and Hayden Morris, Welsh basso. They will be assisted by a thirty-piece orchestra playing the accompaniment and musical interludes.

CREAMERY REPORTS SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Salt Spring Island Company Holds Annual Meeting—Directors Appointed

SALT SPRING, Jan. 31.—The annual general meeting of the Salt Spring Island Creamery Company, Ltd., was held on Wednesday last at 2.30 p.m., in the Creamery at Ganges. Owing to the weather, very few shareholders were able to be present. The president, Mr. Geoffrey Scott, in the chair, reported another successful year, during which the average price received for butter was 44.27, the average price paid for butterfat (special) was 45.12, and No. 1 butterfat, 43.05. The usual 8 per cent was declared and half-cent a pound butterfat as a bonus to the patrons. The directorate appointed for the incoming year were: President, Mr. Geoffrey Scott; vice-president, Mr. Reg. Price; secretary, Mr. A. W. Drake; treasurer, Mr. W. M. Mouat; committee, Messrs. J. C. Lang, Henry Ruckle, H. T. Lee, Edward Walter, T. F. Speed, A. J. Smith.

Odd Fellows Install Officers for Year

NANAIMO, Feb. 1.—The local Encampment No. 4, I.O.O.F., installed officers for the ensuing year last evening. The installing officer, D.D.G.P. J. R. McKenzie was ably assisted by Grand Patriarchs James Creighton, J. R. Crellin, A. R. Lane, J. B. Nicholson, James Cairns, J. Scott. A very instructive and impressive address to the patriarchs prior to the installation ceremony was given by Mr. McKenzie. The new officers for the current term installed last night were as follows: C.P., Evan Jones; scribe, E. O. Cavalsky; treasurer, J. M. McGuckie; guide, J. R. Crellin; I.S., James Cairns; first watch, John Scott; first O. of T., J. B. Nicholson; second O. of T., James Bennett; warden, D. W. Phillips. Subsequent to the lodge session the patriarchs indulged in speech and story, and according to information at hand, the Encampment is looking forward to having a very active term.

Died at Duncan

DUNCAN, Jan. 31.—The death took place here yesterday at the King's Daughters' Hospital, after a short illness, of Mrs. Jean Christie McKenzie, aged sixty years. The deceased had been a resident of Duncan for the past five years, coming here following the death of her husband in Glasgow, Scotland, six years ago. She leaves four daughters, Mrs. John Evans and Mrs. George Evans, of Duncan; Mrs. R. L. Pickering, of Lopez Island, Washington, and Mrs. O. Mould, of Glasgow, and two sons, John McKenzie, of Duncan, and Robert McKenzie, of Glasgow.

The funeral service will be held in the Chapter Room of the Order of the Eastern Star, I.O.O.F. Hall, at 2 o'clock on Saturday afternoon, and interment will be made at the Methodist Cemetery, Somenos, Rev. W. F. Burns officiating. Funeral arrangements are in the hands of the Brockway Funeral Parlors. The following will act as pallbearers: Messrs. George Evans, John Evans, Harry Evans, Douglas Tait, Joseph Shearlaw and James Findlay.

Red Cross Society Formed by Juniors In Sayward Valley

SAYWARD, Feb. 1.—The children of the Upper Valley at Sayward organized a Junior Red Cross Society on January 11, the following officers being elected for the coming year: Jack Harris, president; Genevieve Long, vice-president; Eileen Walls, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. H. Olson, honorary member. Other members were Helga, Edward and Hannah Wright, Thomas Long, David Skogan, Vernon Skogan and Jimmie Edward.

Cumberland School Trustee Is Honored

CUMBERLAND, Feb. 1.—A very pleasing event took place on Thursday at the Cumberland Public School when teachers and school trustees met to honor Mrs. F. Banks, retiring trustee, after eleven years of service, eight of which Mrs. Banks has spent as chairman. The retiring trustee has, on several occasions, represented Cumberland at the various conventions of the school trustees of the province and has given unstintingly of her services.

Afternoon tea was served in the domestic science room, at the close of which Mrs. O. Ker MacNaughton, the present chairman of the board, expressed the appreciation of the members of the board for the unselfish service rendered by Mrs. Banks in the past. Mr. Shenstone, Mr. Apps and Miss D. Partridge thanked Mrs. Banks on behalf of the teaching staff.

Sayward Whist Drive Will Aid Solarium

SAYWARD, Feb. 1.—The Junior Red Cross Society held a whist drive and dance at the Community Hall on Saturday last. The prize winners at whist were: Ladies' first, Mrs. F. Harris; consolation, Mrs. H. O. Sacht; gentlemen, first, Mr. Ivan Hawes; consolation, Mr. Richard Dyer.

The proceeds of the evening amounted to $11 clear, part of which will be donated to the Junior Red Cross Society in aid of the crippled children at the Solarium on Vancouver Island. Refreshments were served by the Junior Red Cross members.

Will Give Addresses On Garden Subjects

LANGFORD, Feb. 1.—Under the auspices of the Metchosin and District Farmers' Institute, a meeting will be held in the Women's Institute Hall on Dunford Road on Monday evening at 8 o'clock.

It is expected that moving picture slides will be shown and refreshments will be served by the Langford Women's Institute.

Professor Straight, of the Dominion Experimental Farm at Sidney, will give an address on "Bulbs" and Mr. N. Pollock will speak on "The Credit Side of a Garden." All are invited.

Boys' Work Secretary Speaks at Nanaimo

NANAIMO, Feb. 1.—Mr. Frank Fidler, boys' work secretary of British Columbia, was in Nanaimo last evening and gave a splendid talk to some twenty-five Tuxis and Trail Ranger boys who represented Nanaimo. His talk was based upon this boys' movement. A solo was sung by Tom McGlennan. "Bus" McKenzie explained the bond selling, and Rev. Anderson and Mr. Arthur Hitchen led in prayer, the latter praying for a safe recovery of Trail Rangers Donald McKinnon and William Rickerby, both of whom are now in the hospital.

Died at Chemainus

DUNCAN, Feb. 1.—The death occurred this morning, after a short illness, of Mary Theresa Marshall, wife of Mr. J. F. Marshall, of Chemainus, at the age of seventy years. The funeral will take place on Sunday at 2 p.m., interment being made in the Chemainus Cemetery, and Rev. Father Lemmons officiating. The arrangements are in the hands of the L. C. Brockway Funeral Parlors, Duncan.

LABORATORY IS SLATED TO BE TRANSFERRED

Dominion Government May Establish Its Plant Research Department at Sidney

CONDITIONS ON NEW HOTEL WING

A communication was received by the directors of the Chamber of Commerce at their luncheon yesterday from Ottawa, which stated that, in all probability, the Dominion Plant Pathological Laboratory would be established at Sidney, where there were more facilities for the work than at the University of British Columbia.

NO ACTION TAKEN

The chamber did not feel that it should give its support to the Federal Association of Letter Carriers, in which connection it was pointed out that they were in the employ of the Government, who should look after their interests.

YULETIDE FESTIVAL

A letter was read to the meeting which came from the manager of the publicity bureau in Montreal, in which he thanked the chamber for its assistance in the Yuletide Festival, held at the Empress Hotel. The encouraging response made to the festival in Victoria, the letter continued, would most probably result in the festival being made a yearly event here.

SIGN BY-LAW

The report submitted by the retail merchants' section regarding the proposed sign by-law, which provides that every sign twelve by eighteen inches and over, which projects over the sidewalk, shall be illuminated, was adopted by the directors of the chamber. The report was adverse to the adoption of the by-law, and the general feeling of the chamber seems to be that there are too many regulations of this nature already.

HOTEL CONTRACT

Mr. George Warren, secretary of the chamber, said that he had called on the representative in charge of the new contract for the Empress Hotel, with the view of securing, as far as possible, the employment of local contractors, subcontractors, material and labor. The representative, reported Mr. Warren, had shown himself very willing to meet the Chamber of Commerce in the matter, but pointed out at the same time, that they had rung up the carpenters' union and asked for two carpenters for the following day, who failed to appear on account of the snow. Mr. Warren also brought up the question of the type of stone to be used for the work. It was contemplated that Idaho stone, and not a Canadian product would be used. Mr. Warren explained in this connection that time was the essence of the whole project, but told the meeting that he was perfectly satisfied that local men would be employed as far as possible.

Boy—Because they need men to manage them.

Classical Concert By Salon Orchestra

"Masaniello," overture by Auber will be the opening selection of the American Salon Orchestra playing an hour's concert over stations of the A.B.C. network this evening, starting at 7 o'clock Pacific Standard Time.

Auber is considered one of the most prolific opera composers of all time. His many operas, however, are not well known, "Masaniello" or "The Dumb Girl of Portici," being the best known.

Two selections by Wagner have been scheduled for this programme. They are "Fantasia" from "Die Walkure," a very dramatic selection and the famous "March" from "Tannhauser."

"So you decided to take a dip in the stock market. How did you come out?"

"I must have set a bad example to the market—it took a dip immediately afterward."

Prince of Wales To Confer With Premier Baldwin

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The first step of the Prince of Wales in an attempt to alleviate oppressing conditions in the Northern mining districts which he has just visited, is expected to be a conference looking to a remedy, with Premier Stanley Baldwin.

This interview will take place, it is believed, as soon as the Prince returns to London, although it is not yet known whether he will defer his return until after his tour of inspection of the South Wales district.

It is assumed he probably will issue a public appeal to increase the "pound for pound" donations, emphasizing in such an appeal the impressions he has received in his tour.

Professor—What did you learn about the salivary glands?

Burgess Bedtime Stories

The Nibblers Have a Shock

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Nibbler, the House Mouse, together with Mrs. Nibbler and several of their children, had moved from Farmer Brown's house out to Farmer Brown's barn early in the Winter. There had been a reason. Indeed, there had been several reasons. One of these reasons was Black Pussy the Cat. The other reasons were traps. At first there had been only one or two traps and it was easy to keep away from them. But more and more traps had been set and every other day one of the children had been caught. So finally the Nibblers moved out to the barn. There there was little to worry about except Black Pussy, and it wasn't difficult to keep out of her way. To be sure, there was Robber the Rat, who wouldn't hesitate to dine on a family of young mice. But the barn was so big that it was easy to keep out of the way of Robber.

So ever since early Winter the Nibblers had been living very happy and comfortably. They did miss the cake and bread and bits of cheese and other goodies such as they used to find in Mother Brown's pantry. But, as little Mrs. Nibbler said, "We have plenty of good, plain food, so why should we worry. After all, it is the plain things of life that are the best. Simple, plain food makes healthy mice."

So, though the children sometimes turned up their noses at clover and grass seed, oats, wheat, corn and meal, there was very little complaining and the Nibbler family was thriving.

So long had it been since there was any serious danger that all of the Nibblers had grown careless. Even Nibbler himself had grown careless. Black Pussy didn't spend much time in the barn, and when she was there it was an easy matter to keep an eye on her. It was only the most careless of mice who ever was surprised and caught by Black Pussy. By this time the Nibblers numbered several families. Mr. and Mrs. Nibbler believe in having plenty of children and having them often. No sooner is one set of children out of the way than another set is born. So Nibbler and Mrs. Nibbler had become great-great-grandparents since they came out to the barn. You see, their children and their children's children had families of their own. Then, just at dusk, a dreadful thing happened. Nibbler had just met his eldest son. The latter was on his way over to the grain bin. Nibbler had just come from there. Nibbler turned and watched his oldest son run out on the barn floor. He had just reached the grain bin when he was seized and carried away. Just who had seized him Nibbler didn't know. No, sir, Nibbler didn't know.

Nibbler had just met his eldest son

"It wasn't Black Pussy," explained Nibbler to Mrs. Nibbler, when he got home with the sad news. No, Sir, it wasn't Black Pussy. I couldn't see just who it was, seemed to come out of the air. I was too surprised and shocked to really use my eyes."

In no time at all the dreadful news went all through the big barn and there was a great squeaking as the Nibbler families talked it over. That very same night another mouse was caught. As before, no one seemed to know just how it was done, or who it was that did it. But it was clear that there was an enemy in the barn, and all the Nibblers became very much excited and nervous and frightened.

The next day three mice were mysteriously caught. This was getting serious. Nibbler called together all the other grown members of his family and they talked it all over. But as yet no one had discovered the strange enemy. Some thought it might be Shadow the Weasel. Some thought it might be Billy Mink. None guessed who it really was.

Children's Colds

are doubly dangerous after Flu

Physicians advise that the chief danger in this epidemic is AFTER influenza. Then, more than ever, colds attacking a child's weakened system may lead to bronchitis, pneumonia, sinus trouble, abscess of the ear, mastoiditis, or even the dread meningitis.

Check Them Promptly Without "Dosing"

A peculiarity of influenza is that its toxins leave the digestive system upset. Too much "dosing" further disturbs the digestion and lessens the appetite, just when the child needs nourishment more than ever. Internal medication should therefore be avoided, except on the advice of a physician.

As Vicks VapoRub is applied externally, it can be used freely at the first sign of a cold with no fear of upsetting even the most delicate stomach. Just rub it on the throat and chest at bedtime.

Vicks Acts 2 Ways at Once:

(1) Its medicated vapors, released by the body-warmth, are inhaled direct to the inflamed air-passages, loosening the phlegm and easing the difficult breathing.

(2) At the same time, Vicks acts through the skin like a poultice, "drawing out" tightness and soreness, and thus helping the vapors to break up the congestion.

Of course, Vicks 2-way action is just as effective for adults' cold-troubles as it is for those of children.

Max Schmeling Registers Technical K.O. Over Johnny Risko in Ninth Round

Referee Halts Bout When Cleveland Boy Drops Under Attack

Schmeling, the Ghost of Jack Dempsey, Floors Opponent Four Times in Fatal Ninth Round—Risko Took Fierce Beating

By EDWARD J. NEIL
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

MADISON SQUARE GARDEN, NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—The ghost of the Jack Dempsey of Toledo days, bobbing and weaving, pouring deadly leather from both fists as of old, stalked through the ring of a crowded Garden tonight in the person of Max Schmeling, black-visaged German youth.

It was the same old panther crouch, the mad, fighting fury of the old champion, the whistle of flying gloves, smash of leather on flesh—and the thud of a falling body. In the end Johnny Risko, the rubber man of Cleveland, suffered the first real knockout of his career that has taken in battles with the best men of his time.

Risko passed out of the heavyweight picture for the time being at least, in the ninth round of one of the best battles that the Garden ever witnessed at any weight. Four times, before Referee Arthur Donovan stopped the fight and half carried the Cleveland baker boy to his corner after one minute and five seconds of the ninth, Risko was on the floor for counts of nine.

In the very first round, Schmeling ripped a right to Johnny's head and for the first time in all his Garden bouts Risko hit the floor. He bounced to his feet without a count, a half smile on his face, and whaled back at the head and body of the scowling invader. Johnny whaled with success until the seventh session when Max floored him again with a sizzling right.

FACE SMEARED WITH BLOOD

By this time Risko had forgotten how to smile. His face was smeared with blood, his eyes glassy, legs webbly. He barely lasted the round and was down again in the ninth under the fury of Schmeling's attack before Donovan called a halt.

While the defeat will go down in Risko's record as a technical knockout, Johnny was unconscious on his feet at the end. He reeled and wavered under the storm of short smashes Schmeling poured into his head and body. His legs folded, then pulled straight again. His weak attempts to punch waved at no one in particular and he hadn't the faintest idea where to find Schmeling in that ring. Johnny's eyes were half open but he could see nothing but great lights, dazzling the brain.

Only once before in a career that has brought battles with Jack Sharkey, Tom Heeney, Paulino Uzcudun and all of the other contemporary greats, was Risko ever defeated by a technical knockout. Chuck Wiggins cut Johnny's eye so badly once that the fight had to be stopped. He has never had the ten count sounded above him.

IMAGE OF DEMPSEY

But tonight, the rubber man met the image of Dempsey at his best, fighting in cruel, ruthless style that awed the crowd of close to 20,000 jammed in the big arena. From the time of the first knockdown, Risko's stay was measured only by his ability to take punishment. His cagy fighting, brain and the weight of experience he held constantly over the youngster.

The scowling German rocked Risko to his heels in every round, but not until the eighth did Johnny collapse entirely from the punishment. The German battered Risko in the first two rounds, but Johnny came in the third to solve Schmeling's style by holding and clubbing at close quarters with lefts to the head.

It seemed for a round or two that Johnny would pull this uphill battle from the fire, just as he has done others many times before. He boomed into Schmeling with left hooks to the body that puzzled the German but failed to hurt him. Johnny belted the invader lustily with overhand rights to the head in the fifth and sixth sessions and added them to his total. He won the third and the fourth was even, in the opinion of ringside critics.

But Schmeling came with a rush in the seventh, floored him for a nine count and turned Johnny's pugnacious glare into a glassy stare. For the first time the rubber man really had rubber legs. He fought like a stricken panther, but instinctively. Faulty at aim and weak in his efforts to land.

Throughout the last two sessions Risko took a beating so fierce that the roaring crowd, usually crying for blood and mayhem, was partially stilled as Risko fought bravely, but instinctively, against annihilation.

Risko scaled 190 pounds; Schmeling 185.

Caddy Thought Babe Ruth Was Candy King

By AL DEMAREE
(Former Pitcher New York Giants)

Babe Ruth is in his element when kidding and bantering with the colored caddies on the Florida golf links.

"Do you know who you're caddying for today, eightball?" he said to his Ethiopian bag carrier one day.

"Yah say," answered the grinning caddie. "You're da man dat makes dem candy bars. I eats one of dem every mornin'."

The Bambino always threatens to throw his caddie in after his ball if he drives it in a water hole. A new caddie always pulls wholeheartedly for Ruth to clear the creeks and ponds as he does not want the doubtful enjoyment of an impromptu ducking.

"I allus likes to caddie for you, Mista Ruth," one caddie remarked, "because when you slices or hooks, you hits de ball so far dat we don't have to waste any time lookin' for it."

COLONIST FIVE SET NEW RECORD

City League Trundlers Topple 2,763 Pins for New Team Aggregate Score—Win Three Games

After an almost monotonous session of record breaking on the part of the bowlers in the Fivepin Bowling League, the Colonist pin spillers, in the City League, established what is believed to be an alley record on the Arcade Alleys last night when their total pins for three games was 2,763. To add to this spectacular feat the Newsies took three straight games from the Jokers, with every member of the team passing the 500 mark. The losers, too, bowled in good form and with the exception of one man, they passed the 500 mark. In the three games seven scores over 200 were rolled, this is also an uncommon feat. A. Hawkins, of the Colonist, led the pin spillers in the aggregate scoring division with 581 pins, while Johnny Quinn, of the Jokers, was high individual man with 209.

Thoroughbreds Burn to Death In Stable Fire

WICHITA, Kas., Feb. 1.—Thirty-three thoroughbred horses were burned to death here early today when fire destroyed the stables of the Wichita Saddle and Bridle Club. Included in the list of prize horses was Lila Lee, a $20,000 filly.

While no estimate has been made of the loss, club officials expected it would be several hundred thousand dollars. The origin of the fire is unknown. Stable boys made desperate efforts to save some of the horses by cutting their halters, but the animals refused to leave the burning building.

Referee's Decision In Scott-Sandwina Bout Is Criticized

LONDON, Feb. 1.—Award of the decision on a foul to Phil Scott, of England, last night in his bout with Ted Sandwina, Germany, aroused considerable dissatisfaction today.

The decision carried with it the heavyweight championship of Europe. Several of the ringside reporters called the award a fiasco, and some regret is expressed that the referee, Norman Clarke, did not allow the bout to go on, since, it is said, Scott's superiority was manifest and he would have won anyway.

The referee is quoted as saying Sandwina struck Scott in the groin, but Sandwina emphatically denies he fouled Scott in any manner. Scott, despite the pain of the alleged blow, rose to his feet after it and struck and apparently wanted to continue the fight.

There was much booing of the decision, but part of this may have been due to resentment of the bout lasting only five rounds of the fifteen rounds scheduled.

MIAMI BEACH TO SEE BIG FIGHT

Jack Dempsey Says Stories That Bout Will Be Moved Are Without Foundation

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Feb. 1.—Jack Dempsey insists that the Sharkey-Stribling fight will go on as scheduled.

Apparently somewhat perturbed by rumors he has heard that the fight will be called off, or moved to some other locality, the promoter late yesterday issued a formal statement emphasizing that these stories "are without foundation."

Dempsey called attention to activity of 200 workmen erecting an arena, and announced that the ticket sale already had passed the $125,000 mark.

Dempsey spent most of yesterday superintending the opening of a Miami ticket office for the sale of seats. He also located approximately $50,000 worth of ticket reservations.

Plans were completed today for the reception tonight of Jack Sharkey, who will arrive to begin training for the fight.

Stribling yesterday went through his initial paces. He skipped ropes for more than an hour and gave the sunshine ample opportunity to blister arms and shoulders. "I want to get tanned so that any possible sunburn will not interfere with steady work." The Macon, Ga., boy plans to do his roadwork at night.

SEVEN CLUBS HAVE ENTERED JACKSON CUP SOCCER SERIES

Seven clubs have entered the Jackson Cup soccer series, according to the information received from L. Oray, secretary of the Lower Island Football Association, last night. In addition to the six Saturday League teams, the Navy, of the Wednesday Football League, have decided to go in quest of the trophy at present held by Esquimalt. The entry of the midweek eleven will add new interest to the series.

The sailors are full strength and should make a good showing against some of the Saturday League elevens.

MINNEAPOLIS WINS

MINNEAPOLIS, Feb. 1.—Minneapolis defeated St. Louis in an American Hockey Association game here last night by a score of 1-0.

May Fill Gene's Shoes

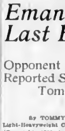

MAX Schmeling, black visaged German heavyweight, who registered a technical K.O. over Johnny Risko at Madison Square Garden, last night. The image of Jack Dempsey, former world's champion, the Teutonic youth tore into his heavier opponent from the start of the bout. He had floored Risko for the count of nine four times in the ninth round when the referee halted the massacre.

Emanuel Improved Since Last Bout With Loughran

Opponent for Light-Heavyweight Champion Reported Stronger and Better Boxer—Meets Tommy Loughran Tuesday Night

By TOMMY LOUGHRAN
Light-Heavyweight Champion of the World
(Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 1.—I am glad to continue my drive toward the heavyweight championship on California soil. I've been out here in Los Angeles before, and enjoyed it enormously. Apparently my work met with approval, for they wanted me back again.

TOMMY LOUGHRAN

Tuesday night I am to box ten rounds with Armand Emanuel. We fought in Madison Square Garden, New York, last Spring, and I took the decision. Since then Armand has put on a lot of weight, and they tell me he is much stronger, and has polished up his undoubted boxing ability.

California is a great spot for a fighter. You get real atmosphere out here. The folks in this section have a great love for the game and have raised a lot of fine fighting men from the days of Jim Corbett, and even before that. It has been a long time since they staged a heavyweight championship bout, but even that is a possibility.

When the Emanuel fight is over I'll head for Chicago to open the New Stadium there. Just who I am to take on is doubtful, but Paddy Harmon has made offers to a number of crack men, including Jimmy Slattery and Max Schmeling, the German heavyweight champion who has just knocked out Johnny Risko in nine rounds at Madison Square Garden. However, the question of my opponent doubtless will be settled soon.

CHRISTNER POPULAR

K. O. Christner would probably draw well. His great showing with Jack Sharkey made him tremendously popular in New York, just as much as he was in his own section of the country. Apparently he scared off some of the boys, for when Paulino and Tom Heeney got offers of bouts with him they didn't come rushing in. Christner can hit. He is game and strong and continually aggressive. Personally, I would rather box that sort than any other—even if there is the hint of disaster in his right hand.

Christner doesn't hold. He's in there swinging, and the swinging kind always give you a target to shoot at.

I understand that the promoters really are angling for Jimmy Slattery as my opponent for the opening date in the new palace. Jimmy is one of the smartest and fastest boxers in the game, and even though I hold one decision over him he is welcome to another shot if Paddy Harmon figures him to be a big enough drawing card. My inclination at the moment is to fight the heavyweights, but Slattery is all right, too.

Now that Phil Scott has won back the heavyweight championship of Europe by beating Ted Sandwina, he will probably return to America for another trial. Scott had his ups and downs when he was here before, but his one round knockout at the hands of Knute Hansen was not really an indication of his ability. Later he showed himself a good game man, though not one who could stand up under punishment.

My campaigning will move toward the East after my fight Tuesday night. There is nothing I want so much as to keep busy.

LESSONS IN HOCKEY

What does a good centre man require?

Answered by
LOU E. MARSH
Oldest hockey referee in Canada with 27 years of service. Senior member of the staff of the National Hockey League

A good centre man requires coolness under fire, speed, a good sweep and poke check, ability to give and take a pass and the knack of shooting from close quarters. He must have the courage to step into the defence and the stamina to stand the body-checking he is certain to get as he bores in for a close shot. A centre man who cannot bore in for his own shot or take rebounds from shots by the wing players is only 50 per cent effective. He must be a real ice acrobat.

Lalonde Resigns

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Feb. 1.—"Newsy" Lalonde, coach of the Niagara Falls club in the Canadian Professional Hockey League, resigned today. While ill health was the reason given, it was stated in hockey circles that Lalonde was discouraged by recent changes in the personnel of the team.

James Island to Meet Fourex in Important Game

FOUREX and James Island men's senior "C" cage teams will clash at the Centennial gymnasium Monday night at 8 o'clock in an important fixture. At present the powdermen are leading this division by a one-game advantage over the breadmen and a win on Monday will give them the championship. On the other hand, should Bob Whyte and his band of Fourex leather handlers come through on the long end of the score a play-off will be necessary. This is the only game carded.

Paavo Nurmi, Percy Williams, Jimmy Ball and Vic Pickard Will Compete Against U.S. Stars

VANCOUVER FLASH HOLDS INTEREST

BOSTON, Feb. 1.—Some of the finest competition of the current indoor track season is expected when the Boston Amateur Association stages its fortieth annual meet tomorrow night in the Boston Arena.

The field, the greatest ever assembled by that noted organization, is international in character, with Paavo Nurmi, Percy Williams, Jimmy Ball and Vic Pickard competing against the cream of America's track stars.

Much of the interest centres about Williams, the Vancouver marvel, who won both of the Olympic sprints at Amsterdam last Summer. Williams has entered the Briggs forty-yard dash, a distance he has never attempted in competition. He has not had much experience running indoors, and, after he looked over the list of other starters, warned the officials "not to expect too much from me."

The two-times Olympic winner was slated to face twenty-seven other sprinters, including such stars as Jimmy Dalet, of Holy Cross; Karl Wildermuth, Georgetown; Ernest Morrill, of the Boston A.A., and Chester Bowman, of the Newark A.C.

Jimmy Ball, another Canadian Olympic hero, has entered the B.A.A. special 600-yard race. The Winnipeg flash has never done more than a quarter-mile in competition, and his chances were not regarded as any too bright.

Phil Edwards, a third Canadian runner, was listed as a starter in the 1,000-yard run with Sam Martin and Harold Cutbill, of the B.A.A., and Murray Goldfish, of the Newark A.C.

MILLER DEFEATS TOMMY GROGAN

Chicago Left Hook Artist Given Unpopular Decision of Omaha Battler in Ten-Round Mix

DETROIT, Feb. 1.—Ray Miller, Chicago left hook artist, campaigning for a championship match with Sammy Mandell, was awarded a decision over Tommy Grogan, Omaha contender, in their ten-round battle before a record-smashing crowd at the Olympia Arena tonight. The match, witnessed by 18,700, drew a gate of $60,000.

Grogan, knocked out by Miller in four rounds three weeks ago, after Miller was floored five times, got the cheers, but the verdict of Referee Elmer "Slim" McClelland went to the Chicagoan.

When McClelland raised Miller's right hand, the crowd, the second largest that ever witnessed a boxing contest in Detroit, booed its disapproval.

Their match was no duplicate of their previous thrilling encounter, when Miller was knocked to the floor five times in the second round, only to come back and knock the Omaha walloper completely out. They fought so cautiously tonight that the battle, except in two or three spots, was devoid of thrills.

SNOW MOVES ONLY SLOWLY; GROUNDS UNPLAYABLE TODAY

Snow which fell here during the week is gradually disappearing, but not sufficiently fast enough to make local sport fields playable today. This marks the second week for soccer, and the third for Rugby, that the weather man has intervened and necessitated the cancellation of any proposed games.

GUS SONNENBERG RETAINS TITLE

Eskimos Officiate At Burial of Cubs; "7 to 1" Hymn Sung

Victoria Defence Goes to Pieces Before Combination Work of Seattle Forwards—Fear of Forward Pass Takes Vim Out of Checking

SEATTLE, Feb. 1.—The big rain started tonight in two ways. Drops of the well-known Puget Sound mist fell outside the ice arena to wash the snow piles away, and rubber discs rained on Earl Robertson, Victoria goalie, propelled from the sticks of the Seattle Eskimos.

Robby stopped his share, more than his share in fact, but he could not stop them all, and the Eskimos rolled up a 7-to-1 victory over the Victoria Cubs, the widest win the Seattle team has run up all season.

OLIVER REDPATH

It marked the fourth straight win for the Eskimos and sends them north on Sunday night in a tie with Portland for second place. The Victoria defence went completely to pieces in the face of the combination work of the Seattle forwards. The fear of the forward pass seemed to take the earnestness out of the checking of the Cub defenders. They'd step into a man, then back away, fearful that the wing men wouldn't protect, apparently, and there is where the Seattle goals came from.

The offence worked out by the Seattle board of strategy apparently has considerable in the way of merit, for there seemed to be a man loose around the net more than half the time.

Every one of the Eskimo goals was made from less than ten feet out. Robertson, naturally, was powerless against that kind of work. Walker started the parade with the first period only two minutes along, when he took a pass from Borland and skated straight in. Lowe picked up a rebound from Overand's stick and registered the second one.

JACK KELLY

Redpath put Victoria momentarily in the game with a nice shot through Walker's legs, but Sutherland offset it near the close of the second period with another close-in shot.

Harris scored twice in the third period, Daly and Overand once each, and in every instance the goal maker was right on top of Robertson, and free.

Big Red Kelly again staged one of his great games, only the hardest kind of luck and the greatest kind of goal tending by Porky Levine keeping him from registering at least three goals. Twice he passed out with what looked like perfect passes to men free around the net mouth and each time his mate missed.

The Eskimos made the most of their opportunities and there victory was won.

The Line-Ups

Victoria		Seattle
Robertson	Goal	Levine
Redpath	Defence	Borland
Kenny	Defence	Daly
Evans	Centre	Browne
Kelly	Wing	Walker
H. Runge	Wing	Harris
Leacock	Sub	Lowe

GUN DOG CLUB TO SEE POOLEY

Members Will Submit Suggestions as to Amendment of Provincial Game Laws

RIGHTS OF FARMERS UNDER DISCUSSION

Proposed amendments to the game laws of the province, notice of which has been given by Attorney-General Pooley, were the subject of animated discussion by the Victoria and District Gun Dog Club, which met in the parlor of the Hotel Westholme last night. The club had already notified the Attorney-General of its approval of the action to be taken, and the meeting was for the formulation of recommendations respecting desired amendments.

A lengthy but somewhat desultory discussion took place regarding the rights of farmers and stock owners to destroy dogs at large, in which was debated the suggestion that provision might be made for reimbursing owners of valuable dogs when these were killed without provocation. The provision thought plausible was that, out of the surplus of the fund raised by dog licence fees, a sufficient sum might be in hand out of which reimbursement could be paid.

The club was only partially informed respecting what laws are in effect regulating the killing of trespassing dogs, and whether Federal legislation overrides provincial in this respect. Finally it was resolved to ask an explicit opinion from the department of the Attorney-General, defining the circumstances under which dogs may be killed legally or, if killed otherwise, what comeback the owners of such dogs could have were they killed wantonly.

Dates for the Spring field trials were fixed for March 29 and 30, and Mr. Jack Rithet offered the use of the Rithet farm for the course. The club expressed its appreciation of this offer by voting its thanks.

The secretary was instructed to write the Attorney-General, asking for a date on which a delegation from the club could be received, at which time formal representations will be made. Members of the delegation will be appointed at the next meeting.

Mr. F. M. Sterry, president, occupied the chair, and the duties of record were performed by Mr. C. Dennis, secretary. Sixteen members were in attendance.

GOLF AS CHAMPIONS PLAY IT

Jim Barnes says that the concentration at the time of hitting the ball is the secret of a successful shot. Do you believe this? Why or why not?

Answered by
WILLIAM MEHLHORN

I certainly believe that the concentration at the time of hitting the ball is the secret of a successful shot. The average player lacks this concentration just before coming in contact with the ball. He most likely is thinking of where the ball is going instead, which is the ruination of the shot.

EIGHT BOUTS ON TONIGHT'S CARD

Mainland and Up-Island Boxers Will Meet Pick of Local Pugilists at Tillicum Gymnasium

Jimmie Best, old-time boxer, will act as the third man in the ring for tonight's amateur boxing show at the Tillicum gymnasium. Eight good bouts, with the first boys climbing over the ropes at 8:45 o'clock, have been lined up. Up-Island and Mainland pugilistic stars will be here to match their skill and ability with the pick of local boxers. The complete card is as follows:

Main event, 160 pounds — Art Spruston vs. John Plant (University of British Columbia).

One hundred and sixty pounds—Sanderson (Ladysmith) vs. Frank Hall (T.A.C.).

One hundred and twenty-six pounds—Hawkes (T.A.C.) vs. Bruce Lowe (T.A.C.).

One hundred and eighteen pounds—Shouldice (T.A.C.) vs. Frankie Neel (Navy).

One hundred and fifty pounds—Sherwood (T.A.C.) vs. Sonny Buxton (T.A.C.).

One hundred pounds — Sutton (T.A.C.) vs. Coates (T.A.C.).

Bapcos Register Sweet Win Over Tubemen, 5-3

Earn Right to Meet Plimley & Ritchie in Commercial Hockey Play-Offs—McDonald and Vye Star—Plimley's Win From All-Stars

Brilliant Tubes, who have been traveling along in a blaze of glory all season in the Commercial Hockey League, were presented with a large surprise package by Percy Payne and his band of Bapco puck followers in the way of a 5-3 defeat last night. By virtue of their sweet victory the Bapco crew earned the right to meet Plimley & Ritchie, league champions, in the first game of the play-offs, next Friday.

The Bapcos were put into the game last night when Fitz's were forced to relinquish their place, due to four of their players leaving on H.M.C.S. Vancouver for a training cruise down the Coast. At the last rites administered to the Tubemen, Jack McDonald, burly defence man; young Vye, who guards the twine, and Ernie Bayliss, McDonald's teammate on the back division, played important parts.

For the first five minutes of the initial period it looked as if it was going to be a battle royal, but it wasn't long before the paintmen solved the Tubemen's weakness, that of leaving their defence wide open. Chatton circled down the right boards, shot a low fast drive at Hunter, who cleared to the front of the net. McDonald went in on the rebound and slammed the rubber over the goalie's stick. From then the Bapco's firing line kept Hunter busy by showering rubber at him from almost every possible angle. McDonald, McPhee and Bayliss tested the tubemen's netminder in rapid time, but he was safe as a church.

McPHEE SCORES

The second goal came when Lynn Patrick lost the puck to McDonald, who skated through the Brilliant Tube's defence, Smith and Thompson, but Hunter came out of his goal to meet him and both collided. McPhee then just dropped along at the right moment to push the disc into an empty net. The period ended with the score remaining the same.

Play during the next stanza was slightly in favor of the losers, but their shooting ability was of no use, as Vye was as solid as the Rock of Gibraltar. Temple and Stewart broke through several times, but their drives were considerably wide of the mark. Bayliss made it 3-0 when his long shot bounced off Hunter's pads into the net. Twenty seconds had elapsed when Sam McKenzie's soft drive slid between the goalie's legs.

BAPCOS PLAY DEFENCE

With the score 4-0 against them starting the final frame, the Tubemen went all to pieces, and not long after the start McKenzie registered his second marker with another easy shot. "Red" Lawson made things more interesting when he went through twice in rapid time and drove home the rubber both times. Lynn Patrick tallied after a fine solo rush, but with the game tucked away the Bapcos were playing a purely defensive game. For the winners, Vye, McDonald, Bayliss, McKenzie and McGregor turned in fine games, while Temple, Smith, Patrick and J. Stewart were the pick of the losers. Allan Tuckwell refereed and the teams were:

Bapcos — Vye, McCannell, McKenzie, McGregor, McDonald, McPhee, Bayliss, Bleasdale, Chatton and Hunt.

Brilliant Tubes—Hunter, Simpson, Smith, Patrick, Usher, Usher, Lawson, J. Stewart, Temple, D. Stewart, A. Simpson.

PLIMLEY'S WIN

In an exhibition game played previous to the main struggle, Plimley & Ritchie defeated an All-Star team in a fast contest, 3-1. Symons netted both goals for the winners, one in the first period and the other in the third frame. Percy Fitzsimmons accounted for the All-Star's lone counter in the final session. The teams were as follows:

Plimley & Ritchie — Oatman, Russell, Green, P. Tyrrell, N. Tyrrell, Savannah, Young, Symons and Turner.

All-Stars—Veigh, Bates, Briggs, Smart, Fitzsimmons, Dowman, Sparks, Nicholas, Pomeroy, Benwell.

Will Compete at Boston A.A. Meet Today

PERCY Williams (with hat on), Olympic champion and world's fastest human, and Jimmy Ball, one of the fastest quarter milers, caught by a photographer as they arrived from the West recently on their way to compete in the indoor track meet at Boston. The first thing Williams did upon arrival in Toronto was to deny current rumors that he intended turning professional.

Hammond's Fine Batting Is Feature of Test Match

Duckworth and Larwood Fail to Last Long—Geary Enters Play and Score Is Brought Up to 296 for Seven Wickets

ADELAIDE, Australia, Feb. 2 (Canadian Press Cable).—Wally Hammond and Duckworth resumed England's first innings in the fourth test match against Australia here this morning, but Duckworth did not last long, being caught by Ryder off Grimmett's bowling, when he had scored four runs. Larwood joined Hammond and was cleanly bowled for three runs, making seven wickets down for 270 runs.

After the luncheon adjournment, Hammond and Geary were undefeated with the score 296 for seven wickets.

Hammond's splendid batting was easily the feature of the morning's play. He brought his overnight score of 47 up to 85, not out. Geary had scored but two runs.

Jimmy Maloney Gives O'Kelly Nasty Lacing

BOSTON, Feb. 1.—Jimmy Maloney, Boston heavyweight, gave Con O'Kelly, of Ireland, a terrific ten-round beating here tonight, in the Boston Garden's feature bout. Maloney carried every round but the last and had O'Kelly in great distress in the ninth. Maloney came in at 194 pounds and his opponent was five pounds lighter.

HOOP PLAYDOWNS OPEN MARCH 15

Lower Mainland, Island and Interior to Declare Champions by March 10

VANCOUVER, Feb. 1. — Intersectional play-downs to decide provincial basketball championships will commence about March 15, according to information given out at a meeting of the executive of the Lower Mainland Basketball Association last night. The three sections into which the province is divided—Lower Mainland, Island and Interior—all will have their winners declared before March 10, when a meeting of the British Columbia Basketball Association, will be held to allot the intersectional finals.

In a telephone conversation with Interior representatives at Kelowna last night, George Winter, secretary of the British Columbia Basketball Association, ascertained that the Interior champions would be ready by March 7.

Play has been hampered by snow and cold in the Interior, and all leagues are behind schedule.

The Island Association is ready to make an almost immediate start on its play-offs, and can easily have its championships declared by March 5.

BUFFALO WINS

FORT ERIE, Ont., Feb. 1.—Buffalo outplayed Detroit here last night to win 2-1, marking their first victory over the Detroit club in Can-pro Hockey League play this season.

Tex Rickard's Autobiography

This is the only autobiography written by Tex Rickard. It was prepared in collaboration with Bozeman Bulger for publication exclusively by The Colonist and the North American Newspaper Alliance. Shortly before Rickard's death he discussed with Bulger plans for publication of these memoirs in book form. Following is the twenty-third instalment of the autobiography, which is appearing in daily chapters.

By TEX RICKARD
(In Collaboration With Bozeman Bulger)
(Written Exclusively for The Colonist and the North American Newspaper Alliance)
(Copyright, 1929, by the North American Newspaper Alliance.)

When the war was over and the soldiers had returned I felt that a relief from the high tension of those days would be another big championship fight.

In 1919 I had about made up my mind to get into the promotion of boxing as a real business. I loved the game. In fact I had played it as a game, purely and simply, up to that time.

It was then I started on the trail of a fight between Jess Willard and Jack Dempsey. Jack had come up so rapidly that fight fans were eager for him to have a crack at something big. There was no other apparent successor to the Willard crown. Having followed the newspapers closely, I could feel what the public wanted. At least I thought I could.

During the war days I had not forgotten the fight game entirely. The public had not, either. The greatest amusement attractions in the army were the boxing matches. I feel sure the war did more to give the public a clear viewpoint on the game than any other factor. Army officers were quick to see the advantages of boxing as a builder up of men.

In one infantry regiment with which I was pretty well acquainted the commanding officer issued an order that every enlisted man in his outfit must box at least three rounds every day. His idea was that the more physical contact would rid the men of any timidity and make them willing to face anybody on an even footing.

This commanding officer laid particular emphasis upon the weakest and most timid men being compelled to box. A schedule was arranged by which each squad of eight men had to pair off and have fifteen minutes of boxing as a part of the setting up exercises. They were also ordered to wade in and slam.

In a short while the more timid soldiers had a different look in their eyes. Having socked a man in the jaw their outlook on life was entirely different.

I am not going to get into any argument by mentioning the name or number of this regiment, but the records show that it came out of France with the reputation of being one of the gamest and hardest hitting outfits in the whole A.E.F.

We fellows who could not get in the army did all we could to help the boxing spirit, which meant the fighting spirit, and we are proud of it.

WANTED CARPENTIER

Despite the intense anxiety of the war, men in and out of the army talked about Georges Carpentier as a boxer. Everybody wanted to see him. We tried and tried to get the French Government to let him come over and fight to raise funds for the Red Cross and other similar organizations. I felt it in my bones that Carpentier was bound to be the great drawing car of the boxing generation. Even so, the French Government would not give Carpentier leave of absence. That added to the eagerness of Americans to see him. I was biding my time with the Frenchman.

In the meantime I set out to get Willard and Dempsey. I had little difficulty getting Willard. I have found that the best way to cinch a fight is to sign up the fighters first and make the match afterward.

I located Jess Willard on the road and made an engagement to meet him in Chicago.

There was no particular match talked about at the moment. Several challenges had been thrown at Willard, but there was no big money in sight. He knew, of course, that I had Dempsey in mind.

"Jess," I said to him, "are you willing to box any man in the world if the purse is big enough?"

"Sure," he said. "What's the idea?"

"Well, here it is. I'll guarantee you $100,000 if you will sign an agreement to box anybody I name, on July 4."

We talked this over at length. Finally, he agreed to sign.

In the meantime there was much talk of other matches for Willard, all sorts of offers being made. As in the Jeffries-Johnson fight, though, I was secure. I had the champion signed up to fight for me. The fight and the place could be decided later.

I then went back to New York and got in touch with Jack Dempsey and Jack Kearns, his manager. I first met Dempsey in a hotel room. Honestly, I felt sorry for him. In his street clothes he looked so small—almost like a middleweight—as compared with the giant Willard. Jack always looks much smaller in his clothes than when stripped.

Dempsey was eager to meet Willard.

"I can arrange the fight," I told him, "if you will sign an agreement to fight for me on July 4."

Kearns and Dempsey wanted a crack at Willard at any price. They realised that the champion would be entitled to the big part of the money.

Kearns and Dempsey were straightforward in their dealings. As a business manager Kearns was of immense value to Dempsey.

After much talk they agreed to sign with me for $27,500.

With their names on the agreement I could breathe easy.

In a short while I had the articles of agreement signed for a fight on the Fourth of July between Willard and Dempsey.

My next thought was location.

Many fight fans have wondered why I staged that fight at Toledo and came pretty near making a bust of it. I knew little about Toledo and had no personal interest in that city any more than in any other. I got down the map and began to study.

(Next—Dempsey Socks Willard.)

International Snowshoe Race Won by Clouette

LEWISTON, Maine, Feb. 1.—Eugene Clouette, Montreal, today won the international snowshoe race from Montreal, covering the twelfth and final lap of twenty-two miles from South Paris in four hours and seven minutes.

Clouette, forty-eight, and the father of eighteen children, led throughout the race. Seventeen men started from the Canadian city on January 21 for the 282-mile trek.

BILLY LANG LOSES TO FRISCO McGALE

VANCOUVER, B.C., Feb. 1.—Frisco McGale, Panama middleweight, and Billy Lang, Tacoma, fought a slow ten-round bout as the headliner on a boxing card here tonight, McGale winning the decision. Both weighed 153¼.

Tom Sawyer, Calgary heavyweight, was knocked out in the third round of a scheduled six-round bout by Del Wolfe, Bellingham heavy. For two rounds Sawyer had the advantage, but he went down for the count of nine in the third, and then went down for good from a crushing right on the jaw.

Art Fry, 135, Vancouver, won a technical knockout over Happy Murphy, Bellingham, in the first round of their bout.

LUMBY THROWS SCARE INTO LEAGUE-LEADING ENDERBY ICE TEAM

VERNON, Feb. 1.—The league-leading Enderby hockey team got a bad scare in the game played here last night against Lumby, although they managed to win by one goal. The final score was 5-4.

The game was played here because snow made play all but impossible on the open air rink at Lumby. Enderby now has a four-point lead, with Vernon second and Lumby next. Armstrong has won one game.

In last night's game Lumby led 3-1 for a time. Enderby scored three times in the final period and at the close Lumby was giving them a bad time.

"What's your idea of playing only the rubber stocks?"

"Why, when rubber drops one can be sure of a rebound."

CHARLEY BELANGER OUTPOINTS "WILD BILL" COX EASILY

WINNIPEG, Feb. 1.—Charley Belanger, of Winnipeg, Canadian light-heavyweight, outpointed "Wild Bill" Cox, also of Winnipeg, in a fast ten-round bout here tonight. On the verge of a knockout in the third round, after taking terrific punishment from Belanger's body punching, Cox made a sensational comeback and carried the fight to the champion for the next four rounds. Belanger, however, was never in danger of losing his title and was leading by a wide margin at the finish.

TWO CANADIANS IN GOLF FINAL

HAMILTON, Bermuda, Feb. 1.—Two Canadians will battle it out tomorrow for the Bermuda amateur golf championship at the Riddels Bay Country Club. A. C. N. Gosling of Toronto, the defending titleholder, and Nicol Thompson, Jr., of Hamilton, Ont., swept into the final round today by virtue of victories over G. H. Beavis, of England, and H. C. Pownes, Jr., of Pittsburgh.

Gosling defeated Beavis 5 and 4, and Thompson disposed of Pownes, 3 and 2. Both matches were over the thirty-six-hole route.

Whitcroft Trophy Is Won by Doris Parkes

VANCOUVER, Feb. 1. — Doris Parkes, swimming star and all-round athlete, will hold the Fred J. Whitcroft trophy, emblematic of the women's one mile skating championship of British Columbia for the next year. Doris won the cup tonight when she defeated a high class field at the Arena. The race was staged between the second and third periods of the Ex-King George-Monarchs hockey game.

WOMAN SO SICK COULD NOT WORK

Helped by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Grainland, Sask.—"I am glad that I heard of that good Lydia E. Pinkham's medicine and I will not be without it again. I was so sick that I could not work at all and could not sew on the machine. My aunt told me of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and now I am telling all of my friends how good it is and I will answer all letters I get from women."—Mrs. Mary Schultiss, Grainland, Sask.

MEXICALA PURSE IS WON BY LISTO

Three-Year-Old Son of My Play Features in True Western Victory

(Special to The Colonist)

TIJUANA, Feb. 1.—A local note was struck here this afternoon when Listo, a three-year-old son of My Play, won the Mexicala Purse, over a six-furlong course. Listo is owned by the Labrae people and was bred just over the California hills, and it was considered a true Western victory, coming as it did over Genie, the great son of Man-o'-War, and winner of last year's Brooklyn and Dwyer Derbies. Genie has been established as the favorite in the Coffroth Handicap and must take on top weight in that event.

Coupled with Moonraker, the winner was second choice in the field of nine, and managed to stick in front position to the wire in a great drive from the last turn. Listo sprinted to a long lead at the start, while Genie was being rated along well back until coming into the stretch, where Kelsay turned the big chestnut loose. When they went under the wire Genie had nearly cut the lead off altogether. Jockey Douglas rode a well-judged race, getting all that was possible out of the colt.

Easter Seth, the Kentucky-bred daughter of Seth Dixie and Mina, shoved off in the first flight of the juveniles, a maiden race of three furlongs. Easter Seth soon established her supremacy, negotiating the first call in a length advantage, which she maintained to the finish.

Jockey Schenk rode the opening and last race winners.

Tommy Fielding Will Fight Here On February 16

PROMOTER Joe Bayley announced late last night that Tommy Fielding would appear here in a ten-round bout on Saturday, February 16, against an opponent yet to be named. Efforts are being made to secure either Hector McDonald, Pete Miller or Eddie Thomas.

HOCKEY RESULTS

BULLDOGS WIN

BOSTON, Feb. 1.—The Newark Bulldogs set the Boston Tigers down hard here last night in an exciting Canadian-American League hockey game. The score was 2-1.

HAWKS GO UNDER

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 1.—The Kansas City Pamors took a firmer hold on the American Association hockey lead last night, turning back the St. Paul Hawks 4 to 2 in the first of a two-game series.

SCORELESS DRAW

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 1.—The San Francisco and Oakland hockey teams last night played a scoreless draw here.

PORT ARTHUR SWAMPED

FORT WILLIAM, Ont., Feb. 1.—Notching three goals in the third period Fort William seniors swamped Port Arthur here last night after the teams had battled evenly for two-thirds of the game. The final count was 6-3.

SECRETARY OF D.F.A. SAYS WELSH TEAM NOT ACCEPTED INVITATION

WINNIPEG, Feb. 1.—No definite arrangements for the visit of the Welsh soccer team to Canada this Summer has yet been made, said Sam Davidson, secretary of the Dominion Football Association. The invitation has not been accepted, Mr. Davidson stated. A choice of two itineraries has been offered the Welsh eleven—one commencing May 24, the other commencing June 1, and both including thirteen games in Canada.

MONARCHS DEFEAT EX-KINGS AND TIE UP HOCKEY RACE

VANCOUVER, Feb. 1.—Monarchs tied up the race in the senior division of the Vancouver Amateur Ice Hockey League tonight by defeating Ex-King George, 5-4. It was a tough blow to the Ex-Kings, who had figured to finish the league schedule in top place.

RAILS AGAIN LEAD STOCKS IN ADVANCE

Bulls Choose Rail Stocks for Upward Push—Many Industrials and Specialties Follow

C.P.R. SHOOTS UP TEN POINTS IN DAY

NEW YORK, Feb 1.—The bull movement in the rails went through its second day under full steam on the stock market today, drawing with it a wide assortment of industrials and specialties.

Radio, having been some time in retirement, made one of its spectacular appearances. It shot up about 28 points to 396, fell back to 386 in a short lived reaction, then rebounded again to 403, or 17 points under its record price.

Allied Chemical, Advance Rumely, Johns-Manville, Dupont (new), National Bellas Hess, Western Union and Wright Aero made extreme gains of 7 to 15 points. Some of the coppers moved up on announcement of the higher red metal price, but this appeared to have been largely discounted yesterday. United States Steel mounted 2 points.

In the rails, Canadian Pacific shot up more than 10 points, while Atlantic Coast Line, Central of New Jersey, Chesapeake & Ohio, Illinois Central, Pere Marquette and New Haven mounted 5 to 9 points, mostly to record prices. New York Central touched 204, the highest ever.

Motors turned heavy, Packard and Chrysler losing about 3 points each, and General Motors closing about a point lower. Union Carbide fell nearly 6 points in profit-taking.

In the foreign exchanges, sterling sagged to a new low for 1929, the demand rate touching $4.84 7-16.

Newly listed issues dominated the trading in today's bond market. Prices worked irregularly lower in the afternoon, under profit-taking influenced by call money rates.

MARKET VALUES SHOW ADVANCE

Accounted For by Accumulation of Overnight Buying Orders at New York

(Supplied by Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, Feb 1.—An accumulation of overnight buying orders, which in good part represented short covering, accounted for the earlier advance in values generally, which was later extended on an average of from 2 to 6 points, and in the case of Radio to nearly 30 points, before losing ground on profit taking.

The copper list followed closely the advance in the rail department, New York Central being the feature, and established the high of all time. Steels, oils and rubber shares were all in early demand, but Chrysler reflected little nearby support and its action had an unsettling influence on the motor group generally.

Approximately forty million dollars in loans were noted, and this was a forerunner of the stiffening in call money rates to 8 per cent, and the afternoon selling movement which proved to be rather burdensome to values.

The brokers' loans this week reached a new peak, but for the time being was ignored, due most likely to expectations of easier money early next week. Shifting operations are still an influential factor in the market and the groups that appear to be more favored by this interest are utilities, rails and coppers. As a result of the shifting operations we are likely to witness a market distinctly irregular in character.

Whitney Letter

(Supplied by Branson, Brown & Co. Limited)

(Supplied by Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

NEW YORK, Feb. 2.—Whitney, of the Wall Street Financial Bureau, says: In a market which is making comment almost superfluous, today's session produced another new high record in both the rail and industrial group on top of the new records in both groups the day before. In addition to this, there is a good deal of gratification to be derived from yesterday's hour-to-hour performance when it is considered that what ordinarily would have been too strong an opening for comfort during the balance of the day was not only sustained throughout the session but materially bettered at the close, in spite of the fact that the call rate advanced 1 per cent and $40,000,000 loans were called during the day.

In just the same manner as the money factor was disregarded in a minor way during the day, I believe the market, in a larger sense, will disregard whatever increase is shown in brokers' loans for the month of January when the New York Stock Exchange figures are released in a day or so.

The aggregate increase shown in the four Federal Reserve weekly statements on brokers' loans, which approximately cover the month of January, is an amount of about $230,000,000, so that, with the Stock Exchange figures running about a billion dollars or 20 per cent higher than the other figure from month to month, it is logical to expect them to show a figure in proportion to their higher range or, in other words, any increase for the month fairly close to $300,000,000 can be entirely disregarded.

What is perhaps more important at the moment is that we have come comfortably through the month-end strain and seen less stringency than has been the case for practically six months or more. Hold your stocks over the week-end and into next week for higher prices.

Hold all commitments made at these levels of the advice of two days ago for prices substantially in excess of those now prevailing. Speigel May Stern has amply rewarded the patience of those who have held it for the last two or three weeks from prices almost 30 points lower. Take your profits now and put the funds into St Louis & Southwestern, which will do as much from here as Speigel May Stern has just done.

Continue to buy St Paul preferred, and for a new rail not mentioned in recent months, buy Denver, Rio Grande & Western preferred below $65 a share. The stock is good for 100. The new developments which you were [illegible] on Monday were pending in Universal Aviation will become news today and show that this issue is entitled to sell in the upper 20's if not the lower 30's. Continue to hold Canadian Pacific, New York Central, Erie, Allied Chemical, Western Union, Brooklyn Manhattan Transit as well as other recommended stocks for higher prices.

Margin of safety is more important than earnings per share in judging a preferred stock from an investment standpoint, because the former makes full allowance for any part of the capitalization that may be senior to the preferred stock.

In the above illustration are the set-ups of two preferred stocks, A and B. A casual glance at them would indicate that B was the sounder of the two because its earnings per share are larger and dividend requirements are being covered by a wider margin.

A more analytical survey, however, will reveal that A is the sounder stock in spite of the two unfavorable comparisons mentioned, because A's margin of safety is much larger than B's.

Margin of safety is the per cent by which gross income could decline and still cover dividend requirements. It makes full allowance for any senior obligations to the security under consideration, while earnings per share do not measure the extent of those prior obligations.

In the two examples above income could be more than halved and still cover A's dividend, while B's would be almost wiped out by a decline of one-third in earnings.

In other words the dividend on A is safer than the dividend on B, assuming that the two stocks represent similar industries.

WHEAT MARKET FIRM BUT DULL

OFFERINGS VERY LIGHT ON THE WHOLE AT WINNIPEG

Complaints of Winter Wheat Damage Continue—Coarse Grains Record Substantial Gains

(Supplied by Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

WINNIPEG, Feb. 1. — Wheat: Wheat market, while firm with prices mostly higher than at the close yesterday, was rather dull, with only a small local trade passing. No export sales could be confirmed, either East or West. On the whole offerings were very light, but part of the pit trade were selling during the first part of the day and appeared to be working for a decline, but there was a quiet accumulation going on by good interests, and, later in the day, when Chicago advanced about 1 cent, some of the early sellers were forced to cover, and our market advanced in sympathy, although not quite as strong as Chicago.

The local cash market was extremely dull with just an odd farmer's car coming out, elevator companies not selling a bushel. Mills were in the market for No. 3 and No. 4 wheat, and shippers are willing to pick up the low grades at present levels. Spreads were all steady and unchanged.

Complaints of damage to Winter wheat continue to come in and create apprehension which undoubtedly is bringing in some support to the market, although what the actual damage will be cannot be determined until the growing season comes around. With the decreased acreage, any more than average Winter killing could easily be serious, and the present bearish statistical situation would have little or no effect.

World's consumption of wheat is extremely large, and, if supplies keep on leaving surplus countries at the present rate, the carry-over is going to be quite small.

Conditions in Western Canada are anything but favorable for the new crop, the whole country never having been so dry when Winter set in. The snowfall, so far, has been very light. Spring rains will be an absolute necessity. The new crop situation is the chief strength in the market and will continue so until it is definitely known whether the damage has been large or small.

Coarse Grains: These markets, while somewhat dull, were strong and recorded substantial gains in late trade. Export business reported as dull, but undoubtedly there is some business passing almost daily in barley and a little in rye, while there is a good domestic demand for oats.

CHICAGO MARKET

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—Wheat market was firmer from the start, due to Liverpool's failure to fully respond to our yesterday's break and on a fairly good class of local and commission house buying. There was further unfavorable crop comment, and while cold weather prevails over the belt, with reports from Nebraska and Kansas indicating a lack of snow covering in many fields, there was nothing new in the outlook. Export demand was reported as slow at seaboard, with only small sales claimed. Weather and crop news are dominating factors at present, and while it is too early to tell much, if anything, about damage, the fear, combined with talk of farm relief legislation, has made bears timid, and whatever selling appears is largely in the way of profit taking. We have not lost sight of our large supplies, however, and until this wheat starts to move more rapidly toward consumptive channels, or until there is real proof of serious crop damage, we prefer the selling side.

The corn market held within narrow limits the greater part of the day. There was a good commission house demand around 61 for May, but offerings increased on the rallies. Sales of 100,000 bushels were made to go to store. We believe the advantage lies with purchaser on breaks.

CONDITION OF GRAIN CROP IS BIG FACTOR

Will Influence Price-Making in Wheat During Coming Weeks—Effects of Weather to Be Seen

ACREAGE SMALLER OF WINTER WHEAT

(Supplied by Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—Wheat: The main question in wheat that is likely to be a big factor in price making the next few weeks is the condition of the crop. January's was the severest Winter weather in a long time, and, as much of the Winter wheat acreage has been without adequate snow covering this Winter, there is more than the usual basis for fear of crop damage. Several successive cold waves, with thawing weather in between, overspread the entire Winter wheat region. There is more than the usual amount of ice covering both East and West, and in some sections the ice covering has been over the wheat for four or five weeks. At the end of the week this forecast district was in the grip of one of the most severe cold snaps of the Winter.

It is admittedly a hard thing to tell what the crop will be from anything that can be told in the middle of the Winter. However, there is always some Winter killing, and, if cold weather of unusual severity is a factor in this respect, then the wheat has suffered to some extent.

Last year it was well along in March before there was definite assurance that the Winter wheat had been badly hurt east of the Mississippi, although there were many reports in January that the fields were brown and mostly dead.

The acreage of Winter wheat is much smaller than a year ago, and serious Winter killing would be a big factor.

CANADA GETS BUSINESS

While Europe is absorbing a tremendous amount of wheat, the markets abroad are still far out of line compared with Chicago, and Canada is still getting the bulk of a big export business. Although Argentina has supposedly a larger crop than a year ago, shipments in January were smaller from that country than a year ago. At the same time Canadian clearances continued extremely heavy and it is understood that February and March clearances will be also heavy.

At the present rate of clearance and at the current rate of country marketings in Western Canada, two months will make a big difference in the statistical position of Canada. Receipts at country points are now running less than one-quarter as much as a year ago. The Canadian visible last week increased 121,000 bushels and this week could easily show a decrease, while stocks of bonded Canadian wheat in this country also are melting away gradually. The enormous absorption of wheat by importing countries this year, enhanced by the unusual purchases for Indian and Oriental accounts make an estimate made by German grain interests that total import requirements would total 820,000,000 bushels, look fairly reasonable.

The inference from this is that Europe may after all have to take considerable United States wheat before many months. Domestic cash trade conditions are satisfactory, and current prices are no bar to sales. Flour business is rather dull. The general impression of the wheat market is that it is too early to launch a definite bull market. However, there is but little question but that accumulation is going on whenever the market shows any weakness.

Corn—May corn dropped below the dollar mark again for a time, but rallied well above it later, only to sink back again the latter part of the week. Bulls were deprived of much help when general rains were reported in Argentina. Irreparable damage from heat and drought is reported in parts of the Argentine corn belt, but the rains will help a lot, and there is still a possibility of a fair crop. Argentine shipments have dropped to small proportions, and the amount remaining available for export is much smaller than at this time the past two or three years. America is shipping a fair amount of corn, but European buyers do not appear to be under any necessity of buying freely, notwithstanding the lack of heavy offerings from other countries.

SEVERE EUROPEAN WINTER

However, this situation may change. The Winter has been a hard one in Europe, with lots of snow causing heavy feeding. Abundance of barley, oats and cheap wheat has helped to relieve conditions in regard to feeding grains. Argentine shipments were small at 1,812,000 bushels. Domestic trade conditions are favorable for the maintenance of fairly high prices. Primary receipts to date have been about 17,000,000 bushels more than a year ago, indicating the movement was early. Fair receipts are expected, but no such pressure is looked for as the past two years during February and March. There is heavy domestic consumption, and, as the distribution of the 1928 crop probably has been spread over virtually fourteen months, the situation is fundamentally strong.

Oats—Receipts continue small, and the fact of the matter is that heavy farm consumption with the shortage in hay is maintaining a strong position in this grain. The country shows no signs of increasing selling.

Rye—Some foreign buying of futures has been indicated at times recently. Apparently there is little change in the position of rye, which is relatively strong.

It was a bit disconcerting to have brokers' loans show an increase of $116,000,000 after the close and a record total of $5,559,000,000. There had been no nervousness as to loan figures. The loan increase, however, was larger than had been anticipated, and is likely to have its effect on sentiment today.

The inflow of gold has tended to relieve the credit strain and the better position of the bill market has removed one unfavorable situation. These factors no doubt entered into yesterday's consideration in the market, with the result that prices had a rapid upturn.

Once again there is talk of a further increase in the price of copper for domestic delivery and exports. The extraordinary strength of some of the coppers on the exchange yesterday, together with the continued heavy foreign demand and a good domestic demand lent support to the view.

Yesterday's report of the Federal Reserve Bank showed borrowings of member banks increased. About the only consolation to be found in yesterday's late news was the no change in the rediscount rate.

The long awaited rail market appears definitely to have made its appearance. Until a week ago rails in general were selling about where they were a year ago, while the industrials have been carried to unexpected levels. For the greater part of last year the public was accustomed to reading reports of carloadings below 1927, and there was no general increase in gross revenues. However, the roads were able to cut materially their operating costs through installation of larger locomotives and freight cars. During the last quarter of 1928 the tide turned, loadings began to exceed the previous year, and earnings showed remarkable improvement. All this has created a greater public interest in the carrier stocks.

Union Carbide Corporation acquired Colorado Compressed Gas Corporation through exchange of stock involving approximately two million dollars, says Denver Dispatch.

Williams Oilomatic Heating Co. has started production of refrigerating units for use in connection with cooler systems in offices, factories, schools and other institutions.

Engineers' Public Service 1928 net income $7,763,735 after taxes, interest, amortization and sub-dividends, etc., against $6,312,275 in 1927.

Gold imports at Port of New York $9,898,000 during week ended January 30, including $7,279,000 from the United Kingdom and $2,500,000 from Canada. Exports $150,000.

J. S. Bache & Co.—It is our view that the transient stage of irregularity will be succeeded by a renewed upswing rather than by a prolonged serious downward movement. We believe that stocks showing an upward earning trend should be maintained.

Hornblower & Weeks—We doubt the wisdom of resuming any general buying position at this time, although individual stocks may be followed from a trading standpoint. We think that New Haven can be bought this year any time it shows signs of advancing, because the trend of earnings indicates possible selling price of around 125 within twelve months.

SENTENCE COMMUTED

OTTAWA, Feb. 1.—Commutation of sentence has been granted by the Governor-in-Council to Ernest Olson, thirty-two-year-old farm hand, who was sentenced to die next Tuesday. Olson was found guilty of the murder of William Robson, farmer, of Tisdale, Sask. The condemned man will serve his life sentence under the commutation in the Saskatchewan penitentiary.

NEW YORK STOCK LETTER

No change in the rediscount rate removes another cause of nervousness at least for the moment, and record highs were made by five high grade rails yesterday, and it would be no surprise to see further advances today in view of the splendid December earnings now coming in and the favorable business outlook for 1929.

By fits and starts the rails have been creeping up and yesterday, according to Dow Jones averages, established a new high rate, 158.54, a gain for the day of more than 2¼ points. Of course, the so-called Swerigen railroad investment trust has quickened interest in the rails, but that may be considered as almost incidental to the fundamental strength of their positions, that is to say, the positions of the seasoned dividend paying issues. Despite the relative lack of general interest in the market movements of the rails, we believe that they form a most important backlog in many large investment holdings. Despite the uncertainty over railroad valuation, we think there can be little or no doubt over the integrity of their values, particularly those values in relation to capitalization. There can be no question of inflated capital. As a matter of opinion, we believe that from a true value standpoint the seasoned rails make as strong, if not a stronger appeal, than do the seasoned public utilities at present price levels. Many of the most popular industrials are selling far more than seventeen times current earnings. If Atchison Common was evaluated on any such basis the stock would be selling close to 275. Similarly, Baltimore and Ohio would be around 180, Union Pacific above 300, Southern Railway at 200 and Southern Pacific above 175. We are not attempting to predict the advance of these particular stocks to any such levels as those, but we do think in the basis of earnings they are entitled to sell at a higher ratio than at present.

Douglas Aircraft on the New York Curb has reacted from 30¾ to 25 and on this reaction we think the stock is an excellent long pull speculative purchase, as officially estimated earnings this year should be approximately $2.50 a share on the common stock. Douglas has devoted itself exclusively to Government contracts and plant is at present working to capacity on such orders. Recent financing has given the company funds to enlarge plant capacity and later on this year the company will be in a position to take commercial work. A hopeful sign for the petroleum situation is the intention of the Oklahoma producers to consider restricting the state's production to 600,000 barrels a day maximum, against current output of 723,000 barrels. The oil stocks need encouragement of that kind, for their market action this year may hinge largely upon the success of the adoption of widespread conservation or prorating programmes.

An investment that has been behind the market for a long time is United Fruit. Lately concentrated buying has come into the issue and we think the advance will be measurably extended.

NEWSPAPER COMMENT

American says that strength in Barnsdall is a reflection of its strong capital position and earnings outlook. That recent heaviness in the price of the stock was attributed to the expectation of unfavorable earnings report for the last quarter of 1928. The World says that the increase of $116,000,000 in brokers' loans was considerably larger than most observers had expected, but that its possible effect on a confident market cannot be guaged in advance. That the worst feature of this report is that $91,000,000 of the increase is accounted for by increased loans by New York Member Banks for their own accounts.

The Journal of Commerce says that among coppers buying of Anaconda, which set the market a lively pace, was set down to certain large interest. Herald Tribune says that the long awaited rail market appears definitely to have made its appearance, that the Interstate Commerce Commission is now more friendly toward consolidation and that another favorable impression is the fact that December net operating income of carriers was about 65 per cent more than a year ago.

Wall Street Mirror says the best accumulation witnessed in six years is going on in the oil stocks. The recent reduction in crude oil and gasoline prices are considered to be only temporary, as consumption is showing a steady expansion. Buying has been particularly good in Marland, Texas Corporation, Barnsdall and Standard Oils listed on the stock exchange. Thesgood coppers are being bought in anticipation of another advance in the price of copper metal during the week. Greene Cananea, to which we directed attention yesterday, continues to be bought by the right people. Excellent buying is also being witnessed again in American Smelting and Refining. Hold your Mohawk Carpet, which sold at a new top price. Business of Stromberg Carburetor is increasing rapidly; this is especially true with regard to the airplane branch of the business. The company is manufacturing about 95 per cent of the carburetors made for airplanes.

TRADING ITEMS

Coty, Incorporated—The market action of "Coi" has not been at all impressive. For the first five days of last week the stock advanced 9¾ points on a total of less than 80,000 shares turnover. The past four days the stock has been unusually active and has lost ground despite that during the flurry it was marked to a new high of 80¾. There are now 1,311,048 shares outstanding and it is selling at about twenty-five times earnings, whereas last year the stock sold as low as ten times earnings, and in 1927 at less than six times earnings.

Standard Gas and Electric continues to be one of the cheapest utilities on the list, and we would not only maintain holdings, but would add to them on any minor recessions.

Columbia Graphophone — We would not be surprised if it were to work into a new high territory in the next few weeks.

United Electric Coal is in a favorable market position and attractively priced for both short term trading and the long pull.

Earnings have increased in each of the past five years, and indications are that 1929 earnings will show a further marked gain.

COMPANY WILL TAKE OLD NAME

Quadra Investments Corporation to Be Known as R. P. Clark & Co. (Victoria) Ltd.

Quadra Investments Corporation, Limited, yesterday resumed its old name under the title of R. P. Clarke & Company (Victoria), Limited.

It is interesting to note that the Victoria office is the parent office of R. P. Clark & Company, Limited, which was founded in 1920 and from very small beginnings in the Pemberton Building has extended in every direction till it now comprises branches in Vancouver, Nelson, Kelowna and Seattle, and thirty agencies and correspondents throughout British Columbia.

General R. P. Clark, who has been associated with the province since 1898, the year of the Klondike rush, is president of this company, and is well known in Victoria. Associated with General Clark is a very strong board of directors, all well known and highly respected figures in the financial circles of Vancouver Island and the Mainland of British Columbia.

Mr. Charles S. Fraser and Mr. Arthur Fraser, descendants of a Victoria pioneer family, are in charge of the bond department, and the general manager is Mr. H. W. J. Paterson. The company will continue to maintain all the various forms of service required by both investors and traders. At the local office, 617 View Street, a comodious boardroom has been equipped for the comfort and convenience of clients, and where continuous quotations are recorded daily for a most comprehensive system of private wires extending to every important stock, bond and commodity market on the continent.

In addition to these local services this company maintains correspondents in London and on the continent of Europe, thus assuring clients an unexcelled service in the execution of orders to buy or sell bonds, stocks, grain, and other commodities, while specializing in sound investments; and by reason of connection with the important houses of issues in New York, Montreal, Toronto and London are enabled to offer their clients the pick of new investment issues as they are offered.

Montreal Stock Letter

International Nickel continues to be absorbing a large proportion of the interest in the trading. Again leading in activity with a turnover of 43,761 shares. Following the excitement created by a now discredited report on the Frood ore body at the beginning of the week, the stock has lapsed into a comparatively narrow price area for the time being, yesterday selling up to 65⅝ and closing at 67¾ for a net gain of 1¾. Sponsors of the stock have in no way changed their views, and feel that, in view of surrounding conditions, it has given a fine account of itself. Confirmation was obtained yesterday of the statement that the Attorney-General's Department in Ontario had under investigation the bearish reports circulated, which succeeded in depressing the stock, it being pointed out that punishment is provided for by law for persons guilty of circulating rumors affecting the price of stocks. Later in the day it was learned that a virtual retraction of the bearish report had been made by those responsible for the dissemination of the report, in view of which the Attorney-General of Ontario stated that the matter would be dropped.

Rights expired on Dominion Bridge yesterday, and the stock celebrated the event by moving well into new high ground. The stock came second in volume here, with 12,467 shares dealt in, sold up to the new peak of 107¼ X.D. and closed at 107 X.R. for a net gain of four points. The rights closed at $5.70 on the day.

The list of new construction projects which is added to almost daily, would seem sufficient to explain the enthusiastic and growing regard for this stock. Quebec's huge building programme, as indicated recently by the Premier, has attracted a good deal of attention. An improved demand for the stock has come into attention in Wall Street of late, and it is not surprising that more interest should centre in them there, in view of the fact that they were comparatively neglected during 1928. Montreal Power, Shawinigan and Quebec Power have been firm spots in more active trading. Montreal Power recently issued its 1928 statement, revealing record earnings and a very notable improvement in already powerful balance sheet position. The statements of the Allied Companies are expected toward the middle of this month and both can be expected to show substantial increases. Certain sections of the Street are inclined to look for some special development of interest to shareholders of Shawinigan and Quebec Power. Guesses range from dividend increases to a possible issue of New York stock to Quebec shareholders, and some suggestion is even heard of a possible stock bonus such as was recently given Shawinigan shareholders.

TELLER CONFESSES

PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 1.—Defalcations of $5,000, covering a period of two years, were detailed, police said, in a complete confession today by Harry R. Rayburn, thirty, former trusted teller of the Equitable Savings and Loan Association, arrested Thursday night as he stepped from a train from California.

UNITED EMPIRE STIRS INTEREST

Shares Will Be Called for Trading on Vancouver Exchange at Early Date

(Supplied by Branson, Brown & Co., Ltd.)

The discovery of the continuity of the No. 1 Empire vein by open cuts on the surface for approximately 450 feet beyond their previous discoveries, together with the very satisfactory results obtained at depth in the tunnel drifting on the aforesaid vein, and the thorough business-like manner of the company's operation and development of the property with a very small expenditure, also the likeness of their holdings to that of the Silverado, are matters of interest.

The geological formation of the United Empire is the same as that on the Silverado, where the Premier Mining Company is driving its long prospect tunnel to strike three parallel veins at depth.

The three parallel veins on the United Empire holdings are unquestionably the same, and come to the surface beyond the granite intrusion on the west side of the river into the United Empire's property and strike northwesterly, these veins dip and strike at the same angle and direction in these two properties. The ore and the Gangue are the same character.

Machinery for drilling will be placed on the property and a vigorous development carried on as soon as weather conditions permit. The management is very confident that the United Empire will be an early producer. The property is fully paid for and there is considerable cash on hand for development, also over 50 per cent of the company's stock still remains in the treasury.

Mining News

By Miller, Court & Co., Ltd.

East Hears of Pend Oreille Development—Plans for huge development in the combined power and mining field of Southern British Columbia are progressing to such an extent that it seems probable some statement will be made to the shareholders of Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company at the next annual meeting, and steps taken to arrange for the financing, says Financial Counsel. It appears to be definitely settled that an installation of 80,000 to 90,000 horsepower will be undertaken in the Pend Oreille River, either by Smelters' subsidiary, West Kootenay Power & Light Company, or by a new subsidiary.

Closely connected with this plan is a proposal to develop Reeves Mines and possibly Pend Oreille. The proposed location of the power plant is just inside the Canadian border, near the Reeves property, which, in turn, is only some eight miles north of the Pend Oreille, which is located across the border in the State of Washington. It is generally believed that Pend Oreille holds a controlling interest in Reeves. The situation is the more interesting from the fact that the Reeves mine is only six miles from the Trail smelter of Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company. The Canadian Pacific Railway Company is brought into the picture, not only as the controlling interest in Consolidated Mining & Smelting Company, but through an announcement of the intention to construct a branch line from Trail, B.C., to Metaline Falls, in the State of Washington. This line will pass close to the Reeves property.

Now the Pend Oreille River, on which it is said Smelters is proposing to build a power plant, runs north some fourteen miles from Metaline Falls across the Canadian border of British Columbia. The new railway branch line of the C.P.R. would, in going to the Falls, meet the terminal of the Milwaukee Railway branch line running north from Spokane. The story becomes the more complicated and fascinating by the revival of a report that Smelters are interested in Pend Oreille. It is further stated by the president of Pend Oreille, L. P. Larsen, that an electrolytic zinc plant may be constructed close to Metaline Falls. It is said also that Reeves have plans for an initial zinc production of 1,500 tons a day. It would seem logical, if this is true, to suppose the the alleged new zinc plant at Metaline Falls, a few miles distant, was intended partly to serve Reeves.

Stewart Buys Malaspina Mine—The Malaspina mine, a copper, gold and zinc property located a short distance north of Britannia Beach, has been purchased by R. H. Stewart, of Stewart & Batten, Vancouver. The deal was ratified by the directors after Mr. Stewart had made arrangements to acquire control. Mr. Stewart announced that development work on the property would commence in May.

Thursday Sales — Sales on the Vancouver Stock Exchange on Thursday, totaled 579,450 shares, valued at $380,496.

SLEEPING PARTNERS

Nixon—You know my brother, then?

Dixon—Yes, we slept in the same pew at church.

Although Miss Lillian Gish had been acting for the screen for some years prior to appearing in her outstanding success, "Way Down East," she was, she confesses, frankly horrified when some of the incidents in it were outlined to her previous to rehearsals—more especially the one where she had to jump on to a drifting ice floe.

"Oh, that's nothing!" quoth Mr. Griffith reassuringly. "I once saw a play in Italy where the hero caught up the heroine in his arms, banged her head on the ground, and afterwards beat her with a stout cudgel until she was insensible. And this treatment was repeated several times in the course of the piece."

"Good gracious!" exclaimed Miss Gish. "What was the name of the play?"

"Punch and Judy," said Mr. Griffith.

CANADIAN BANK WINS BIG FIELD

Supreme Court Decision Extends Loan Capacity of Commerce Branch in Seattle

OLYMPIA, Feb. 1 (A.P.)—The Seattle branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, with headquarters in Toronto, may make individual loans on the basis of 20 per cent of the stock and surplus of the entire system, rather than upon the $200,000 working capital which the bank maintains in Seattle, the Supreme Court ruled today.

The decision reverses the Thurston County Court, which dismissed an action brought by the Canadian institution for an injunction to restrain the state banking department from requiring the Seattle branch to restrict loans to individuals to 20 per cent of the $200,000 working capital. The decision instructs the lower court to overrule the state's demurrer to the complaint.

The Canadian Bank of Commerce has unimpaired stock and surplus of $40,000,000, the records showed. It has paid its annual licence fees, is authorised to do business in this state as a foreign corporation, and was organized in accordance with the banking laws maintained at the time of organization, the court held.

Pointing out that the "equality demanded under the law is equality of opportunity and not of ability," the higher court held that the Canadian banking concern does not ask to do business on more favorable terms than a domestic corporation. It can make larger loans than a smaller bank, because of the greater unimpaired stock and surplus, the court said.

News of the Mines

(From Solloway, Mills & Co., Vancouver, through H. E. Hunnings & Co., Ltd.)

Mandy—According to Winnipeg advices, the Mandy shaft has been completed to 825 feet, where a station has been cut. At the present rate of progress the objective of 1,000 feet should be reached by March 1, when exploration work will be carried out at the 1,000, 825 and 425-foot levels, endeavoring to pick up ore indicated by diamond drilling from the 500-foot horizon. It is also believed that some diamond drilling will be carried out from the 1,000-foot level.

Lake Shore—A condition of particular importance has been found on the 1,000-foot level. At this horizon a new vein has been indicated which parallels the No. 2 to the south, and at times actually adjoins it. In one place, where the two come together, the total width of the vein matter is forty feet, and the whole is high-grade ore. Conditions at Lake Shore have never looked better than at the present time, and when the property gets up to 1,100 or 1,400 tons daily, earnings should be approximately $2 net.

Wright-Hargreaves—Practically all present work at Wright-Hargreaves is being carried out on east of shaft towards the Sylvanite boundary. From the shaft to the line is a distance of 2,200 feet. The north vein has been explored for a distance of 1,200 feet on the 125 horizon, and there is still a distance of 1,000 feet to go. The south vein up to this time has been quite low grade but, as work proceeds, the average grade is higher. We understand the new vein, just cut by diamond drilling, is twelve feet wide and is quite high grade. When the lower levels are opened up, it is predicted that mill-heads may easily return to the standard of a few years back, when they were running $12 to the ton. Work being carried on at present time may readily be seen when it is realized that an average of 2,700 feet is being carried out monthly.

SPRAYING ORCHARDS

Prompt Notice on Codling Moth Disease Under Discussion in House

A bill to strike out of the Agricultural Act the words "in writing" led to quite a prolonged debate in the Legislature yesterday. The bill was intended to provide for more expeditious action on the part of inspectors under the Codling moth infection than was possible at present. The Minister at present gives consent to have the trees which are infected sprayed in spite of the consent of the owner only when he receives the recommendation for this action "in writing."

The amendment provides that the recommendation may come in any form to the Minister. This was felt to be necessary in dealing with a dangerous disease where time was important, and where the trees of a whole community were endangered.

Dr. Wrinch wished information before taking away the necessity of a written report. Under the act it was pointed out, the owner of the orchard had the expense charged up against the place. It was, he thought, not in the interests of the Minister to be placed in the position proposed.

Mr. T. D. Pattullo agreed with Dr. Wrinch, and wanted the bill amended.

Attorney-General Pooley said that the position was often one calling for quick action. The inspector would send a telegram to the Minister, and this would be enough upon which to act.

Mr. Ian Mackenzie thought that a telegram would be taken as writing, but Mr. Pooley did not think in law it would, although Mr. A. M. Manson said that the Interpretation Act would so classify it.

Hon. W. A. McKenzie agreed with the bill. He pointed out that it was necessary to take quick action. Sometimes the owner of the orchard did not give his consent because he could not pay for the spraying. There should not be the danger of jeopardizing the whole district.

Hon. W. Atkinson, the Minister in charge of the bill, said that he had not had experience as yet under this bill, but he had had a case where hog cholera had been located, and prompt action taken. If it had not been so taken, the disease might have spread so that a very large loss would have been entailed. The bill passed its second reading.

Miss M. Dunsmuir Disappears From Home in London

LONDON, Feb. 1.—The widow of R. W. Dunsmuir, who died at Singapore a few weeks ago, is prostrated with grief owing to the mysterious disappearance of her eleven-year-old daughter, Muriel, along with a former servant of the Dunsmuir family, Rose O'Grady, a twenty-three-year-old Irish girl. Mrs. Dunsmuir's father-in-law, James Dunsmuir, Sr., was Lieutenant-Governor of British Columbia from 1906-09.

Lord Byng, head of Scotland Yard, as a friend of the family, is taking a personal interest in the case.

The O'Grady girl had spoken of going on the stage and Muriel told her playmates that she was going to Ireland with the older girl. Scotland Yard officials are, however, searching London for the two as well as making investigations in Ireland.

For some reason the mother was absent from the dinner table one evening. The children took their accustomed places with the exception of the youngest, Dorothy, aged seven, who seated herself in the mother's chair. With proper poise she announced: "I am the mother now and you kids must behave." The other children entered into the spirit of the assumed situation, until the boy of ten said: "Well, Dorothy, if you are the mother, how much is six times nine?"

Without a moment's hesitation and still retaining her maternal role, she replied: "I'm busy, you ask your father."

Take a stroll down Advertising Avenue

THE most wonderful street in the world . . . Yes, and the most interesting. A little jaunt down Advertising Avenue gives you all the latest news about the food you eat—the clothing you wear—the amusements you seek. You learn where and when to make your every purchase most satisfactorily and economically.

Advertising Avenue displays all the latest offerings of "the Butcher, the Baker, the Candlestick Maker." Health and Diet Advice

By DR. FRANK McCOY

Dr. McCoy's menus suggested for the week beginning Sunday, February 3:

Sunday—Breakfast: French omelette (made of the whites of two eggs and two ounces of milk), Melba toast, stewed pears. Lunch: Spinach, cooked celery, stuffed tomatoes. Dinner: Broiled chicken or rabbit, cooked cucumbers, steamed carrots with parsley, molded salad of string beans, celery and cucumbers, pineapple whip.

Monday — Breakfast: Re-toasted breakfast food with milk or cream, applesauce. Lunch: Celery soup, mashed pumpkin, salad of chopped raw cabbage. Dinner: Broiled steak, cooked rutabagas, string beans, salad of shredded lettuce and tomatoes, stewed apricots.

Tuesday—Breakfast: Coddled egg, Melba toast, stewed raisins. Lunch: Oranges as dessert, glass of sweet milk. Dinner: Leg of mutton, boiled turnips and tops, cooked lettuce, celery and nut salad. Orange juice whip.

Wednesday — Breakfast: Baked stuffed apple, re-toasted cereal biscuit. Lunch: Cooked carrots and peas, raw celery. Dinner: Vegetable soup, roast beef, spinach, stewed tomatoes, salad of cold cooked asparagus, ice cream.

Friday—Breakfast: Cottage cheese, baked apple. Lunch: Peanut butter soup, combination salad of celery, lettuce, tomatoes and raw cabbage. Dinner: Broiled white fish, cooked spinach, McCoy salad, no dessert.

Saturday—Breakfast: French omelette, waffle, stewed pears. Lunch: 8-ounce glass of buttermilk (en or twelve dates). Dinner: Vegetable soup, Salisbury steak, cooked celery, baked potato, molded salad of carrots and peas, prune whip.

"Stuffed Tomatoes—Peel and remove the centres from large raw tomatoes and stuff with a mixture of dry cottage cheese to which has been added the yolk and contents of chopped cooked beets, minced raw celery and chopped parsley. If the cheese is too dry it should be moistened in a cheesecloth bag and pressed to remove the surplus whey. Serve on lettuce leaves, garnished with slices of cold, boiled beets.

Correspondents wishing to communicate with Dr McCoy should address letters Dr. Frank McCoy, c.o. Bell Syndicate, 184 Nassau Street, New York, U.S.A.

"It is strange," says a cynic, "how rarely the woman for whom a man gives up reputation and respectability is worthy of the sacrifice." The flame's not worth the scandal, in fact.

LIBERA LINER LEAVES PIERS FOR MAINLAND

Motorship That Fetched Corkboard Consignment for Cold Storage Plant Left Last Night

LUNCHEON HELD ON VESSEL YESTERDAY

The Navigazione Libera Triestina liner Ms. Feltre, which arrived from Mediterranean ports Thursday evenings with nearly a thousand tons measurement of corkboard for the new cold storage plant, sailed last night at 8 o'clock for Vancouver to complete discharge and load outward cargo.

She will pull in alongside the Vancouver docks shortly before 1 o'clock, and while there will take on a general cargo made up of wheat, bulk grain, lead and canned salmon. Twenty-nine passengers will be taken on board from Vancouver, while three passengers booked passage from this port. From the Mainland port she will travel down the Coast to San Francisco, and from that city, via the Panama Canal to Mediterranean ports.

Among her consignments for Vancouver is 4,000 cartons of corkboard and 500 cement clinkers, instruments used for mixing cement.

Speaking of the corkboard material that was docked here Thursday night for the cold storage plant, Mr. E. S. Earle, representative for the Empire Shipping Company, Limited, stated that it is brought from Northern Africa to Barcelona and Malaga, where it is manufactured into bricks or cartons. The 1,000 tons measurement material for Victoria consisted of 8,365 cartons, he asserted. Mr. Earle and F. S. Clendenning, of the Vancouver firm, left last night on the C.P.R. steamer for the Mainland.

Unless the motorships belonging to this line are able to have a full list or sufficient cargo, it is doubtful if any of them will make a call at this port.

The ship was in command of Captain L. Rismondo when leaving here last night. Captain Rismondo has been commander since the boat was built in 1927, and has been in the service since its inauguration.

LUNCHEON ON BOARD

A small luncheon was held on board yesterday from 12 to 1 o'clock, and among those present were the following: Mr. A. Chapman, Jr., of the Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul & Pacific Railway; Mr. Henry King, of King Brothers, local agents; Mr. E. T. Clendenning and E. S. Earle, of the Empire Shipping Company, Limited, of Vancouver, general agents in British Columbia for the line; Mr. Duncan MacPherson, of Canadian National Railways; Mr. J. Dickson, of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and Captain L. Rismondo, master of the ship.

Although the ship was not opened to the public, due to the limited space for showing a crowd around, nevertheless quite a number of people availed themselves of the opportunity to see her. The vessel is one of the finest combination freight and passenger boats operating from the Pacific Coast to Europe, and the only line maintaining a service to the Mediterranean connecting with another of the line's services which circles Africa, calling at all important African ports.

WEST COAST SERVICE

Now effective, the steamer leaves for Port Alice and way ports on the 1st, 11th and 21st of each month.

GOVERNMENT SHIP LEAVES TO HELP NORWEGIAN BOAT

HALIFAX, Feb. 1.—The Canadian Government steamer Stanley, en route to aid the Norwegian freighter Terne, helpless in the ice off Friar's Head, between Margaree and Cheti Camp, for the last eleven days, is caught herself in the ice floes, fifty miles from the position of the Terne. The ice was piling up around her, making further progress impossible.

The time used is Pacific Standard for the 120th Meridian west. It is counted from 0 to 24 hours, from midnight to midnight. The figures for height serve to distinguish high water from low water. Where blanks occur in the tables, the tide rises or falls continuously during two successive tidal periods.

NEW BRIDGE TO BE RUSHED UP

C.P.R. NOT REPAIRING STRUCTURE WRECKED BY RECENT DERAILMENT

Main Line Blocked for Several Weeks, but Company Guarantees Regular Service

WINNIPEG, Feb. 1.—In regard to the break in main line traffic, caused through the mishap to the bridge spanning Surprise Creek, in the vicinity of Cutbank, B.C., D. C. Coleman, vice-president Western lines, Canadian Pacific Railway, Montreal, says:

"Instead of reconstructing the bridge damaged by derailment, the Canadian Pacific will build an entirely new bridge in a different location on foundations already prepared. Although the erection of this new bridge will be pressed vigorously, it involves interruption of traffic for several weeks. In the meantime passenger service will be maintained by use of Canadian National lines between Edmonton and Kamloops. It is expected that normal schedules will be maintained between Eastern Canada and the Pacific Coast with the exception that passengers to the Coast from Toronto instead of reaching Vancouver on the fourth evening will reach there the following morning."

"Freight traffic," Mr. Coleman announced, "will be handled via the Crow's Nest and Kettle Valley Railway route. Any surplus freight which cannot be promptly transported through that territory will be detoured over the rails of neighboring railways, and the Canadian Pacific is now in a position to guarantee regular and satisfactory service on all traffic."

Trains No. 1 and 2, the Imperial, will be operated via Edmonton. The first to be routed that way was No. 1 last night, which left Winnipeg via Saskatoon over Canadian Pacific lines, making the run in little over twenty-four hours. It will then be handled via the Canadian National to Kamloops, leaving there via Canadian Pacific tracks at 10 the second night and reaching Vancouver at 8 next morning. Eastbound Imperial No. 2 will maintain much the same time, leaving Vancouver at 8 p.m. and putting into Winnipeg at 8.35 the morning of the third day. Connection will be made at Edmonton from Calgary and southern Prairie points.

The regular Imperial will operate between Winnipeg and Calgary, leaving Winnipeg twenty minutes after its regular schedule time, carrying sleepers for Brandon, Moose Jaw and Calgary, with observation as well.

Trains No. 3 and 4 will operate on regular schedule between Toronto and Calgary only. There is no change in service east of Winnipeg.

NOT STABBED BY MEN

MONTREAL, Feb. 1.—James Haddon, nineteen-year-old youth, who is in hospital suffering from a knife wound, and who told police that he was stabbed when two unknown men attacked him last Tuesday night, has admitted to police that he was accidentally stabbed when he and a friend were robbing a butcher shop. His friend, Duncan Burnfield, has been arrested. Haddon accidentally jammed against a knife which Burnfield was carrying.

VANCOUVER IS ON TRAINING CRUISE

Addition to Canadian Navy Left Esquimalt Harbor at 5:15 o'Clock Last Evening for the South

H.M.C.S. Vancouver pulled out from Esquimalt harbor last evening at 5.15 o'clock for the western coast of the United States and Mexico, where she will go on an extensive training cruise. While down the coast the crew will go through manoeuvering practices.

The vessel left port under the command of Lieutenant-Commander R. W. Wood and with a crew of nearly 100 men and officers. She arrived in Esquimalt last May, being loaned to the Canadian Government by the British Navy along with another ship for the Atlantic Coast, which is stationed at Halifax. The vessels are sister ships, being formerly the Torbay and Toreador. They are of 1,075 tons, with a length of 268 feet and a breadth of twenty-seven feet.

Fighting equipment on the Vancouver consists of three four-inch guns, one two-pounder pompom, one M.G. gun and four Lewis guns. Besides this there are four twenty-one-inch torpedo tubes in pairs.

The vessel will make several calls at the various ports along the coast during her trip, including Portland, San Francisco, San Diego and San Pedro. No definite date was made for her return, but she is expected to dock at Esquimalt near the end of March.

Damaged Lifeboat Of Missing Craft Terminates Search

NEW LONDON, Conn., Feb. 1.—Hope that the missing trawler Seiner and her crew of twenty are still safe was practically abandoned today with the announcement by John Graham, president of the Portland Trawling Company, that a damaged lifeboat from the missing craft was dragged up from the bottom in 160 feet of water about 128 miles east of Nantucket late yesterday. Simultaneously, coastguard officials here announced that the extensive coastguard search which had been carried on for the Seiner during the past week had been brought to a close.

EMMA ALEXANDER HAS FULL LIST

Children on Board Liner Delighted on Seeing City Under Blanket of Snow—Many Get Off

The sight of snow came as a surprise as well as a treat to young passengers aboard the Emma Alexander when she pulled into Rithet Piers Thursday night, shortly before 9 o'clock from California. Most of them immediately left the boat when she docked to romp around. The youngsters hurried down the gangplank and it wasn't long before snowballs were flying around the piers.

Captain Fred Nystrom, master of the vessel, reported upon arrival here that they had experienced a wonderful trip, the weather being perfect most of the way up the coast. The first signs of cold were encountered just before the vessel reached Puget Sound. Every available cabin aboard the liner was occupied, as close to 300 passengers were carried. Sixty-five persons left the liner when she docked here, and nearly 200 went on to Seattle.

Among those disembarking here the following: Mr. J. Attwell and Mrs. Attwell, Mrs. M. Barr, R. Baxter, Mrs. B. L. Black and child, Robert Boston, Frand and John Chantelu, G. Crump, H. J. Curry, R. Danglish and Mrs. Danglish, Mrs. S. Desbrisay, G. C. Frith, Mrs. Firth and two children, M. M. Gemmell, G. W. Goodwin, Mrs. H. Gorden, C. G. Hadwen, G. Hewitt, A. A. Johnson, C. A. Johnson, Miss Alice Kreamer, Robert Lee, David Levin, Mrs. Levin and two children, D. Mathewson, Mrs. E. L. McPherson, John Nicholson, Mrs. Nicholson, Mrs. T. H. Nelson and several others.

One hundred and twenty-five tons of general cargo were taken off for this port, and the Emma left at 12.30 a.m. for Seattle, from which port she will sail for Victoria after taking on some cargo, and will leave this port Sunday morning for the South.

LIGHT LIST ON OUTBOUND SHIP FOR YOKOHAMA

Empress of Russia Will Carry Six Chinese, Domiciled in Canada, for Conference at Nanking

HATCHING EGGS SHIPPED TO JAPAN

When the Empress of Russia leaves today for the Orient, she will carry a comparatively light passenger list. There are eighty saloon, forty-five cabin, twenty third, and about 250 steerage passengers.

Among those sailing are Lady Belle Clarke Lougheed and Mrs. Dorothy L. Hussey, Calgary; Mr. and Mrs. A. Toms, from Atlanta; Mr. W. R. Bickerough, C.P.R. passenger agent at Tokio; Mrs. S. E. Carroll, Vancouver; Mrs. Osborne Morris, Vernon, and Lady Baillie, Toronto.

Six prominent Chinese resident in Canada, have been selected to represent the Canadian branches of the Chinese Nationalist League at the national convention to be held in Nanking, and will leave on the steamer. They are: P. S. Chew, Vancouver; T. S. Chan, Toronto; B. Y. Yee and H. S. Lee, Regina; T. S. Lee, Toronto, and S. C. Tsang, Nanaimo. A convention held last week in Vancouver made the selection. They expect to be away about three months.

As a result of an experimental shipment made last year, the steamer will carry 1,000 hatching eggs to Japan for breeding purposes on the farm of H. Mitsuhashi, near Yokohama. White Leghorn stock has been selected with high official records. The eggs are being packed in specially reinforced boxes, with the small end of the egg downwards, as proved by experience to be the best for hatching purposes.

A Londoner took an American to see "Hamlet." "You sure are behind the times here," remarked the American. "I saw this play in New York four years ago."
